ESTABLISHED 1887

No. 32,858

PARIS, SATURDAY-SUNDAY, OCTOBER 15-16, 1988

Debate: Sharp and 'Nasty'

No Major Gaffes, And Bush Seems The More Assured

By E.J. Dionne Jr. New York Times Service
Vice President George Bush and Governor Michael S. Dukakis quarreled in their debate Thursday over which of them was responsible for the shrill tone of the presidential campaign, then continued to exchange sharp words on crime, taxes, military policy and the basic values that each would bring to the White House. While biting exchanges marked the second and final presidential debate of the 1988 election, each man sought to show a softer side, and expressed concern about the bruising nature of the campaign. "It's gotten a little ugly out there," Mr. Bush said. "It's gotten a little nasty."

Mr. Dukakis, however, accused the vice president of lowering the level of their dialogue by persisting in using "labels," especially the word "liberal."

"If I had a dollar, George, for every time you've used that label. I'd qualify for one of those tax See DEBATE, Page 3

Governor Michael S. Dukakis waving at the end of his debate against Vice President George Bush.

It Wasn't What Dukakis Needed

By David S. Broder

Washington Past Service LOS ANGELES — Twothirds of the way through the final presidential debate Thursday night, Vice President George Bush said he was "pretty confident tonight" but "not that confident" that he wanted to meet a panelist's request to name three prospective Su-preme Court appointees.

If Ann Compton of ABC News had asked again a half-hour later, she might have got-

The Republican presidential nominee topped his perfor-mance in the first debate and saw his rival, Governor Michael S. Dukakis of Massachusetts, miss one opportunity after another to turn the course of the debate — and, more important, his flagging campaign.

If the outcome was less than one-sided, it clearly was not the big victory that Mr. Dukakis had hoped for to galvanize backers, who have been battered by a wave of discouraging

Susan Estrich, Mr. Dukakis's campaign manager, conceded as much when she said after the debate. "We do not expect to see a change overnight" in the poll numbers, "but we do expect to close the gap in the next

Robert Teeter, Mr. Bush's

was far less guarded, calling the vice president "a clear winner" and saying he achieved his objective of "highlighting the differences" with Mr. Dukakis on taxes, national defense and so-

The tip-off that this was not to be the night Dukakis sup-porters had hoped for came

NEWS ANALYSIS with the first question, a deliberately shocking query from Bernard Shaw of the Cable News Network, who asked Mr. Dukakis if he would favor an irrevocable death penalty if someone were arrested for raping and killing his wife, Kitty.

The governor's face was as impassive as if he had been asked the time. "No," he said evenhandedly, as if it were the most routine matter in the world, he would stick to his principles. And then, without a word or sign acknowledging that he could empathize with those who have been the victims of violent crime, he went back into a description of his program to reduce drug abuse and crime in Massachusetts.

Mr. Bush completed the wipeout by saying that "this campaign is about values" as well as programs, "and I do

See ASSESS, Page 3

Japan Aide

Is Linked to

Inside Trade

The Associated Press

ister changed his previous testimony and said Friday that 10,000 shares of stock in a company involved in an insider trading scandal

The finance minister, Kiichi Miyazawa, is the first cabinet member linked directly to the scandal over unlisted shares of a real estate company, Recruit-Cosmos Co.,

that were later sold for large profits after the company went public.

the public, but I just found out about it myself a few days ago."

Mr. Miyazawa said in response to questions from opposition parties in the Diet, the Japanese parlia-

Several other senior officials, including Prime Minister Noboru

Takeshita, have said their aides purchased shares in the company without their knowledge.

Mr. Miyazawa told the Diet in August that a former aide, Tsuneo

The collapse of a real-estate and stock-trading firm is likely to disturb the Tokyo market. Page 11.

Hattori, had bought the stock on his own, and he did not acknowl-

recently after the case was revealed and learned that he used my name to make things work more smoothly," Mr. Miyazawa said. "He told me that he was asked by his friend to lend my name and he responded to the request carelessly."

Mr. Miyazawa continued to deny any previous knowledge about the dealings and said, "People including myself and my aides were never involved in the dealings

Several senior politicians and business leaders reportedly obtained unlisted shares of Recruit-

Cosmos in 1984 and earned up to $780,000 each in profits by selling them after public trading began a short time later. The price of the stock nearly quadrupled soon after the shares were placed on the over-

No criminal charges have been filed against those who bought the shares, but opposition parties have raised ethical questions about the

The dispute has highlighted the frequently lucrative ties between businessmen and politicians in Ja-pan. Trading on privileged infor-mation is a widely accepted practice. New laws passed since the scandal unfolded this summer deal more stringently with insider trading but are not retroactive.

The Japanese Communist Party made public a list of nine persons, including Mr. Miyazawa, who are said to have purchased shares in the

The list included aides to Mr.

Takeshita, former Prime Minister

Yasuhiro Nakasone and Shintaro

Abe, secretary-general of the gov-erning Liberal Democratic Party.

Mr. Takeshita has said a former aide obtained 2,000 shares of Recruit-Cosmos stock through another company and sold them shortly after public trading began, earning a profit of about $31,000.

Opposition parties fiercely at-tacked Mr. Miyazawa on Friday for his personal involvement in the stock dealings and his previous tes-company through Do-Best Inc.

politicians who were involved

the-counter market.

themselves."

I conferred with Mr. Hattori edge any direct involvement.

"I never intended to hide it from were bought in his name.

TOKYO - Japan's finance min-

Belgrade Eases on Economy

Freeze on Wages Ends as Austerity Plan Is Altered

The Associated Press

BELGRADE - The Yugoslav government announced plans to ease an unpopular austerity pro-gram as Communist leadershipsmet around the country on Friday to consider demands for resigna-tions in the ruling elite.

The Central Committees of four of Yugoslavia's six republics and of the ethnically troubled province of Kosovo were in session on Friday as hery and intense politicking continued before a meeting of the national Central Committee in Belgrade on Monday.

The government imposed an austerity program in May intended to curb a $21 billion foreign debt by reducing or freezing wages and allowing prices to rise.

Belgrade newspapers reported Friday that the government would increase wages for workers in profitable companies and in social services like health and education.

Last Saturday, after the worst worker unrest to date. Prime Minister Branko Mikulic announced emergency imports of staples worth $200 million. Deputy Prime Minister Janez Zemljaric said Friday that the value of those imports was be-ing increased and would total $600 million.

The new wage program will be adopted by the Yugoslav parlia-ment by the end of the month, the newspapers said.

The newspapers said the International Monetary Fund had given its approval for the measures. The IMF and other Western creditors insisted on the original austerity program before rescheduling debt payments and extending fresh

The Communist leaderships of Kosovo, and the republics of Montenegro, Bosnia-Herzegovina, Croatia and Macedonia, met Friday to try to work out party disputes be-fore the Belgrade session on Mon-

Kosovo's party leader, Kacusa Jasari, an ethnic Albanian, strongly objected on Friday to the practice of chanting the names of leaders who should resign.

Many leaders, "especially among the ethnic Albanians," she said, "have the feeling of being found guilty without this being substantiated in any way." At the meeting of the Kosovo Central Committee, representatives of Kosovo's Serb and Montenegrin minority demanded the collective resignation of the province's mostly ethnic Albanian leadership, the Tanjug press agency said. In the southern republic of Montenegro, where the police used tear gas and clubs to break up antigovernment protests last weekend, the republic's party chief, Miljan Radovic, complained that "anti-socialist and anti-Communist" outbursts never heard before were now so common that "it gives a man the In Sarajevo, a member of the Central Committee of Bosnia-Her-zegovina, reflecting workers' anger, said the workers would never forgive former peasants who now abused the trappings of power. "Some comrades, sitting here, come from peasant families, where the children used to be chronically hungry," said a Central Committee member, Nedio Sipovac.

"They allowed themselves to betray the Communist movement and the worker class," he said, "by building enormously costly, huxury villas on the Adriatic, in Bosnia-Herzegovina and other parts of our country."

In northern Slovenia, the republic's official youth organization demanded direct elections and the "formal abandonment of a oneparty system" as a solution to Yugoslavia's crisis, the Belgrade daily

Rakowski Admits Failure of Effort

WARSAW -- Prime Minister Mieczysław Rakowski said Friday that efforts to include the opposi-tion in his cabinet had failed, but that political reform could proceed without participation of the banned Solidarity union move-

Mr. Rakowski made the remarks at his first news conference as prime minister just after parlia-ment approved his cabinet, composed primarily of Communist Party members, by a vote of 363 to

With U.S. Front Quiet, Kremlin Is Wooing Western Europe

By Philip Taubman

MOSCOW - With Soviet-American relations temporarily becalmed by the presidential election, the Soviet Union is making a major push this fall to improve ties with Western Europe.

Three West European leaders are visiting Moscow this month - Chancellor Franz Vranitzky of Austria Prime Minister Ciriaco De Mita of Italy and Chancellor Helmut Kohl of West Germany and President François Mitterrand of France will arrive in November.

Mescow's diplomatic treves according to Soviet officials and West European diplomats, is primarily aimed at expanding economic ties with Western Europe in hopes that increased trade, Western credits and technology can help stimulate the sluggish economy.

The officials and diplomats said that Moscow was also eager to prepare the political groundwork for future East-West talks on reducing conventional forces in Europe and to present the Soviet Union as a nonthreatening neighbor as Western Europe moves toward economic and political integration in the 1990s.

Whether Soviet policy toward Western Europe represents an effort to woo members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization away from their traditional ties with Washington is the subject of debate in Western capitals. Opinion polling in Western Europe in recent years has shown diminishing fears of a Soviet military threat and considerable sympathy for Mikhail S. Gorbachev and his efforts to reshape Soviet society. The embrace of Western Europe, which has been gaining force since Mr. Gorbachev become the Soviet leader in March 1985, is part of an effort to broaden the nation's foreign policy beyond the traditional focus of Soviet-American recommitments among developing nations. Improving ties with China, expected to be capped in 1989 by the first Moscow-Beijing summit meeting in 30 years, and warmer relations with key regional powers like Brazil, Argentina, Mexico, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Japan and Indonesia are part of this pattern.

President José Sarney of Brazil is scheduled to arrive in Moscow on Mon-day for talks with Mr. Gorbachev and other Kremlin leaders.

Mr. Gorbachev is directing the courtship of Western Europe with the help of lations and its costly, often unproductive his two main advisers on foreign policy, commitments among developing nations.

Alexander N. Yakovlev, a Politburo member and head of a recently formed party commission on international relations, and Foreign Minister Eduard A.

> The recent retirement of two men closely associated with a policy centered on the United States - Andrei A. Gromyko, who was foreign minister for 28 years and president for 3, and Anatoli F. Dobrynin, ambassador to Washington

See EUROPE, Page 6

Kiesk

Senate Passes Anti-Drug Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) The Senate passed an anti-drug bill on Friday that would expose traffickers who kill to the death penalty, spend more money on treatment programs and bolster law enforcement agencies across the United States. Senators will now have to work on a compromise measure with members of the House, which passed a harsher version of the bill on Sept. 22, The two-year, $2.6 billion measure, approved 87 to 3, would allow for fines of up to $10,000 on people convicted Margaret Thatcher told the Conservative Party conference that conservatism had become the "common ground" in Britain. Page 6.

General News

Vietnam opens its doors substantially wider for those who want to leave. Conscientions objectors in record numbers are performing civilian service in West Ger-Page 6. many. Unrest in Algeria has reopened old wounds between France and its former colony. Page 2.

Business/Finance

U.S. inflation at the wholesale level moderated last month, as the economy slowed. Page 9. L'Oreal bought the U.S. cos-metics maker Helena Rubin-

CIA Official Is Dubious On Gorbachev's Future

By R. Jeffrey Smith

Washington Post Service WASHINGTON - Mikhail S. Gorbachev faces a "continuing, intense struggle" over the pace and scope of political restructuring despite his apparent consolidation of power, the deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency said

Friday. The official, Robert M. Gates. said Mr. Gorbachev was confronting a daunting array of domestic and economic problems and could be deposed if opponents sensed that the Communist Party was "losing control" in the Soviet Union or Eastern Europe.

Mr. Gates's remarks, before a meeting sponsored by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, appeared to have been prompted by recent popular unrest in Yugoslavia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and the Soviet regions of Armenia, Azerbaijan, Estonia and Latvia. In a rare public analysis of the turmoil, Mr. Gates disclosed that the CIA had counted roughly 600 "popular disturbances" inside the Soviet Union since early 1987 and considered half of them related to ethnic issues. In the last year, he added, "major nationalist demonstrations" have broken out in 9 of the 15 Soviet republics, creating concern among the nation's leaders "about the potential for instability" created by any relaxation of political controls. Mr. Gates said that Mr. Gorbachev "showed real political mus-cle" at the Oct. I meeting of the Supreme Soviet by obtaining swift Droval to: adi al supporters and protègés to the ruling Politburo "while removing most of the remaining holdovers' appointed by his conservative predecessor, Leonid I. Brezhnev. But he added that the meeting also signaled "his vulnerability and his frustration at the lack of progress, bureaucratic obstructionism and opposition in the party to his programs and policies - and of the desperate situation facing the Sovi-

Mr. Gates dismissed widespread opinions that the new appointments had secured Mr. Gorbachev's absolute power, asserting that the Soviet leader could now "probably count on only 3 or 4" out of the 12 voting Politburo members "as being totally his men. consistently supportive across the

■ Agricultural Overhaul

Mr. Gorbachev has signaled that he will put his personal power behind a drive to totally reshape Soviet agriculture, foreign diplomatic analysts said in Moscow, Reuters reported Friday. Mr. Gorbachev indicated in a speech Wednesday that he intended to switch the whole of Soviet agriculture to the rapidly spreading system of renting land to groups of farmers for up to 50 years.

Referring to the enforced collec-tivization of 1929 to 1932, he declared: "When we separated the people from the land, from the means of production, we turned them from masters of the land into mere hirelings.

A's and Dodgers Ready for Game One of World Series Dave Stewart of the Oakland Athletics, above, is expected to face Tim Belcher, Los Angeles rookie pitching ace, at the opening Saturday of baseball's 85th World Series, in Los Angeles, Page 15.

U.S. Nuclear Arms Industry: Suddenly, a Crisis

By Keith Schneider

New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — in a remarkable public admission, the Energy Department has acknowledged in the last two weeks that the U.S. government's mismanagement of the nation's nuclear weapons industry has a successful to be dustry has resulted in many industrial mishaps, chronic safety violations and a legacy of environmental contamination.

The scope of the difficulties almost dehes comprehension. Toxic and radioactive wastes that will remain dangerous for thousands of years contaminate underground water around many of the department's reapons plants. Three major plants have been shut in the ast three months, and old and neglected equipment at the others may no longer be able to supply critical materials reliably for nuclear weapons. The nation may thus be in an uncomfortable position of weakness.

operations, now declaring that conditions at its plants pose threats to national security and public safety?

Finances and fear of a serious accident are among the forces motivating the department, a variety of experts say. By admitting that the 46-year-old program to manufacture nuclear weapons is in crisis. this reasoning goes, the department be-lieves it can make a case for proceeding with an expensive program of repair and

NEWS ANALYSIS

Congressional critics of the department argue that its candor is in many ways a political shell game. They note that many safety problems at the plants stem from the Reagan administration's decisions to pay

Why is the Energy Department, which is normally secretive about its military nuclenance of laboratories, production plants, a waste repository and a test site in the system for producing nuclear warheads.

Another factor in the department's disclosures may have been the likelihood that if the department was not more open about the problems, the press and Congress in August, the Energy Department shut down a reactor at the Sayannah River Plant in South Carolina after inspectors from Washington discovered that local operators neither understood nor cared about an unsettling power surge and other unusual events. The public learned about this not from the department but from press re-ports that began with The Washington

Only weeks later, the Energy Depart-ment said it could not open the nation's near Carlsbad, New Mexico, because its own inspectors were not satisfied the repository could be operated safely. The department's action followed a report in The New York Times about water seeping into rooms and corridors that were supposed to be bone dry.

Last week, top officials of the department and a predecessor agency, the Atomic Energy Commission, said subordinates had never made them aware of a series of serious nuclear accidents from 1957 to 1985 at the Savannah River Plant. The accidents had just been disclosed at a joint Senate-House committee hearing.

In recent years, national and regional newspapers have reported on a string of plant shutdowns, releases of radiation to surrounding communities, accumulation

See NUCLEAR, Page 6

The Associated Press

l. with no abstentions.

He revealed the names of the people to whom he had proposed posts, including a Roman Catholic Church adviser. Witold Trzeciakowski; an independent economist Julian Auleytner; a Catholic intel-Junan Ameyurer, a Camouc mea-lectual, Andrzej Micewski; and a journalist, Alexander Paszynski. All four turned down the offer.

By Michael Richardson niernational Herald Tribune

BANGKOK - In an effort to improve relations with the West and non-Communist countries in Asia, Vietnam has substantially increased the number of its citizens allowed to leave, and has enlarged and streamlined the channels for legal emigration.

As a result, Western diplomats and refugee officials in Bangkok said the number of Vietnamese leaving by air to settle in the United States, Australia and Canada as well as France and other European countries would total about 23,000 for 1988, nearly double the 1987

This is the largest legal outflow of people from any Communist country. The officials said the anthan 30,000 in 1989.

Those leaving legally are nearly all from southern Vietnam. They include relatives of Vietnamese ref-ter the collapse of the U.S.-backed from political persecution, since government of South Vietnam in 1975, children fathered by Americans during the Vietnam War and a much smaller number of Vietnamese political detainees and their family members.

Western officials based in Bangkok and Hanoi said that expansion of the Orderly Departure Program would reduce the incentive for Vietnamese to leave illegally by More than 36,000 Vietnamese

"boat people" have sought temporary asylum in Hong Kong and non-Communist countries of Southeast Asia this year, prompting governments in the region to increase pressure on Hanoi to curb the outflow.

After a two-day meeting in London, British and Vietnamese offinual departures could rise to more cials announced an agreement Wednesday on terms for the voluntary return home of some of the 9,500 Vietnamese refugees who have been classified as economic ugees who escaped to the West af- migrants, not genuine refugees they arrived in Hong Kong. As part of the arrangement, Vietnam said it would not punish returnees. Britain agreed to aid resettlement through the office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. The accord on repatriation is the first with Vietnam, and diplomats said Thursday that they expected that Southeast Asian countries would negotiate similar arrange-ments with Hanoi.

They said that official talks on a comprehensive solution to the Indochinese refugee problem would be held in Thailand, probably at the end of October. Vietnam and Laos will be invited to join these preliminary negotia-tions with representatives of the UN refugee agency, first-asylum countries in Asia and major resettlement nations, officials added. Officials said Australia, which has an embassy in Hanoi, has been allowed since August to receive emigration applications by mail or tional image, particularly in the hand delivery instead of through United States and other Western official channels. The embassy says it receives lion Vietnamese emigres live and about 500 applications a week, where criticism of Vietnam's humany more than before the direct man rights record has been stron-application system was introduced. gest.

Western officials have also been "They have also realized that an told that Vietnam has approved the opening of regular passenger flights from Ho Chi Minh City to Manila by the Philippine national official said. These flights will carry Vietnamapproved for entry to the United States who are first given training in English and work skills at a camp in the Philippines.

Diplomats said the Vietnamese government's decision to allow more people to leave was part of a liberalization program promoted by Nguyen Van Linh, the Vietnamleader, and other pragmatists in the ruling party.
Diplomats and refugee officials in Bangkok said that by expanding channels for legal emigration, Viet- ist countries and international finam hoped to improve its interna-

100 countries, where more than 1.5 mil-

Orderly Departure Program can serve as a safety valve by allowing those who are unhappy, or don't fit in, to leave without risk," a refugee

New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — Prince Norodom Sihanouk said his Cambodian guerrilla forces were receiving About two-thirds of the people leaving under this program go to the United States. Diplomats said new military aid from "some countries," and strongly hinted that he was referring to the United States. the rapid expansion of legal departures this year reflected Hanoi's renewed interest in developing better Cambodian head of state who conrelations with the United States. trols one of two non-Communis Vietnam evidently sees this as another step toward establishing guerrilla factions, said Thursday that China suspended aid to his diplomatic, trade and investmen military forces about two months links with the United States, and ago. But he indicated that he had ending an American-led ban on development aid to Vietnam that is widely observed by non-Commundoned its long-held policy of not providing arms to the guerrillas and said they were distressed by the prince's remarks. The officials and Asian diplomats speculated that Prince Sihanouk might have been misinformed, or perhaps was seeking to strike fear in the Communist Khmer Rouge guerrillas or the Ha-noi-backed Cambodian govern-His remarks and the U.S. denial left unclear just what help the Unit-

Sihanouk

Hints at U.S.

Arms Aid to

By Elaine Sciolino

Prince Sihanouk, the former secured another source of support.

that the United States had aban-

His Forces

ed States was providing to Prince Sihanouk, who is expected to be a leader in a future Cambodian government. He met with President Ronald Reagan and other officials this week in what was largely intended as a show of U.S. support for his leadership and of its opposition to the Khmer Rouge, which presided over the deaths of at least a million Cambodians when it ruled the country in the 1970s.

The Khmer Rouge is in an uneasy coalition with the forces of Sihanouk and Son Sann, a former Cambodian prime minister who heads another non-Communist faction against the Phnom Penh government

In his remarks Thursday to a small group of experts and journalists at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Prince Siha-nouk referred to what he called "confidential things" concerning aid to his forces.

But he quickly added, "I don't want to embarrass the Reagan administration but I assure you that Malfunction Blamed in Zia's Plane Crash my people and Cambodian refu-gees, all of them, they are rather satisfied with the end of the China aid because they know there are some countries — I don't want to name the United States of America. because it must remain confidential." He laughed, then added:

"So we are getting — I don't say from the U.S.A. — but I'm getting some weapons and ammunitions and equipment."

As a result of the new infusion of aid. Prince Sihanouk said. "we can build up a great, big army," and by next year, he said, he would have at least 30,000 fighters under his command. According to U.S. estimates, The merger of the two factions, he now controls between 12,000

Prince Sihanouk left no doubt that he was referring to the United States as the source of the aid.

U.S. officials denied that the United States was supplying Prince Sihanouk with weapons and ammunition or money to buy military equipment, and described U.S. aid "nonlethal."

U.S. officials and Asian diplomats said there is no evidence that China's assistance to the non-Communist opposition forces in Cambodia has been cut off. In any case, China has been the main patron of prospect that the Khmer Rouge pledged to do.

The United States plans to triple Communist Cambodian factions from $3.5 million this year to at much as $15 million for the next fiscal year by asking Congress to remove funds from other foreign aid or military projects. Congress

WORLD BRIEFS

Beirut Bomb Kills 3 and Wounds 33

BEIRUT (WP) —A car bomb devastated a low-income Beirut district bordering the Sabra Palestinian camp on Friday, killing 3 persons and wounding 33, as anxiety over Lebanon's political future deepened.

As two rival administrations held meetings, raising fears that the country had taken an irreversible course toward partition, Moslem and Christian leaders remained divided on how to pull the country out of its constitutional crisis.

constitutional crisis.

The president of the Chamber of Deputies, Hussein, a Shiite Moslem, scheduled the election of a new president of Lebanon's unicamMoslem, scheduled the election of a new president of Lebanon's unicamMoslem, scheduled the election of a new president of Lebanon's unicammoslem legislature for Tuesday and invited deputies to convene in the old legislature building on Nejmeh Square. The 41 Christian deputies, who legislature have said they will stay away from the building, which is in the legislature, have said they will stay away from the building, which is in the bombed-out commercial center under Syrian and Moslem control. bombed-out commercial center under Syrian and Moslem control.

Israelis Raze Homes of 5 Palestinians JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Israeli troops destroyed the homes of five Palestinians accused of killing an Arab village leader and raided 30 West Bank villages Friday amid a general strike called by Palestinians in the occupied teruitories.

Hospital officials said that Contact the said had been shot dead by

Hospital officials said that Omar al-Assui. 21. had been shot dead by soldiers in a clash at the village of Kafr Malek, near Ramallah, and the soldiers in a clash at the village of Kafr Malek, near Ramallah, and the soldiers in a clash at the village of Kafr Malek, near Ramallah, and the soldiers in t U.S. officials were quick to deny wounded a Kafr Malek resident after a stone-throwing incident but could not confirm his death. In Bidya, the army bulldozed the homes of five Palestinians suspected in the Oct. 6 killing of Mustafa Abu Bakr, a man who other Palesunians said had collaborated with the Israeli secret police. And in Nablus, where the army ended a serve determine the army ended as serve determined to the server determined the army ended a seven-day punitive curfew, soldiers shot and wounded

Burma Delays Ballot Pending Talks

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — The military government announced Friday that general elections would not be held before early next year and that the date would be set after talks with political parties. Eighteen parties have taken up the government's call to register with an election commission, but none has said whether it will take part in

Following weeks of anti-government protests, General Saw May seized power from a civilian government Sept. 18, ordered his troops to shoot protesters and promised to hold general elections within three

Chilean Junta Member Backs Change

SANTIAGO (Reuters) - The leader of the Chilean Air Force said Friday that he would support some of the changes in the military constitution that are being demanded by the opposition after their victory in the Oct. 5 presidential plebiscite.

The statement by the air force general, Fernando Matthei, a member of the ruling four-man military junta, was the government's first signal of political flexibility since voters rejected the idea of President Augusto Pinochet staying in power until 1997. General Matthei said he favored altering the constitution to make it easier for it to be amended by the future congress, which is the opposition's key demand.

Under the constitution, the military would continue to have a key role through a National Security Council, with virtual veto powers. Sixteen opposition parties have called for increased democracy.

U.S. Rebuffs Soviets on War Games

VIENNA (AP) — The United States on Friday rejected a Soviet allegation that Washington and Bonn had violated an agreement on advance notification of a military exercise involving more than 40,000 NATO troops.

The allegation was made Thursday in Moscow by the Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman, Gennadi I. Gerasimov, after Soviet observers carried out an inspection in West Germany from Sept. 7 to 9. He said.

Moscow had concluded that the total numerical strength of the force involved in the exercises during that period surpassed 170,000.

A statement issued by the U.S. delegation to arms talks here said the United States, beginning in December 1986, had given notification that there would a large-scale exercise, known as "Certain Challenge." The statement said more details were given in 1987 and, most recently, on July 26. It also said that West Germany had given notification of its exercise.

For the Record

Low-altitude military training flights over West Germany will continue because they are vital to defending the West, Defense Minister Rupert Scholz said in Parliament on Friday in rejecting a ban on them. (Reuters) Hundreds of British immigration officers at air and sea ports dressed casually in trackstuits or T-shirts and jeans Friday to protest the government's refusal to pay them allowances of £250 ($425) a year for the formal clothing they are required to wear.

The political extremist Lyndon H. LaRouche Jr. and six associates were charged with conspiracy and fraud on Friday in a federal grand jury indictment in Alexandria, Virginia. The indictment said they borrowed $34 million over a four-year period with no intention of repayment. (AP)

The Reagan administration told Congress on Friday that there would be no automatic, across-the-board cuts in federal programs in the new fiscal year, which began Oct. 1, because the $146 billion deficit target in the Gramm-Rudman law had not been breached.

TRAVEL UPDATE

Pakistani flights to Iran and Iraq will resume after an eight-year break because of the Gulf war, the Associated Press of Pakistan said Thursday. Pakistan International Airlines is expected to start a weekly flight from the Khmer Rouge.

The United States, Southeast Asian countries and even its own

Karachi to Baghdad and Tehran on Nov. 1.

(AFP)

Israel and Hungary will set up air service in April next year with a Budapest-Tel Aviv ticket costing 25,000 forints (about $500), the Hungary will set up air service in April next year with a Budapest-Tel Aviv ticket costing 25,000 forints (about $500), the Hungary will set up a service in April next year with a Budapest-Tel Aviv ticket costing 25,000 forints (about $500), the Hungary will set up a service in April next year with a Budapest-Tel Aviv ticket costing 25,000 forints (about $500), the Hungary will set up a service in April next year with a Budapest-Tel Aviv ticket costing 25,000 forints (about $500), the Hungary will set up a service in April next year with a Budapest-Tel Aviv ticket costing 25,000 forints (about $500), the Hungary will set up a service in April next year with a set up a service in April next year with a set up a service in April next year with a service allies have expressed alarm at the garian media said Friday during the visit of Ariel Sharon, the Israeli trade and industry minister. The Arc de Triosuphe will be closed for about two months for repairs, might try to seize power alone it and when Vietnam withdrew its starting Monday. A restoration of the Paris monument is underway to starting Monday. A restoration of the Paris monument is underway to starting Monday. A restoration of the Paris monument is underway to starting Monday. repair damage done by water and pollution.

(AP)

Denmark's two main islands will be linked by a tunnel and bridge across the Baltic Straits. The government and the opposition gave final approval Friday to the project. Preparatory work began in June. It will cost 18.9 billion kroner ($2.7 billion) and forms part of a plan to eventually link all

Two extensions of the Lisbon Metro system and four new stations were opened Friday by Prime Minister Anibal Cavaco Silva. The extensions connect residential suburbs in the north of the capital to the city center and increase the number of Lisbon stations to 23. The Winston Churchill-Jean Monnet Tunnel, should be the name of the Channel tunnel, the European Parliament suggested Friday in a proposal adopted by the deputies.

Inventor of Rotary Engine Is Dead

LINDAU, West Germany — Felix Wankel, 86, the inventor of the rotary engine for automobiles and of other automotive and aero-nautical equipment, died Sunday. The cause of death was not reported with a mechanical bent, he never received a university education. Mr. Wankel's crowning achievement, the Wankel rotary engine, was developed over many years between the world wars in his private tested in 1957. The engine did not became a dominant factor in automobile production, but it found a small out secure niche, notably in the Mazda cars produced in Japan.

The engine has two moving parts, a triangular rotor and a sin-

The big difference between his engine and the internal combustion engine is that it has no piston and

Edward Chodorov, 84, Playwright and Filmmaker NEW YORK (NYT) -- Edward

Chodorov, 84, a Broadway play-wright and the author or producer of about 50 motion pictures, died Sunday after a brief illness at his home in New York City.

Among films Mr. Chodorov wrote or produced were The Story of Louis Pasteur," in which Paul Muni won an Academy Award in 1936; "Craig's Wife," with Rosslind Russell and Billie Burke; "The Hucksters," with Clark Gable, Deborah Kerr and Ava Gardner, and "Road House" with Idea.

and "Road House," with Ida Lu-pino and Richard Widmark. In 1935, Mr. Chodorov wrote and directed "Kind Lady." based on a story by Hugh Walpole that has since become a fixture on the summer theater circuit and was twice made into a film During world War II, his plays "Those Endearing Young Charms," "Decision" and "Common Ground" played on Broadway. Other deaths:

of death was not given.
Elmer (Mouser) Alexander, 66, a purist jazz drummer who played with Benny Goodman, backed Bil-with Bermy Goodman, backed Billie Holiday and played in The Tonight Show band, of a heart attack Sunday in Orlando, Florida Bonitz Granville Wrather, 65, a former child star, of cancer Tresday in Santa Monica, California

Ken Marray, 85, the vaudevillan V

Baltimore, of a brain tumor Tues-

Intelligence Agency analyst whose accusations about intelligence esti-mentary that prompted a celebrated libel suit, apparently of a heart attack Monday in Strafford, Ver-

Hugh Algernon Percy, 74, the duke of Northumberland, of a suspected heart attack Tuesday in

Charles Frederic Anbrey de Vere

Beauclerk, 73, the duke of St. Albans, Oct. 8 in London. The cause mates during the Vietnam War formed the basis for a CBS docuruel A. Adams, 55, a Central day in Boston.

mont

London.

engine is that it has no piston and no cylinders.

Dr. B. Frank Polk, 46, a leader in AIDS research who was a professor power in less space than other engines.

AIDS research who was a professor of epidemiology at the Johns Hoppines.

AIDS research who was a professor of epidemiology at the Johns Hoppines.

Whose racy "Ken Murray's Black-outs" was one of the longest-running stage shows in history, of natural causes Wednesday in Burbank, California.

U.S. Says Iran Agrees To Formula

By David B. Ottaway

Washington Part Service
WASHINGTON — Iran has told the Reagan administration that it agrees the two governments should not work through private individuals in any discussions about improving relations or re-leasing U.S. hostages being held in Lebanon, according to a senior

State Department official The official, Richard W. Murphy, an assistant secretary of state, told a House panel on Thursday that Iran had communicated its willingness not to use private representatives in place of or in addition to communications the two countries have been carrying on through Swiss and other third-party diplomatic channels. "They realize our position, and they affirm they are not interested in dealing with private citizens and unauthorized individuals," Mr.

Murphy said. He did not indicate how recently the administration had received the message, but an aide said later that it was part of an indirect exchange of messages between the United States and Iran during the weekend of Oct. 1-2.

The United States sent a message to Tehran to make clear that the administration has not authorized any private individuals to negotiate release of the hostages, and Mr. Murphy implied that Iran was replying to that communication. Administration spokesmen have repeatedly denied in the last 10 days that any direct or indirect contacts concerning the hostages are taking place between the two goveruments. But they also have indicated they believe some private individuals may be seeking to broker a deal by falsely representing them-seives as U.S. envoys. Secretary of State George P. sensitivity of the investigation, re-Shultz said on Oct. 6 that "we know of some individuals who so represent themselves in one way or an-

"In no way do they represent the united States," he said. "Frankly, I investigation have prompted specwish they would butt out."

CENTER OF COPENHAGEN
FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, English speaking,
Sun. 9:00, Boggesensgade 7, (Bus 3,5,7,16).
Dr. R.J. Robinson, Min. Tel.: (01) 373924.

CHURCH SERVICES

GENEVA INTERNATIONAL CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP NIBRATIONAL CROSSIAN FELLOWS IN OF GENEVA, English speaking Sunday services 12:00 noon at Chapelle des Buis, 3 rue Amat, Rev. Greg Fitch, P.O. Bax 2447, CH-1211 Geneva 2. (022) 32 08 67 CHURCH OF THE LIVING SAVIOUR, Geneva's International Pentecostal church, 20 Ave. Emest-Pictet. Enjoy a warm strateghere of joyful, spiritfilled worship in English. 10:30 c.m. and 7 p.m. Tel.: 447070 or 988580.

INTERNATIONAL BAFTIST CHURCH OF HAMBURG meets at Ev. Freikirchliche Gemeinde Christuskinche, Suttner Str. 18, Hamburg-Altona. Bible Study 1 p.m. + Was-ship 2 p.m. Tel.: (0) 4101-207933.

TRINITY BAPTIST S.S. 9-30, Worship 10-30, nursery, warra fellowship. Meets of Bloem-complican 54 in Wassenger, Tel.: 01751 -

Welcome to English speaking INTERNA-TIONAL CHURCH OF EVANGELICALS in Louvein (ICEL). Workship Service: Every Sun-day 10:30 a.m., 40, Noamse Straat, Leuven. MUNICH INTERNATIONAL BAPTIST CHURCH, English speaking S.S. 11:45, worship 12:45, nursery, child. ch. provided. Holzstra 9. Evening ser-vice 7:00. Call Rev. Paul. Box 089-690-8534. MUNBOH INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY CHURCH, services in English 4:30 p.m. Son-days at Erhuber Str. 10 in Schwobing. (US Theresierst; Purther info. cell Postor Romise Stevens (089) 850-8617.

THE AMERICAN CATHEDRAL (Episcopal-Anglican), Sun. 9 & 11 c.m. Sunday School for children and nursery core at 11 c.m. 23 cre. George V. Paris 8. Tel.: 47 20 17 92. Metro: George V or Alma-Marceau.

EMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH, 56 Rue des Bons-Raisitus, Rueti-Malmoison. English spack., evengelical, all denominations. S.S. 9.45; Worship: 10:45. Other octivities. Call Dr. B.C. Thomas, Pastor. 47,49.15.29/-47,51.29.63.

INTERNATIONAL BAPTIST FELLOWSHIP meets of 123 Ave. du Moine, Metro Goité. Vesper Service in English every Sunday evening at 6:30. Tel.: 47.49.15.29/47.51.29.63.

MANABLE CHRCH, Kungsterog. & Briger to go forward with election to go forward with election constituent assembly in Nar it & Korson 11:00. Tel: (08) 151225, & step toward independence.

2225 7-7-7

Survey by UN For Namibia Voting Ends

The lack of information about ulation that the plane's mechanical

By Bernard E. Trainor

New York Times Service

Mohammed Zia ul-Haq have concluded that the crash was caused by istration officials said.

midair explosion.

WINDHOEK, South-West Africa - A United Nations technical team has completed a two-week survey aimed at preparing South-West Africa for territorial elections leading to independence. The UN will move 7,000 troops and civilians into South-West Africa, also known as Namibia, to oversee the elections if an agreement is reached at international negotiations on the territory's future. South Africa rules Namibia in defiance of the United Nations. "We received lots of good cooperation from businessmen, various consuls and organizations, including the South African Defense Force," Cedric Thornberry, leader of the UN team, said Friday.

U.S.-mediated talks on Namibia and the withdrawal of Cuban forces from neighboring Angola are at a critical stage. The negotia-tors have set Nov. 1 as a target date to start carrying out the UN independence plan.

In Washington, the United States emphatically denied Friday that the peace talks were at an impasse

The State Department spokesman, Charles Redman, said the parties remained in daily contact and "if they demonstrate the necessary political will, agreement can

"The shape of a negotiable com-promise is now clearly visible but the parties have further decisions to

The Washington Post, quoting Cuban and Angolan officials, re-ported on Friday that talks had reached an impasse over a timeta-ble for the withdrawal of 50,000 Cuban troops from Angola. Without a detailed timetable,

South Africa has said, it will refuse to go forward with elections for a constituent assembly in Namibia, a

the U.S. investigating team, made WASHINGTON — Experts up of experts from the air force and sent to Pakistan to investigate the Lockheed, had been forwarded to plane crash that killed President the Pakistanis, but they provided Thirty persons were killed in the a malfunction in the aircraft, and crash, including Arnold L. Raphel. not by a bomb or a missile, adminthe U.S. ambassador to Pakistan. and Brigadier General Herbert M. They said the disintegration of Wassom, the American military atthe Lockheed C-130 transport Aug. 17 was caused by the force with taché there. Officials at the State and Dewhich it hit the ground and not by a fense departments said the United States had received assurances The officials, who declined to be from Pakistan that it would share identified because of the political its findings with Washington. There has been widespread spec-ulation that General Zia was the fused to say if the malfunction victim of an assassination plot. Suspects have ranged from his docould have been caused by sabomestic opponents to Afghans, Rus-

By Edward Cody

Washington Post Service

government unrest and military repression in Algeria has reopened old wounds still not completely healed 26 years after this country won independence from

A highly politicized reaction in France to the troubles here.

followed by immediate Algerian resentment at anything Paris had to say on the subject, dramatized the extent to which France and Algeria still measure each other and themselves in the light of a Algeria's official press, for example, charged that French newspapers and television networks had exaggerated the nots and had bloated the death toll

because of an attitude that Algerians remained unable to govern themselves. Some commentaries even suggested that French intelligence was egging on the press to lay that groundwork for an attempt to reimpose colonial aumented the government newspa-per El Moudjahid, "but a coldly calculated hysteria clearly designed to harm through an immense disinformation project.

For that is what is happening, a disinformation campaign whose maps have long ago been drawn in the offices of certain malodor-

The government raised similar questions about official French intentions when it called in the French ambassador Wednesday to hear a complaint about critical remarks in Paris by the French minister of cooperation and development, Jacques Pelletier. Not only was Mr. Pelletier out of line to question the crackdown on rioters, a communique said, but his comment "gives something to wonder about concerning his true intentions."

ous departments."

"A veritable hysteria," la-war that ended in 1962.

France.

ALGIERS - A week of anu-system failed because of tampering. The officials said the findings of officials as idle speculation. U.S. officials discounted reports the pilot and crew remain capable.

OPPOSITION IN PAKISTAN — Benazir Bhutto, right, leader of the Pakistan People's Party explaining her party's manifesto for the November elections. The party will emphasize the economy. With her is her mother, Begum Musrat Bhutto, chairwoman of the party.

that a bomb was smuggled aboard or that the plane was shot down by According to U.S. government missed by both U.S. and Pakistani experts, if the plane had exploded in the air, wreckage would have been widely scattered. Reports from the scene indicate the wreckage was largely in one area, although some pieces, including an engine, were said to be some distance from the fuselage, indicating that at least part of the plane came apart in the air. plane carried no flight recorder.

Most American C-130s do not car
A spokesman for Mr. Junejo's

ry them either. ficers sabotaged the plane were dispart, have been looking across the Mediterranean during the sudden crisis at a country many knew as soldiers or colonial administrators. Stands taken during the war of independence from 1954 to 1962 have remained an important dividing line in

Eager to maintain friendly relations with Algiers, President

François Mitterrand's govern-

French politics.

■ Factions Are Reunited Two strong factions of the Pakistan Moslem League said Friday that they had agreed to joined.

Normally an airplane in distress transmits emergency radio calls if forces, presenting a new challenge to the leader of the opposition, Benazir Bhutto, in the national elections next month, Agence France-Presse reported from Islamabad.

led by Fida Mohammed Khan and and 19,000 troops. mer prime minister, Moham- In remarks after the med Khan Junejo, would make the U.S. officials said that the inves- Nov. 16 election a fight between tigation was hampered because the the league and Miss Bhutto's Paki-one of the mysteries is the abor points have been settled. Only Recent reports that Pakistani of- sence of information on radio minor issues are to be thrashed

Rancor on Algeria Revived current aid levels to the two non-least $10.5 million, and perhaps as has already appropriated $5 million for next year.

An Algerian government newspaper called the French reaction to the rioting 'a coldly calculated hysteria.' ment refrained from clear declarations condemning the killings and arrests of demonstrators. Inment for its discretion on Algerian repression. Jean-François Deniau, a centrist former minister, charged in Parliament that Mr. Mitterrand's government "gives lessons when events are far away and holds its tongue stead, his Socialist Party issued a statement regretting the "brutality" of government repression and promising to follow what happened to the prisoners. Conservative parties, some of which were strong advocates of France's own repression during the war, criticized the governwhen they are close by. Prime Minister Michel Rocard in reply reminded the French that he got his start in politics opposing the Algerian War. He declared that his silence should not be interpreted as em-

Unrest Reopens Old Wounds in Paris and Algiers French politicians, for their dorsement for President Chadli Bendjedid's crackdown on the ri-

> "In some situations, this silence has a much heavier meaning than forms of expression that would take off 100 quickly to give ourselves a good conscience and would not be mindful of all the suffering at stake and all the harm that could be worsened by speaking out to put our con-science in order," he said in a Paris television interview.

Mr. Rocard was apparently referring to fears that harm could come to the 6,000 French citizens who live in Algeria. He also expressed concern over trouble among the 800,000 Algerians who live in France. Longtime observers of French-Algerian ties viewed the prudence in Paris with irony. The working-class Algiers neighborhoods where some of the worst of last week's rioting took place. Bab el Oued and the Casbah, were centers of the Algerian revolt against French rule

30 years ago, they recalled. These quarters were also cen ters of much-criticized French repression against Algerian repels, some of it carried out when Mr. Mitterrand was in charge of French forces in Algeria as interior minister in the 1950s. Against this background, officials and other Algerians seemed to react exceptionally strongly to French statements about their troubles.

In perhaps the most extreme case. Miloud Brahimi, president of the Algerian Human Rights League, expressed indignation at criticisms leveled at the government by the French movie actor Yves Montand. The actor spoke out while on a visit to Jerusalem. Mr. Brahimi said, so why was he more worried about Algerian repression than about Israeli repression on the West Bank?

Compiled by Our Staff From Disputches

A research engineer who was known as a brilliant mathematician

The first rotary engine unit was gle elliptical chamber

THE SECOND PRESIDENTIAL DEBATE: Dukakis makes no claim of victory but sees tough road ahead

Vice President George Bush and his wife, Barbara, waving Thursday at a Los Angeles rally.

THE HUSTINGS

Too Much Fuzz for Police

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A national police organization has criticized the responses of both presidential nominees to a recent questionnaire. but particularly those of Vice President George Bush, as containing too many fuzzy answers on law enforcement

Other than being in favor of capital punishment, which Dukakis opposes, I don't know what Bush is for," said Hubert Williams, chairman of the Law Enforcement Steering Committee, a national organization of police groups.

The organization said that both men had bedged on federal funding of state and local law enforcement, and it accused Mr. Bush of dodging a proposal for a mandatory seven-day waiting period for anyone attempting to purchase a pistol. The proposal is embraced by his rival, Governor Michael S. Dukakis of Massachusetts.

"I wouldn't call either one of these guvs a straight shooter," Mr. Williams said, "but Bush is more ambiguous. I'd say they're both fudging it on

Jackson Defends His Role DENVER (LAT) - The Reverend Jesse L.

Jackson, facing criticism that he has not campaigned vigorously enough for the Democratic nicket, accused other Democratic leaders Thursday of being "analysts when they should be activists."

Too many party leaders, Mr. Jackson said in an interview aboard his chartered jet, have blamed Michael Dukakis's Boston-based campaign organization for a poor showing by the national ticket in their areas. He expressed scorn for local officials who have complained that their participation has not been solicited by the Dukakis campaign.

The motivation for involvement should not wait for a signal from Boston." Mr. Jackson said. "This is not the time to discuss the ins and outs of the Boston operation. We've got another team we are plaving

He added that "the leaders should spend less the Democratic quilt.

AMERICAN

TOPICS

Utility to Plant Trees

As Emission Antidote

An electric company, con-cerned that its new coal-burn-ing power plant in Connecticut will add to the warming of the world's atmosphere, is contributing to the planting of 52 million trees in Guatemala to combat carbon dioxide, the principal gas implicated in the so-called greenhouse effect. The New York Times reports.

AES Thames of Connecticut will give $2 million toward planting the trees over 385 square miles (1,000 square kilometers) of Guatemala. No matter where they are planted, trees will absorb carbon dioxide from sources all over the world

because emissions spread

The planting will be managed by CARE, the international re-lief organization, working with the Guatemalan Forestry Service and the U.S. Peace Corps.

The trees will be planted in de-forested areas by 40,000 Guatemalan farmers.

In addition to the $2 million from the utility, $2 million will be contributed by CARE, $1.2 million by the Guatemaian government, $3.6 million by the U.S. Agency for International Development and $7.5 million by the Peace Corps.

Insurance that will pay up to $1 million in case of catastrophic illness is being offered to all residents of Montgomery County, Maryland, for $26.4 and year for an individual and $53.80 for a family. In January.

all three million people in the greater Washington area will be eligible. The plan, at no cost to the county, was set up by county officials with Blue Cross-Blue Shield, the private health insurance group. Believed to be the first program of its kind, it is being watched on Capitol

Hill. Congress has passed a catastrophic bill, but only for the elderly. The county plan is available to everyone.

Short Takes

throughout the atmosphere.

Speaking to a Denver church group, he urged other Democratic leaders to "shift from being analysts to being activists," adding: "Quit jiving and go to work. Mr. Jackson himself has been accused of making too little effort for the national ticket since he lost the Democratic nomination to Mr. Dukakis. Former Representative Barbara C. Jordan of Texas called Mr. Jackson petulant last month and said that he had "never quite realized he was defeated for the Democratic nomination."

Dawkins on the Defensive

TEANECK, New Jersey (WP) - Prospects are no longer so sunny for Pete Dawkins, a former football star who once appeared poised to recapture a Senate seat for the Republicans.

After spending millions of dollars to introduce himself to his adopted state, Mr. Dawkins still trails Senator Frank R. Lautenberg, his Democratic rival, by 12 to 20 percentage points, recent polls show. Mr. Dawkins has spent much of the campaign on the defensive, responding to Mr. Lautenberg's attacks and explaining inaccuracies in his campaign materials.

Earlier this year, Mr. Lautenberg, 64, appeared to be one of the Senate's more vulnerable Democratic incumbents. A former businessman, he was not widely known in the state.

Mr. Dawkins, 50, a retired army brigadier general and former Wall-Street executive, was seen as a formidable foe after moving to New Jersey from Manhattan last year. But Mr. Lautenberg has managed to retain his lead despite remaining in Washington five days a week, largely through a campaign based on negative advertising.

Mr. Lautenberg took the unorthodox step of using his first television advertisement to put his opponent on the air. "I lived in a lot of places." Mr. Dawkins says in an excerpt from his announcement speech. "I never found a single place that had as good people, or as much promise, as I've found right here in our Garden State."

The caption read: "Come on, Pete. Be Real." A follow-up ad asked: "Why did Pete Dawkins really move to New Jersey? Because he likes us so much? ... Or are we just a political pit stop?

Surplus wild horses that had heen removed from their Western range and penned up, sometimes for years, are being turned loose in preserves in South Dakota under an agree-ment between the U.S. Bureau of Land Management and a nonprofit foundation, the Institute of Range and American Mustang, About 43,000 wild horses still roam the West. The

New York Times reports, and ranchers contend that they are depleting grazing land for live-stock. The bureau wants to trim

this figure by about 12,000 through individual adoptions and resettlement in sanctuaries.

U.S. crime levels rose 1.8 percent last year after declining for the previous five years, the federal government reports. Offi-cials had attributed the long decline to sterner law enforcement and a more cooperative public. Some experts, however, stressed that the size of the age group most prone to crime, mid-to-late teens, had been shrinking in the 1980s. The slight increases last year may indicate a greater concentration of the poor, who are also prone to crime, at the

For people who work at home but want a background of businessike sounds during their telephone calls, a tape recording of typewriters, adding machines and file drawers has gone on sale in Kingston. New York, at $14.95. It was created by Laura Newman, who started a business at home and worried that sounds of the television set.

squabbling children and other domestic cacophony might pro-ject less than a professional im-

ge. "A customer told me it really works," she said. "It's subliminal, and people don't question it. They just assume you're in an office."

Sign on a film-studio truck on Manhattan's Upper West Side, a neighborhood frequented by aspiring actors and actresses, as reported by Arline Levin, a New York Times reader:

THE NAME OF THE FILM IS

"HARRY. THIS IS SALLY"

NO ONE FAMOUS IS DO IT AND YOU CAN'T BE EITHER

Arthur Highee

young age levels.

, Political Experts Call Bush the Clear Winner Of the Second Debate

LOS ANGELES - Most polltakers and political experts agreed Friday that Vice President George Bush was the clear victor over Governor Michael S. Dukakis in the second and final presidential debate before the Nov. 8 election.

Mr. Dukakis's campaign scram-bled to put the best face on a debate performance on Thursday night that by most judgments left the Democratic candidate short of the breakthrough he needed to overcome Mr. Bush. The road ahead of us is going to be tough," Mr. Dukakis said. He said that the campaign was still "very close." But he made no claim of victory on Friday after his confrontation in Los Angeles with Mr. Bush, and his mood was markedly more reserved than in the days after their first debate. Mr. Dukakis's top political aide, John Sasso, said the ticket was still

"well within range" of winning.
Instant polls conducted by ABC

News and The Los Angeles Times declared Mr. Bush the clear winner. The ABC poll, which surveyed 639 registered voters who watched bate, found that 49 percent called Mr. Bush the winner. 33 percent said Mr. Dukakis won and 18 percent rated the debate even. The survey had a margin of error of plus or minus 4 percentage points.

The Times survey found Mr.
Bush to be the winner by 47 percent to 26 percent, with 27 percent un-decided. The poll of 522 registered voters had a margin of error of 5 percentage points.

But the newspaper USA Today found that Mr. Dukakis had prevailed. It gathered a group of 100 undecided people in Long Beach, California, to watch the debate on television and register their reactions on meters.

On a scale of 1 to 7, with 7 being "strongly liked," Mr. Dukakis edged Mr. Bush with an overall score of 4.7 to 4.4, the newspaper said. It said three people in the group said after the debate that they were now leaning toward Mr. Bush, and 14 said the debate had swayed them toward Mr. Dukakis. Patrick J. Buchanan, the Republican strategist and former White House communications director. said, "I don't see where or how the state-by-state disintegration of content, watched Mr. Dukakis must it, then scored with his own conceal his impatience.

(Continued from page 1)

When Margaret Garrard Warner

they understand the heartbeat of

The third time came when the candidates were asked who are the President Ronald Reagan

terms of the human dimension.

may have gained the decision.

the country.

think some crimes are so brutal.

outrageous, heinous. . .

Bob Beckel, who managed Walter Mondale's losing presidential campaign in 1984, said: "Dukakis is still only 5 or 6 points behind in this race. There's still time for him to do it. But he is going to have to take this campaign to George Bush supporters, on morning television talk shows, declared the battle all but won.

"If I were working for Michael Dukakis I'd be sending out resumes this morning," said Senator Phil Gramm, Republican of Texas. The two candidates campaigned Friday in different parts of California. The state, with 47 electoral votes, is the biggest prize in the presidential contest. Mr. Bush, 64, has a wide lead in projected electoral votes, the state-by-state count that actually determines the winner. The latest projections gave him 120 of the 270 electoral votes needed, with 180 others leaning his way.

The same poll had Mr. Dukakis controlling fewer than 100 electoral Under the U.S. system, the winner of the popular vote in a state takes all of that state's electoral votes.

The Democratic campaign unveiled two new television advertisements Friday, and Mr. Sasso said $13 million to $14 million would be spent on commercials in the final

Mr. Sasso conceded that the opinion polls taken after the debate gave Mr. Bush an edge, but said: "We scored with undecided and swing voters last evening. That's what we were looking for. Few political analysts scored Mr. Dukakis as the winner.

"Dukakis was Dukakis," said William Cunningham, a former adviser to Governor Mario Cuomo. Democratic of New York. "Bush was loose, chipper, magnanimous."

Senator Dennis DeConcini. Democrat of Arizona, said, "Dukakis was so much better on the issues, but he wasn't as warm as Bush Senator Bob Dole, Republican of Kansas, a bitter rival of Mr. Bush's in the Republican primary campaign, scored the debate "a Dukakis stops what appears to be presidential knockout. George

Mr. Dukakis succeeded in four or five things that his strategists had hoped to see him accomplish.

(AP, UPI, Reuters)

Michael S. Dukakis, left, and Leo McCarthy, a Senate candidate, at a gathering after the debate.

DEBATE: Sharp Words but a Bid for Softer Images breaks for the rich you want to give away." Mr. Dukakis said. The nationally televised 90-minute debate, held at the University of California at Los Angeles, was mportant for both men but especially so for Mr. Dukakis. The vice president has enjoyed a modest but persistent margin over the Massachusetts governor in national opinion polls since the Republican National Convention in And he is even further ahead in the battle for electoral votes, even by the Democrats' estimates. So, Mr. Dukakis was considered to need an especially strong performance Thursday. As in the first debate on Sept. 25, he displayed a command of issues and details. And this time he sought to convey more personal warmth than he had in that encounter. Mr. Bush, for his part, seemed more assured than in the first debate and avoided the sort of major misstep that might have derailed his candidacy.

He seemed at ease, occasionally oking with the panel of journalists who questioned the candidates, and was comfortable with detail. When asked to identify some personal heroes, he named some, including Jaime Escalante, a Los Angeles mathematics teacher whose story was featured in the movie "Stand and Deliver." Mr. Dukakis, for his part, mostly generalized about the kinds of people he

Among the issues on which the candidates exchanged sharp words were the vice presidential capabilities of Mr. Bush's running mate, Senator Dan Quayle.

"I made a good selection," said Mr. Bush, adding that Mr. Quayle had taken an "unfair pounding." "I have confidence in him," vice president said. Mr. Bush had said the selection of set as our goal a steady, gradual running mates would "tell all — reduction of the deficit." and it sure did."

that Mr. Dukakis, as Massachusetts governor, had raided state pension funds to pay state bills.

Mr. Dukakis replied: "You're dead wrong, George. I didn't do

Challenged by a panelist about the negative tone of the campaign, and asked to find something about Mr. Dukakis worthy of praise, Mr. Bush said he admired the way his rival took "understandable pride" in his family and heritage. Mr. Dukakis responded, "I hope the tone we've just heard might be the tone we'll have for the rest of the campaign."

Both candidates seemed to take pains to avoid blame for the hostile nature of their contest. Mr. Bush said: "It's gotten a little nasty. It's not much fun sometimes."

Both candidates became highly personal on the subject of abortion. Mr. Bush, who rarely has publicly discussed the death of his daughter. Robin, of leukemia, evoked that experience in defending his advocacy of a general ban on abortion. allowing exceptions only for pregnancies caused by rape and incest. and when the mother's health is in danger. He said he would not favor exceptions to the ban in cases in which medical tests showed the fe-

Mr. Dukakis noted that he and his wife had also lost a child, 20 minutes after the infant's birth. But he said that the question was "who makes the decision" to have an abortion performed. "I think it has to be the woman," he said.

tus to be sick or damaged.

Mr. Bush was asked if his promise not to raise taxes was "misleading." He denied the suggestion, saying, "I'm pledged to that," and added that new taxes w tle economic expansion.

Mr. Dukakis said no candidate could promise to balance the feder-But Mr. Dukakis replied that al budget if elected, but said, "We'll

Mr. Bush said his opponent had

At one point, Mr. Bush charged balanced the Massachusetts budget only because state law required him to do so. He warned that Mr. Dukakis, who advocated more aggressive tax collection, would unleash "an army" of Internal Revenue Service workers into "everyone's

A. . . .

Asked to name three weapons systems he might cancel, Mr. Bush named one: a heavy truck that, he said, was put in the budget only because a "very powerful" congressman had demanded it.

The governor shot back by saying that in a Dukakis administration, "billions and trillions" of dollars would be saved by cutting back or canceling the Strategic Defense Initiative, rail-based MX missiles and a space plane from Washington to Tokyo.

Asked why he had ruled out several weapons systems, Mr. Dukakis said the United States was "teetertottering on a mountain of debt' and added, "There are limits to this nation's ability to finance these

But Mr. Bush said, "You just don't make unilateral cuts in the naive hope that the Soviets are 20ing to behave themselves."

141 Water Street Stonington, CT 06378, U.S.A.

Catalogue

IT IS A MOMENT YOU PLANNED FOR, REACHED FOR. STRUGGLED FOR. A LONG-AWAITED MOMENT OF SUCCESS. OMEGA. FOR THIS AND ALL YOUR SIGNIFICANT MOMENTS.

SIGNIFICANT MOMENTS. IN THE OLYMPICS. IN THE SPACE PROGRAM. IN SIGNIFICANT LIVES LIKE YOURS. THE OMEGA CONSTELLATION, - -FOR YOU BOTH

Omega - Official Timekeeper of the Olympic Games, Calgary and Seoul 1988

Gives Up on Contra Aid

"As a practical matter, there just simply isn't any appetite in Congress for military aid, and it wouldn't do the contras any good to bring the issue up and have it voted down," a White House official said Thursday.

attempts to wipe out the rebels' camps in Honduras.

■ Reagan Issues Warning

it into special session if he decides that additional military aid needs to be rushed to the contras. The Associated Press reported from Washington. "In the event the Sandinistas at-

Such a move by Mr. Reagan was regarded as extremely unlikely, however. Asked about the possibil-ity on Wednesday, the House

At a White House briefing Thursday, Mr. Fitzwater conceded

White House

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration has abandoned attempts to obtain additional military aid for the Nicaraguan contras and will leave the issue to be re-solved by the next president and Congress, according to White House officials.

While President Ronald Reagan remains committed to the contras, whom he once called "the moral equivalent of the Founding Fathers," he is not expected to seek further military aid unless the San-dinista government of Nicaragua

The chief White House spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater, said ad-ministration officials had met Republican congressional leaders earlier Wednesday and concluded that a battle for military aid would not succeed.

Mr. Reagan told Congress Fri-day he "would not hesitate" to call tempt to capitalize on this situa-tion, they should know I would not hesitate to call the 100th Congress back into session to consider emergency assistance to the freedom fighters." Mr. Reagan said in a speaker, Jim Wright, a Texas Democrat, said: "I hope the president doesn't try to grandstand and make a political football out of Central America."

that a special session could not be restricted to aid for the contras.

He insinuated, over Mr. Bush's Even if Mr. Bush had not undervehement denials, that his rival lined the point, Mr. Dukakis's would tamper with Social Security omission was apparent. Before the benefits, a fear that Democrats debate, an old Dukakis rival, Rephave found moves many elderly resentative Richard A. Gephardt. voters to the polls. Democrat of Missouri, had said By repeating the phrase, "I don't that if Mr. Dukakis could "add a

ASSESS: Dukakis Was Off

know which George Bush I'm delittle human touch to his obvious bating," he suggested accurately competence, it would help." Try as he might Thursday, Mr. that the positions the vice president has taken in the current campaign Dukakis did not seem to be able to on education and the environment perform that task convincingly. are sharply at odds with the record In the past two months, Mr. of the Reagan administration, in Bush has done something extraorwhich he serves. dinary. Polls show that with an

He underlined quite effectively, the difference the election will aggressive campaign, he has raised public disapproval of Mr. Dukakis make in Supreme Court appoint-ments, especially on such sensitive to the point that it now exceeds the approval scores, even as he has dra-matically reduced his own "negasocial issues as abortion, where the two men sharply disagree. And he was able to make a statement on Thursday, Mr. Bush furthered that process. Three times, he lisletting women decide whether or not to have abortions that could tened to a question about personal appeal to many female voters. values, a question with emotional

He drove home the conclusion that he will give higher priority to domestic needs than to some weapons systems, another position that polls suggest commands support.

of Newsweek magazine asked him And he managed repeatedly to remind viewers that in the first big about the first debate, which she said Mr. Dukakis won intellectually but Mr. Bush captured on "likability," and inquired whether he decision of their respective campaigns, the choice of a running mate, he chose the widely admired thought voters might require a de-Senator Lloyd Bentsen of Texas gree of empathy with their presiwhile Mr. Bush chose Senator Dan dent, the governor could hardly Quavle of Indiana, whose reputation has suffered by comparison. He began his answer by going

Mr. Bush was plainly prepared for the Quayle question, and he did the only thing he could, defending Mr. Quayle by attacking the news media for giving "such an unfair back to a previous question and telling Mr. Bush. You're dead wrong. George about Social Secu-rity. When he returned to the ques-tion, he said: "I hope I'm a reasonpounding to a young senator.

This showed Mr. Bush's loyalty, but it probably did not answer the doubts about his judgment. ably likable guy, but I'm also a serious guy. This is a serious of-

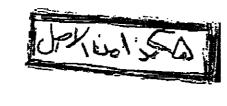

After another lecture on taxes But those were perhaps the only pluses in the evening for Mr. Duka-kis. His defense against the charges and the budget, Mr. Dukakis added that if he becomes president, he will "do the job with as much good humor as possible." that Mr. Bush has used to derail the Democratic campaign were muted Mr. Bush again underlined the obvious. "It's not whether people like you," he said, but whether at best, and in some instances, he offered no defense at all.

At no point did Mr. Dukakis find a way to defend the Massachuseus prisoner furlough program, which has been used in what may be the Bush campaign's most dam heroes of contemporary American life. Mr. Dukakis's list started with aging television commercial. While he complained about Mr. Bush's "members of Congress and some of my fellow governors." politicians who do not rank high on the pub-lic's hit parade. Then he mentioned classroom teachers, members of the habit of "labeling" him a liberal, he said nothing that deterred the vice president from continuing to do so. By the end of the 90 minutes, Mr. Bush had associated "taxes," "uni-lateral defense cuts." "the nuclear clergy, drug counselors, people in law enforcement. At the end of the recitation, he had named exactly freeze" and even "licensing grandmothers" for day care with Mr. Dukakis's brand of liberalism.

one individual, Dr. Jonas E. Salk. the developer of polio vaccine. When Mr. Bush had a chance to Mr. Bush's sentences tracked better than they had in the first comment, he dropped five names debate and he was as informal in manner as Mr. Dukakis was stiff. into a one-minute response, starting with a noted Hispanic teacher in Los Angeles and ending with

That informality showed from the outset. When, in his first ques-tion to Mr. Bush about Mr. Quayle, Answers like that made the de-Mr. Shaw of CNN raised the possi-bility that Mr. Bush might be electbate almost a total mismatch in As for the political points. Mr. ed president but die before being Bush at least held his own - and inaugurated, Mr. Bush interjected in a tone of mock hurt. "Bernie!"

Opportunity in Moscow

In at least one arena of Soviet policy, able lessons for the Soviet Union, he said, slikhail Gorbachev has scored a clear victory. For months he has struggled with his This "new conception of socialism," as he Mikhail Gorbachev has scored a clear victory. For months he has struggled with his former number two, Yegor Ligachev, over the ideological underpinnings of Soviet foreign policy. Mr. Gorbachev has stressed common interests, Mr. Ligachev conflict. Now Mr. Gorbachev has prevailed.

This victory for a more constructive tone challenges the West to examine its own ideological rigidities. It also invites a search for a new superpower relationship that might go beyond arms control.

Mr. Gorbachev rests his approach to foreign policy on the notion that "the common interests of mankind" take precedence over class struggle. This assault on Marxist orthodoxy rattled Mr. Ligachev, who repudiated it whenever the Soviet leader went on vacation. In August, for example, he complained bit-terly that talk of "common interests" was "sowing doubt among our people ... and our friends." He reaffirmed class conflict as the basis for Soviet foreign policy.

Mr. Ligachev, who was conspicuously absent from an important agriculture meeting on Wednesday, lost his ideology port-folio two weeks ago. But he kept his Politburo seat, so it was not until a speech several days later by the new ideology chief, Vadim Medvedev, that the extent of Mr. Gorbachev's victory became clear.

Mr. Medvedev reaffirmed Mr. Gorbachev's emphasis on "common human val-ues" and added his own touches. Other political and economic systems hold valucalled it, is a long way from the old secrety, smugness and paranoia, from the old emphasis on competition between socialism and capitalism. And Mr. Gorbachev's specific phrases — stressing interdependence, com-mon rather than individual security, military sufficiency instead of strict parity - could make dealing with him more productive than dealing with his predecessors. Some Americans urge that Mr. Gorbachev's pronouncements and initiatives be taken with a very large dose of salt. America must not be boodwinked by high-minded talk, the thinking goes, but must resolutely test Mr. Gorbachev at every turn. He should indeed be tested, as should François Mitterrand and any other leader, foreign policy decisions ought always to be based on national security and interests. But reflexive rejection, as in Dan Quayle's dismissal of Soviet change as "refined Stalinism," misses the point — and the opportunity.

Mr. Gorbachev's new thinking has already discomfitted many a self-satisfied bureaucrat in Moscow. Perhaps there is a parallel abroad. America's Soviet experts and policy makers have grown accustomed to a world rigidly divided, to simple and straightforward ideological truths. Now, in a more complex time, prudence still serves the interests of the United States. But rigidity will only confound them. - THE NEW YORK TIMES.

'Problems in This Area'

vardnadze, is speaking in an intriguing way about human rights. Visiting in Paris, he acknowledges that his government has "problems in this area" and he in effect invites the "Helsinki" countries to apply a squeeze. If the 35 nations involved in this exercise will agree to meet in Moscow, he says, it will help the Soviet Union to alter its penal code and otherwise resolve the question of political prisoners.

When the Helsinki meetings began in the mid-1970s, the well-founded fear was that Moscow would use them to cover up its abuses. The new reality is that reformers are using the process to correct some abuses, arguing at home that progress on rights is a key to modernizing and to standing taller in the world. But it is only a partial reality. Although the Soviets have made some notable advances, they are a good distance from the performance that would make it reasonable to confer on them the political benefit of hosting a meeting on human rights.

Specifically, they are a distance from the standards they accepted in the Helsinki Final Act. A government that is still selective about granting visas to Americans has to give more credible guarantees than it has so far that a conference would be open to anyone who wanted to attend. Some hundreds of political prisoners, including Helsinki monitors, are still incarcerated, according to Andrei Sakharov. Radio Liberty is still jammed.

Personal hardship cases that Moscow could clear up in a morning remain unresolved. Jewish emigration is up, but it is not near the old peak and its future is uncertain.

In Washington there is a familiar tension between the human rights groups, which naturally give priority to their cause, and the government, whose broader responsibilities incline it to see rights as one of several major American interests. The latter tendency is underlined by a peculiar Helsinki development. The Soviets, who (despite what Mr. Shevardnadze says) cannot enjoy being hit over the head, and the French and the Germans, for their own reasons, linked East-West talks on rights to East-West talks on conventional arms reductions. This further tempts arms controllers to regard rights as something that gets in the way. The United States cannot demand as a condition of doing other business that the Soviet Union make itself over, and it cannot keep revising upward its human rights demands every time the Soviets meet the last demand. It would also be a mistake to figure that American leverage is more important in producing change than the Soviet Union's own dynamics. But certainly the United States can expect the Soviets to honor its international commitments, and it can never stop insisting that its view of the Soviet Union, as a country and as a partner, hinges crucially on the kind of society it is. -THE WASHINGTON POST.

Other Comment

Much to Complain About

Despite the fact that Chinese people are now enjoying a better life than before, many are complaining more, too. But this is hard to avoid in the process of the reform.

A decade ago people were satisfied just to be able to feed themselves, such was the perilous state of the economy. When every-one is living in poverty there is less reason to complain. But now the person who lives on carbon-dating, can still claim to be the chief carrots and cabbage is likely to feel envious about the person who eats pork every day.

There are many things about which to complain: inflation, shortages, rationing, un-even distribution of wealth, corruption and of the carbon 14 tests, which were officially excessive bureaucracy. Competition for jobs confirmed [on Thursday], the Shroud of Tu-and higher wages may be needed for the rin has now to be classified as that sort of improvement of the economy. But, for those who lose out in the competition, they are sources of grievance. People have to abandon old concepts and come to terms with new thinking. Though the ultimate goal of reform is common prosperity, reform will lead to readjustments in distribution of interests and some people will get rich earlier than others, hence the complaints.

- The Beijing paper Workers' Daily, as quoted by The Guardian (London).

The Cemeteries Accuse Stalin

Last November, Mikhail Gorbachev made a major speech criticizing Stalin. More broadly, he has called for the "blank spaces" in Soviet history to be filled in. How far will a program of greater historical honesty be allowed to go? In the case of Stalin, perhaps far indeed.

The science editor of the influential Literary Gazette suggests that Stalin exhibited typical symptoms of clinical paranoia as far back as 1927. What is now being publicly said is that for more than a quarter-century the Terrible, by a man who was mentally being openly discussed says something about the parameters of the Gorbachev era. A e has begun to roll acros tiood bae of ch the cemetery of Soviet history, exhuming the corpses of its victims. And with each disinterment, terrible truths are being revealed. - The Los Angeles Times.

of them. Some relics come not from Christianity's origins but from a thousand years later when a "piece of the True Cross" was a rin has now to be classified as that sort of relic. The medieval bishop of Troyes, Pierre d'Arcis, said so at the time. But until now he has not been listened to, for what did he know about electron microscopy or the rate of decay of isotopes of carbon

Those who saw the testing of the shroud as an opportunity to prove or disprove by science the truth of the Resurrection, the existence of God or some equally large issue have had their reward. There has never been the slightest suggestion, however, that the initial perpetrators intended their handiwork for such a purpose. Both the wonders of modern science and the present climate of religious skepticism would have been quite beyond their grasp. Before they are dismissed as nothing more than cheap forgers who have been caught out at last, it should further be admitted that the object they produced, the alleged burial cloth of Christ, is still a most remarkable work of iconographic art. Modern science can discredit it but cannot make its duplicate. Even as an object of piety the shroud is not finished, therefore. Relics work at the level of feeling, not intellect. It can never be proved that a particular relic is genuine, though it Russia was ruled, as it had been under Ivan may be provable that it is not. That is the fate that has befallen the shroud. It is a warning unbalanced. A group of leading Soviet intel-to the Roman Catholic Church never to lectuals calls for an assessment of Stalin's make the mistake of investing relics with crimes in a public tribunal, to be conducted evidential power or supernatural properties. in the same Hall of Columns where the A relic merely brings a person or event notorious Moscow purge trials of the 1930s closer, establishing a physical link with some took place. That such an enterprise is even holy person or moment, thereby stimulating the imagination and moving the spirit.

- The Times (London).

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE

JOHN HAY WHITNEY, Charman 1958-1982 KATHARINE GRAHAM, WILLIAM S. PALEY, ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER

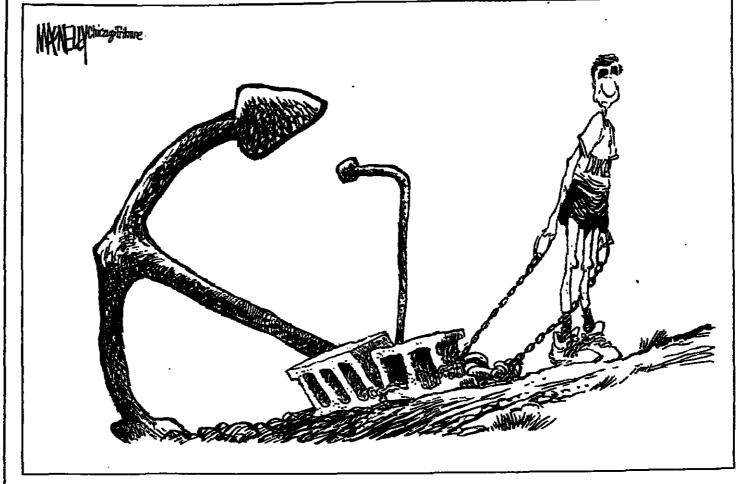

LEE W. HUEBNER, Publisher

JOHN VINOCUR, Enguine Editor • WALTER WELLS, News Editor • SAMUEL ABT, KATHERINE KNORR and CHARLES MITCHELMORE, Deput: Editors • CARL GEWIRTZ, Associate Editor • ROBERT J. DONAHUE, Editor of the Editoral Pages • JAMES R. CRATE, Business Financial Editor RENÉ BONDY. Deputi Publisher • ALAIN LECOUR and RICHARD H. MORGAN. Assertate Fablishers • FRANÇOIS DESMAISONS. Circulation Director • ROLF D. KRANEPUHL, Askertung Sales Perector • KOURDT HOWELL. Director. Information Systems

International Herald Tribune, 181 Avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92200 Neuilly-sur-Seine, France Tel.: (1)46.37.93.00. Telex: Advertising, 613595; Circulation, 612832; Editorial, 612718; Production, 630698.

Directeur de la publication: Walter N. Thaver. Editor for Asia: Michael Richardson, 5 Canterbury Rd., Singapore (611, Tel-472-7768, The RS6928 Managing Dir. Asia: Michael Richardson, 5 Canterbury Rd., Singapore (611, Tel-472-7768, The RS6928 Managing Dir. U.K.: Robin MacKielan, 63 Long Acre, London WCL. Tel. 830-890.: Telex: 61170 Managing Dir. U.K.: Robin MacKielan, 63 Long Acre, London WCL. Tel. 830-890.: Telex: 365009 Gen, Mg. W. Germany, W. Lauterbach, Friedrichar 15, 6000 Frankfurt/M. Tel. (660-726755, The 416721 Pres. U.S.: Michael Control, 850 Third Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022, Tel. (212) 752-3890. Telex: 427175 S.A. au capital de 1.200/000 F. RCS Nanterre B 752021126. Commission Partiare No. 61337 Pres. U.S.: Michael Control Herald Tribune. All rights reserved. ISSN: 0294-8052.

Does Gorbachev's Sidekick Still Believe This?

N EW YORK — Quiz time. Who said, "The origin of the American desire to possess the world lies deep within the country's social system"?

Who said, "All of Ronald Reagan's actions are steeped in fanaticism and personal hatred for socialism and all progressive changes??

And this: "Marxists have never forgotten that violence must inevitably accompany the collapse of capitalism in its entirety and the birth of socialist society. That violence will constitute a period of world history, a whole era of various kinds of wars, imperialistic wars, civil wars ... This epic of gigantic cataclysms has begun ...

In all three cases the answer is: Alexander Yakovlev, that leading Soviet "reformer" who sits at Mikhail Gorbachev's right hand, advising him on U.S. affairs and, since the recent shakeup, overseeing the conduct of foreign policy.

Mr. Yakovlev, like Mr. Gorbachev, emerged from the Kremlin's power struggle with his own power significantly enhanced. Even before Anatoli Dobrynin's retirement, Mr. Yakovlev had established himself as Mr. Gorbachev's principal adviser on North America, often sitting in on Mr. Gorbachev's conversations with high-level Americans, and traveling with him to the Washington summit. Mr. Yakovlev has become the Kremlin's unchallenged authority on matters American.

It is time we knew more about this man who studied at Columbia University in New York, worked in various Soviet Communist Party schools and publishing houses, and served as Soviet ambassador to Canada from 1973 to 1983. He is the author of a book on the United States suggestively entitled "On the Edge of an Abyss: From Truman to Reagan, the Doctrine and Realities of the Nuclear Age." The English-language version of the book, from Progress Publishers in

By Jeane Kirkpatrick

Moscow, appeared in 1985 and includes coverage of the 1984 American elections. Even acknowledging that Mr. Yakovlev is first a party man and only second a historian, and that he may have had political motives for writing the book, it is relevant enough to his current role to be taken seriously. Presumably, it reflects with reasonable accuracy his attitude toward the United States and the world at large.

Yakorler's hostility to America is implacable, unrelieved, splenetic. And just as orthodox as Stalin's.

The book is unremittingly hostile, even contemptuous, of the society, culture, politics and foreign policy of the United States. From John Wayne to Jimmy Carter, it finds Americans sim-ple, often violent and regularly malevolent in their dealings with the world. He dismisses American society and institutions as corrupt and fraudulent.

"Reality is such that we must deal with a country where freedom is suppressed, where violence flourishes, where trade unions are persecuted, where the press services big business and where basic rights of individuals are hampered," Mr. Yakovlev wrote. He portrays a country governed by a militaryindustrial complex seeking only its own greater profit. The American-style election, he says, "is a familiar and rather boring theatrical performance put on for people who are not quite aware of what that an actor should have been twice elected president, and that he should have been handpicked for the job by California millionaires.

The 1984 Republican platform confirmed his opinion that President Reagan's "peace thetoric" was "nothing but shameless hypocrisy and primitive demagoguery." The American people are brainwashed. Those who inform them — historians, political scientists, journalists — are too cor-rupt to do their job bonestly. "Indifference, egoism and individualism are cultivated under the slogan of defending "freedom of the individual." ... Everything is done to spawn selfishness, greed, accumulation of wealth, and the cult of money." Mr. Yakoviev's hostility to America is implaca-ble, unrelieved, splenetic, rlis analysis of U.S. "imperialism" is as orthodox as Stalin's. He does not say "We will bury you," in the manner of Nikita Khru-shchev, but he just as clearly predicts America's "inevitable downfall." He emphasizes the "absolute incompatibility" of capitalism and socialism.

There is no "new thinking" in this book, no hint of revisionist ideas about the existence of common values or a common human destiny; only dogmatic repetition about the coming defeat of capitalism. Maybe Mr. Yakovlev has changed his mind about some of the matters discussed in "On the Edge of the Abyss." Maybe he hasn't. Maybe it doesn't matter much, since making policy and writing books are two quite different activities.

But by their rehabilitation of Nikolai Bukharin and their reverent citations of Lenin, the "new thinkers" in the Kremlin, including Mr. Gorbachev, indicate that ideas do matter to them. If so, it will be important for Americans dealing with Soviet leaders to have read and digested the book written by the man who sits at Mr. Gorbachev's right hand.

→ Los Angeles Times Syndicate.

The Lure of the Pacific Is Turning Soviet Heads

true democracy really means." He is not surprised

LADIVUSIUK -Gorbachev era, the Soviet Union regarded all talk of Pacific cooperation as part of a Japanese and American plot to spread capitalism and isolate Moscow and its allies. But in a speech on Sept. 16 in Krasnoyarsk. which developed ideas first expressed in a major address in Vladivostok in July 1986, Mikhail Gorbachev reiterated that the Soviet Union wants to play a useful part in the rapidly devel-oping Asia-Pacific region. Beijing recognizes that Moscow is serious about normalizing relations. Soviet concessions over the location of its river border with China in 1986 followed a thinning out of Soviet troops along the border. Many of the countries of the Association of South East Asian Nations now acknowlege that there has been serious Soviet pressure on Vietnam to withdraw its forces from Cambodia. Australian officials have reported that the operations of the Soviet Pacific fleet have been cut back by up to half since Mr. Gorbachev took office. And Tokyo has detected a more flexible Soviet position on possible return of some of the dis-puted islands north of Japan which have been occupied by the Soviet Union since the end of World War II.

Many Pacific states accept that Mr. Gorbachev's government has some new ideas. Beijing is repairing political ties with Moscow because China's desire for gennine independence in for-eign policy requires détente with the Soviet Union. Japan understands that a reforming Soviet Union offers a real chance for Tokyo to develop a global role that is less dependent on alliance with America. ASEAN countries accept that a moderate Soviet Union can help balance Chinese and U.S. power.

Soviet economic reforms are not moving as fast as Mr. Gorbachev wants. Only China has so far seen major benefits from economic cooperation with the Soviet Union. Trade between the two countries is booming. China has agreed to send 10,000 workers across the border to help build factories and work the farms.

The next target for a Gorbachev initiative is Japan. Some joint ventures have been agreed, but in general Soviet-Japanese trade is stagnating. How-ever, Moscow points out that the two economies are complementary. Japan needs resources and the Soviet Union is resource-rich. The Soviet Union needs high technology and Japan's in-dustries are world leaders in that area. If superpower détente holds and Moscow does make some concessions on its territorial dispute with Japan, growth in two-way trade is likely. The real problem for the Soviet Letters intended for publication should be addressed "Letters to the Editor" and contain the writer's signature, name and full address. Letters should be brief and are subject to editing. We cannot be responsible for the return of unsolicited manuscripts.

Union in sustaining its Pacific initiative is the fate of the reform process at home. With a Pacific coast population of less than eight million, the Soviet Union accounts for less than one percent of total Asia-Pacific production. Less than 10 percent of Soviet trade is with the Pacific. The vast problems confronting a Soviet Union anxious to improve its economic position in the region have been recognized in Moscow. They were aired at an international conference on Pacific cooperation that was organized by the Soviet Academy of Sciences and held in Vladivostok from Oct. 1 to 3. But the most likely solutions, even if they can be carried out, are at least a decade away.

Bv Gerald Segal

The Soviet Union is torn between the idea that development must be part of a wider reform process funded by internal investment, and a bolder program to draw in foreign investment to give the whole process a kick-start. The more radical ideas seem to be winning. To attract foreign investors, the Soviet Union is exploring ways of drawing domestic and foreign labor to the region with large pay incentives. Foreign economic zones with special tax and investment regulations are being planned along the lines of those in China. They will concentrate on providing a modern scientific and technological infrastructure for indus-tries which process Soviet raw materials. South Korea and Singapore are seen as new partners in such ventures. Moscow regards these newly industri-alized countries of East Asia as more structurally compatible than Japan.

It is easy to be skeptical about the Soviet Union's role in the Pacific economy in the years ahead. Yet a decade aso there was equal skepticism about China, which now ranks fifth among Pacific traders. The Soviet Union can point to the success of Australia or Canada as exporters of raw materials and processed goods, and importers of technology.

But the real Soviet hope must be derived from the simple facts of geography: Considered from the vantage Vladivostok, the two most important Pacific economies, Japan and China, are right next door.

The writer, who attended the Academy of Sciences conference in Vladivostok, is a Research Fellow at the Royal Institute of International Affairs in London and editor of The Pacific Re-view. He contributed this comment to the International Herald Tribune.

And the Vietnamese Are Not Amused

FONDON - A seven-point pro-Loposal for peace and security in Asia and the Pacific made on Sept. 16 by Mikhail Gorbachev in the Siberian city of Krasnoyarsk has attracted a mixed response.

China's national news agency sum-marized the speech without com-ment. Prime Minister Noboru Takeshita of Japan welcomed it, saying he would study the text closely. In Washington, a White House spokes-man reacted coolly, while Thailand's Foreign Ministry described the offer to vacate the Soviet Pacific fleet's "material-technical supply point in Cam Ranh Bay" in return for U.S. withdrawal from bases in the Philippines as a "political ploy." In Manila, President Corazon Aquino characteristically avoided giving an opinion. More significant, and yet less no-ticed, was the response from Vietnam, which has a treaty of friendship and cooperation with the Soviet Union and has been receiving more than $3 billion a year in Soviet aid. Hanoi has been the object of intense Soviet pressure to help resolve the conflict in Cambodia, which Vietnamese troops have occupied since December 1978. Moscow is keen to reduce its involvement in regional conflicts where they interfere with improved relations with the United States and China. The Soviet Union has been pursuing normalization with China, increasingly at Vietnam's expense. For example, a once principled Soviet refusal to iscuss the interests of third parties with China has given way to serious talks on Cambodia, most recently in Beijing in August between deputy for-eign ministers and at the United Nations in New York late last month between foreign ministers. It is in this context that Vietnam has reaffirmed a commitment to withdraw all its troops from Cambodia by 1990 whether or not a political solution is reached. But Vietnamese spokesmen have insisted that the timetable for a Chinese and Vietnamese forces in

By Michael Leifer

pullout before then must be linked to a cessation of aid to Cambodian resistance lighters who have bases along the Thai-Cambodian border. There is evident ambiguity in Ha-noi's position. The Vietnamese have a strong security interest in avoiding a power vacuum in Cambodia which the strongest resistance group, the Chinese-backed Khmer Rouge, could fill. Yet without first eliminating the Khmer Rouge, unconditional with-drawal by 1990 would almost certainly cause the power vacuum. Hanoi's response to Mr. Gorbachev's initiative in Krasnoyarsk has to be interpreted in the light of continuing Soviet pressure for Vietnam to proceed, as promised last May, with the repatriation of 50,000 troops from Cambodia by the end of this year. In his initial reaction, Nguyen Co

Thach, Vietnam's foreign minister, showed no enthusiasm for Mr. Gorbachev's proposal, which called on Vietnam and China to open direct talks on Cambodia. Mr. Thach said it contained nothing very new and was almost the same in its general sense as the Soviet leader's July 1986 policy speech on the Asia-Pacific region in Vladivostok, More bluntly, Mr. Thach stressed that Cam Ranh Bay was a Vietnamese base, not a Soviet one. His message that it was not a bargaining counter for the Soviet leader could not have been clearer. Viet-nam's exclusive jurisdiction over the base was reiterated in a subsequent, more measured response from Hanoi. Soviet access to Cam Ranh Bay began after a Chinese punitive attack on Vietnam in February 1979. The presence of the Soviet military has been intended to serve as a deterrent against the Chinese. However, after the perfunctory Soviet response to the naval clash between the disputed Spratly Islands in the South China Sea earlier this year, the renewed offer of a Soviet withdrawai from Cam Ranh can only reinforce Hanoi's concern over Soviet willingness to compromise Viet-nam's interests to China's advantage. The leaders of an economically prostrate Vietnam must be thinking that with friends like the Russians, they have no need of enemies.

The writer, who teaches international relations at the London School of Economics and Political Science, is the author of the recently published book ASEAN and the Security of Southeast Asia." He contributed this comment to the International Herold Tribune.

Federalism For the Sake Of Belgium

By William Plaff

PARIS — Is there really a Belling gium? It is not an idle questice,* given the conflicts that divide the people of that flat land. A Belgian sociologist, author of a Europe wide inquiry into individual values, toom theless says yes. Belgium exists. The Reverend Jan Kerkhols of the

.

 $g_{k,k}^{(k)}(x,y) \in \mathcal{F}$

neta:

JE 1995

1.

٠. . .

-1.1

4.3

 $\Gamma_{i,1}, \gamma_{i,j}$

 $f^{*}(S, M)$

1 (12)

بهر ت

1

€.

11

31 te

1 1 129

 $M_{1/2}, \gamma_{2}$

1.5 Ré

University of Louvain says that the two main linguistic communities of Belgium, the French-speaking Walloons and the Dutch-speaking Flem ish, are closer to one another in one ish, are closer to one another in one look than Walloons are to the neighboring French or the Flemish their Dutch cousins. (The third has guage community in Belgium is that of some 60.000 German-speakers)

Yet the two resist political cooperation. Belgium's lack of firm government in recent years has reflected that reluctance of Flemish and Walloom each to give an inch to the other. Now at last there may be a solution.

Constitutional change is on the way. to make Belgium into a federation.

The linguistic battle has distracted the Belgians from serious national issues, and has contributed to case rents of alienation and political men tremism. Belgium recently has experienced both right-wing conspiracy and left-wing terrorism.

no tert-wing terrorism.

A series of atrocious and seeming motiveless murder-robberies in early and mid 1980s, committed by what the press called "the mad killers of Brabant," was eventually linked to individuals in the security and police individuals in the security and poace services, presumably motivated by wish to destabilize the government and open the way to some kind of authoritarianism. There has been left-wing terrorism by a group with ties to the French Direct Action. movement; it is a marginal affair of the politically alienated, but it feeds 4;

sense of political insecurity.

The planned constitutional reform will make the country into a lederal state, under the monarchy, made up of semi-autonomous components based on the three linguistic communities and the city of Brussels, where French and Flemish have equal standing.

The federal government, with a parliament elected by the vote of all will retain power over international relations, defense and the institutions of social security and social insur-

Belgian economic policy.

The prime minister, Wilfried Martens, says that while "much will do." pend on individuals and on officials, since the regionalist tendency is extremely strong in our country, there is a will among the political class to guarantee national coherence in the federal institutions such as that which exists in Germany." The goal is "to give Belgium a new equilibrium."

The West German example is important to the Belgians because federalism is a success in Germany. Giving wide autonomy to the individual states was an allied postwar policy meant as protection against German n ine eveni. struck a creative balance between the extreme division of Germany in the past (more than 100 separate sovereignties at the start of the 19th century) and that centralization which proved disastrous under the Prussian monarchs in the late 19th and early 20th centuries, and then under Hitler.

The current development of the European Community toward a true common market in 1992 provides the Belgians with a certain reassurance that a federal structure would not weaken their international position.

Federalism is a system with which Belgians feel confident, provincial identity having in the past been their best protection against abusive power.

The Belgians have been ruled by the French Dukes of Burgundy, the Spanish Hapsburgs, then the Austrian branch of the Hapsburg monarchy. They were victims of the religious struggle between Catholicism and Calvinism. Their country has been a battleground in every European war from the 17th century until 1945. They are left with a deep hostility toward central power. The com-mune, the church and the family are what offer protection.

Theirs is a political outlook in sharp contrast with that of the neighboring French, who even today willingly practice a form of powerful, if secular, monarchy, and of the Dutch, who in the 17th century turned themselves into the first and most successful of bourgeois republics — as a contempo-rary said, "having done great things together, wanting to do even more." The Belgians have found their security in the particular rather than the general, and it is that toward which they are returning today. International Herald Tribune.

O Los Angeles Times Syndicate,

100, 75 AND 50 YEARS AGO

1888: Refusal to Salute

TANGIER — The dispute between Portugal and Morocco is becoming more acute. The Moorish Government persists in its refusal to salute the Portuguese flag. The irondad Vasco de Gama has arrived from Toulon, and will act conjointly with the Rainha de Portugal to enforce satisfaction

1913: Disaster in Wales

LONDON - An appalling disaster which, it is feared, may prove to be the worst in British colliery records, occurred yesterday [Oct. 14] at the Universal Mine, Senghenydd, Glamorganshire, about ten miles from Cardiff. In a mine in which nearly a thousand men were working an explosion occurred which shook the whole valley. This was followed by a huge blast from the pit shaft and a devastating fire. The number of victims is not accurately known, but the latest official news is that 418 men are entombed in a fiery prison.

1938: China Fights Back HONGKONG - Violent Chinese counter-attacks slowed up the Japanese penetration in South China today [Oct. 15] and concentrated the fighting. around the city of Tamshui, which the Japanese took yesterday and the Chinese are reported to have recaptured this morning. The Chinese claim 2,000 Japanese were killed and wounded in the counter-attack. Fierce fighting continues in the region, and the Japanese are apparently attempting to cut the Canton-Kiolung railway twenty miles north of the Hongkong border. WASHINGTON - The need of a complete re-examination of national defense requirements in light of foreign developments was announced by President Roosevelt today [Oct. 14] at his press conference. He revealed that new defense needs had compelled him to delay public discussion of the budget, which is to be presented to Cor-gress in January. The Array and Navy budgets would be increased considera-bly over last year's peacetime high

OPINION

Both Did Better, but Bush Won

W ASHINGTON — Through much of the last century in the United traces it was considered unseemly for sandidates, particularly presidential candidates, to campaign. They were supposed to respond, almost reluctantly, to a call to public service. Through much of the present year. Americans must have envied Americans who lived must have envied Americans who lived in the 19th century.

But in Los Angeles Thursday, we saw at last why the long campaign is not too long. Practice may not make perfect, but it does make for adequacy. Both candidates came on stage better prepared to talk, clearly and concisely, which means better prief for governance. better suited for governance.

Politics is mostly talk and this is especially so in the presidency, the power of which is the power to per-suade. Both George Bush and Michael ukakis are more plausible presidents today than they were four months ago.
But they did not do equally well in the debate. Vice President Bush won.

Mr. Dukakis is losing in popular vote projections and by a landslide in extrapolations of the electoral-vote outcome. So he needed some gambit that would make the debate a galvanizing event, one that would energize his core supporters and cause undecided voters to break disproportionately in his direction. His dilemma was that any such gambit might be viewed as evidence of desperation. And the lack of one would be viewed as misguided complacency. He showed a decided lack of force when he did not maul Mr. Bush for his refusal to have more debates. But by then Mr. Dukakis had demonstrated that he is going to continue relying on the political oxymoron that got him this far - managerial populism.

The night he accepted the nomina-tion he said something which indicated or advertised — his insoluble problem and fatal weakness. In his acceptance speech he said, as if saying so would make it so, that this election would be about competence, not about ideology. By saying that, he as much as pointed to his glass chin and said "Hit me here." He has been belted around the ring ever since.

In Los Angeles Mr. Dukakis was simply pathetic in his weak attempt to wriggle off the hook he has impaled himself on by his lifetime in the liberal politics of Massachusetts. "Labels don't mean a thing." he said plaintively as if it were impossible to characterize accurately a long career with traditional political categories such as "liberal" and "conservative." ("Meaningless" is what he called labels in Atlanta in August. That notifed the Bush campaign to get out its labeling machine.) Let's stop labeling one another." the emocrat pleaded in Los Angeles. campaign with harsh negative at-Here is the story of politics in the late tacks. When Mr. Dukakis failed to Democrat pleaded in Los Angeles. '80s: Mr. Bush covets the label "conservative," and Mr. Dukakis is losing because he is liberal and the country isn't.

Tempted by the Lorelei of liberal righteousness, Mr. Dukakis twice made an issue of Supreme Court nominee Robert Bork. The second time he did By George F. Will something sleazy. He dragged Judge Bork — against whose integrity no one has ever said a believable syllable of criticism — into his answer to a ques-tion on "sleaze." This smear did not please a single voter whom Mr. Dukakis did not already have and it reminded some tepid Bush supporters of why they are on Mr. Bush's side.

They need constant reminding because, regarding what should be his strong suit — national security — Mr. s hardly as strong as horseradish. in Los Angeles, with an almost lovely disregard of logic, he cited Mikhail Gorbachev's displeasure about the grain embargo as a reason for con-demning (these are Mr. Bush's words

- really) "that liberal Democrat grain embargo." In his remarks on Nicarablamed Congress for killing Ronald Reagan's policy but did not even try to revive that policy.

As has been the case throughout this campaign. Mr. Bush's reticence regarding support for the contras signals his repidness toward the Reagan doctrine, the policy of supporting resistance groups within the Soviet empire.

Mr. Dukakis issued yet another of his toothless "challenges" to Mr. Gorbachev to be a good fellow — but Mr. Bush seems sure that Mr. Gorbachev is such a fellow. So let's get back to what Mr. Bush calls the candidates' "fundamental differences," which concern agricultural subsidies. Or perhaps clean air? Or ... Washington Post Writers Group.

tamp down bitterness and consolidate his victory without harsh divi-sions. Unless he makes a serious gaffe between now and election day, it will be difficult for Mr. Dukakis to get back into the game.

The tragedy, as the Thursday performance showed all too clearly, is that neither of these two political mediocrities is capable of raising a pulse, much less inspiring a nation.

He Lacks Instincts

N TWO debates, the Massachusetts governor has conducted himself as if he were running for

First Dentist. He has come across as an uninspiring man with a scolding demeanor who is given to talking about "tough choices" - like that first question put to him was characteristic of his debate performance.

Asked by CNN's Bernard Shaw to deal with an obscene hypothetical

Mr. Dukakis's response to the between sweets and sound teeth.

—Syndicated columnist Jim Fain.

As if Americans Really Wanted a Pit Bull for President

N EW YORK — Come on. George, stick it to him again. Give him hell, Duke, get in there and mix it up good, knee and elbow ... Oh. how we Americans love it when our candidates for president bloody each other, when the men who aspire not only to lead our nation but carry the torch of enlightenment for the world snar) at each other, accuse each other of a lack of patriotism, or deception or laziness or stupidity. We want them to humiliate and wound each other, not just in the two debates, but every night on television news and in the nasty political ads that their advertising agencies chum out on the assembly line of meanness. But do we really? Certainly that is what the handlers of the candidates tell them about us. That is the portrait of the American voter the candidates have bought. It paints us as lusting to see violence, as long as it does not hurt us, like spectators watching pit bulls. I do not believe it, for three reasons. Not I nor any of my friends want it, nor any voter I have talked to. I doubt very much we are more high-minded than the

Dukakis Blew It

GEORGE Bush probably locked up the election by floating above the battle in Thursday night's debate. He was, as usual, relatively incoherent, but he managed to look

Say for Michael Dukakis that he had an impossible job. He had to come across as something other than the sourpuss he has been appearing.

At the same time, he had to blast Mr.

Bush onto the defensive. He tried for both and accomplished neither.

formance by both candidates.

It was an extraordinarily limp per-

From a tactical standpoint, the evening belonged to Mr. Bush. He was able to sit on a lead. He had begun his respond, Mr. Bush moved out front.

That lead now is jelling into concrete.

Mr. Bush needs only to coast. Mr.

Dukakis is running out of time to shift the focus. The Thursday debate

So Mr. Bush was able to begin his was his best shot, and he blew it.

magisterial and smile a lot.

By A. M. Rosenthal

rest of the country — just not quite as low-minded as the political handlers want us to believe. Secondly, I do not believe in the genius of the handlers. They are all brilliant during the campaigns. How come 50 percent of them turn out to be so wrong on election night, when their man loses?

And I know this: When a person looks at others and habitually sees only ugliness, vendetta, suspicion, trickiness, a tight narrow mind and the desire to give hurt and see hurt, most likely he is holding up a mirror and seeing his own face. That's one of the few lessons I have learned; it is quite useful.

The handlers paint the American voter from mirrors on their easels; they draw their own faces. When they say Americans want to vote for political muggers, they are saying they themselves want to, because that is what they are. Political managers, like writers, can "softer, gentler" phase, hoping to vor an irrevocable death penalty for the killer?"), he offered a restrained "No, I don't Bernard."

"No" is not the answer. Death at the minimum, preceded by the most horrible kinds of torture imaginable for precisely that reason that courts, not victims, decide these matters. Vengeance is not a noble instinct, but it is natural as a sneeze.

Mr. Dukakis dismissed Mr. Shaw's gamble on Mr. Dukakis? He has not told us. question and went straight to boilerplate: a recitation of his crime record and a call for a hemispheric summit on drugs. The standard indictment is that he is passionless. Maybe. A more policy, plans and options.

— Richard Cohen, in a column in The Washington Post.

wind up with terrifying self-portraits when they think they are drawing somebody else. The candidates accept this caricature of voters for a true photograph.

Both are decent men. They are insecure about their ability to show themselves so strong in intellect and vision as to convince the voters. They are insecure about the ability of the American people to follow the trail to a political judgment without blood to mark the way. George Bush is the greater offender. He questioned the patriotism of Michael Dukakis. What else was the emphasis on the Pledge of Allegiance supposed to mean?
He dived into intellectual garbage by implying that anybody belonging to the ACLU was a lefty weirdo.
Mr. Dukakis responds to the fears of his handlers and their contempt for what they see in their own mirrors. His ads are relying more on actors pretending they are Bush aides and less on the intelligence of the voter. He puts down his loss in a gubernatorial campaign to his opponent's unanswered smear ads. He does not consider that Massachusetts rejected him then for a second term because it just did not like his first. Both men showed embarrassment, in Thursday ("Governor, if Kitty Dukakis were night's debate, about the mugger masks they have been raped and murdered, would you fa-wearing. Neither showed much intellectual verve, but at wearing. Neither showed much intellectual verve, but at least they avoided venom. Aside from Mr. Dukakis's constant condescending first-naming of the vice president, the evening was adult and civilized. Maybe the tone will commue; too early to put money on it. Obviously, all this does not mean that candidates cannot challenge each other and their records. Mr. Bush — that is what the average person certainly did not do a brilliant job fighting drugs when would want for the killer of his wife. he had the chance — more like no job. We still do not Mr. Dukakis should have said he know what he thought about missiles to Iran, or if he would feel that way, too. But then he thought at all. And Mr. Dukakis fails to give us a clear should have acknowledged that it is understanding of what foreign policy he would follow, if for precisely that reason that courts, he knows himself. Mr. Bush can always say that if you liked Ronald Reagan's foreign policy, you will love his. If you hated it, you can vote against Mr. Bush. But by what benchmarks or precedents or philosophy shall we > Neither makes sense on taxes. Mr. Bush says there will be no rise. Mr. Dukakis says maybe but not when. Neither man needs political viciousness to win. Mr. Bush has the advantage of vice presidential incumbency. Mr. Dukakis has the advantage of Senator Dan Quayle.

> The candidate who wins with a campaign based telling charge is that he lacks instincts.

The candidate who wins with a campaign based mostly on the other man's sins goes into the Oval them in thought and second thought

Office without an important power—the mandate of a program approved by the voters. That is a problem for him, and becomes one for the country.

The New York Times.

Walking, a Passing Glance, And Then a Premonition

By Anna Quindlen

N EW YORK — Walking alone at night last week in the city.

I know the drill. My eyes meet the eyes of passing men only for a moment, then move into some empty middle distance in the control of the message of the mess tance that is meant to convey the message: not approachable.

I have been doing this for years, since I became grown up enough to understand that even in one glance, even between strangers, even on the street, something passes between men and women over which you must maintain control. Unless, of course, you are in a position to do something about it, which I, mar-ried, with children, most certainly am not. So I don my touch-me-not look. For the first time, however, I realize that I have no need of it now. It takes some blocks before I understand that something is different, that I have become a cipher, like some bad movie about a ghost come back to life, visible to those in the audience but not to the real people she passes on the street.

MEANWHILE

I glance at men, they glance at me.
Then I watch as their eyes slide down to the exaggerated pear of my midsection.

In that slide I become invisible.
I am clearly, hugely pregnant, and so I have been descrualized. It feels as if I had been zapped with a ray gun.
I am surprised at my surprise. I have been pregnant twice before; it must have been the same, and I simply forgot.

I am realistic. My body is now so at odds with the more usual female form that I sometimes pass a mirror and rec-ognize myself only from the shoulders up. ("Body by Goodyear," my husband said the other night, kidding.)

I am well read. I know about the madonna-whore dichotomy, about the (at best) mixed emotions most men have about being attracted to a mother, particularly a mother in the making.

Rather than making you seem seduc-tive, the physical evidence that you are clearly no virgin makes you out-of-bounds. Whether the unspoken taboo is that you belong to another man, or to the baby, or both, I am not sure. It occurs to me that I might as well wear T-shirt that reads "Forbidden Fruit." I have even used this effect to my lvantage, the Machiavellian madonna.

Each time I was visibly pregnant before, I was a manager in the company of mostly male executives. I was happy to be toting 35 pounds (16 kilograms) of one-time weight, to be saddled with impending maternity rather than sexuality. I felt desexualized then, too, but it worked: clearly a woman here, gentlemen, but of the most nonthreatening variety. No need to worry about the subtext, the sexual politics, the vibes. My belly was my shield, and I used it.

This is not about the guys on one corner in Times Square who continued to proposition me, explicitly, even when I was nine months pregnant, the sort of men I think of reflexively as intimate friends of farm animals.

friends of farm animals.

No, this is about sexuality, which is more a component of who you are than of what you do in the privacy of your home.

"To see ourselves as others see us," was the line my grandroother would always throw out when I was full of myself. The ubiquitous question in the women's magazines reads, "Do you dress to please (a) men, (b) other women, (c) yourself?" I can never think of any answer but "(d) all of the above. It has been many years since my primary goal in the morning was to concoct some external manifestation of my personal control of my perso na that would be a complete fraud, pretty, totally conventional and supremely attractive to boys, if not to my parents. It has been only a relatively short time It has been only a relatively short time since I felt a strange sort of peace descend and realized that I had come to terms with the way I was, and that it was mine, like my signature. I had turned my body, my face and all that they conveyed into a comfortable chair. But I find that part of the transforma-tion had continued to depend, if slightly, on the approbation of the outside world, and on a certain easy chemistry I had come to recognize between myself and what my high school health teacher coyly called members of the opposite sex."

To find it suddenly gone came as a shock. Perhaps, too, I felt that this time it was a precursor not of a temporary loss but of a permanent one.

Will the chemistry be there 20 years from now when I walk down a street, edging toward 60? I don't know. I never thought about it before the other night. I like the snap, crackle and pop of those momentary encounters. I wouldn't want them to become extinct. Soon, of course, this will be over. I will have some approximation of my old body back again, and I assume the interchange will resume, on commuter trains, at bus stops, the casual eye contact that means: Hello, you look nice. I like that haircut.

Perhaps if I weren't married ... "
It doesn't mean much, but, as I realized the other night when it had become as temporarily obsolete as my good black chemise dress, it does mean something. I cheated some weeks ago on an airplane when I struck up a casual and friendly conversation about computers with the man across the aisle. I will never know whether he would have asked me to dinner, an invitation I would have declined, because midway through the flight I had occasion to stand up. The look on his face would have been comical if it hadn't been so sad.

Big as I was, full of myself and somebody else. I had suddenly, in some sense, ceased to exist for him. And, in some very small sense, but some sense nonetheless, for myself.

The New York Times.

A major international conference cosponsored by the International Herald Tribune and Skadden, Arps. Slate, Meagher, and Flom

LONDON, NOVEMBER 10, 1988

The last two years have seen a dramatic upsurge in international corporate mergers and acquisitions. As the number of such international transactions has increased, the use of hostile tactics has also begun spreading rapidly, even among European and Japanese companies. These developments present business executives and public officials with important challenges and opportunities.

The International Herald Tribune and Skadden, Arps. Slate. Meagher and Flom have developed an exceptionally timely program which will address the effect of this new wave of international mergers and acquisitions upon business strategies and

A distinguished group of speakers will address the meeting including:

Joseph Flom = Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher and Flom Commissioner Joseph A. Grundfest, = U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission Ambassador Alfred H. Kingon ______U.S. Ambassador to the EC and former Presidential Assistant Robert Maxwell -

Dr. Hans Dalun = Senior Vice President, Westdeutsche Landesbank Girozentrale

John Hennessy CEO, Credit Suisse First Boston George Magan: Director, J.O. Hambro Magan & Co. Ltd.

Chairman, Maxwell Communication Corp. plc

Chairman, Samuel Montagu & Co.
The Honorable Peter Peterson =

Chairman, The Blackstone Group Bruce Wasserstein = Chairman, Wasserstein, Perella & Co. Jean François Verstrynge

Member of the Cabinet of Peter Sutherland,

European Commission Reto Domeniconi: Executive Vice President, Nestle SA

Herald Eribune For full program information, please either

• fax your business card to (441) 240 2254 telex your full name and address to 262009 or telephone (441) 379 4302

Mergers and Acquisitions Conference International Herald Tribune

13 Long Acre. London WC2E 9JH 15-10-88

That's Forty Million U.S. Dollars!

THE NEW YORK LOTTERY

Pick Your Own Numbers Play Lotto 6/54 Get Rich in America's Biggest Lottery

Millions of U.S. Dollars are won regularly playing the World Famous New York Lottery. In fact, the New York Lottery has AWARDED BILLIONS OF DOLLARS to people who have won — including its biggest Jackpot of U.S. $41,000,000. Imagine all the things you could do and enjoy with $41,000,000. Every year, people from all over the world go to New York just to play the New York Lottery. Now, you too can play the World's Greatest Lottery and win a MULTI-MILLION DOLLAR JACKPOT.

Lotto is the World's most popular form of lottery. The Official New York version is called Lotto 6/54 and is FULLY BACKED BY THE GOVERNMENT. Each week two draws are held in public entered in the Lotto 6/54 Con under strict supervision in New York. Lotto 6/54 is easy to play. You pick your own numbers by selecting any 6 of 54 possible numbers from 1 to 54. It's that simple. The numbers you select are same numbers in the draw — YOU WIN THE JACKPOT. Even if you didn't select all six numbers, you could still be a winner! If you have only 3, plus a supplementary number or 4, or 5 numbers correct, you win one of the thousands of other prizes. Here's How You Can Play

Playing Lotto 6/54 is Easy

All you have to do to play the World Famous New York Lottery is to complete the order form and send it to United States Internastonal Marketing's world wide processing center, along with your payment. You can play 2, 4 or 6 games for 15, 26, or 52 weeks. REMEMBER, EACH ADDITIONAL WEEKLY GAME YOU PLAY INCREASES YOUR CHANCE TO WIN THE JACKPOT. Once your completed order form and payment is received, your numbers will automatically be entered in the computer system and you will receive an "Official Entry Confirmation" by return mail. Your "Official Entry Confirmation" will indicate the numbers you selected.

Fast Service

Your subscriptions are sent to our express address located right in Amsterdam's World Famous Schiphol Airport. From there, your subscriptions are immediately sent by our special air-courier to New York. THIS ENABLES US TO PROCESS YOUR SUBSCRIPTIONS FROM ANY LOCATION WORLDWIDE IN THE SHORTEST POSSIBLE TIME.

You Will Be Notified Immediately When You Win

United States International Marketing will immediately notify you when you win any prize of $1,000 or more. In addition, you receive a complete list of winning numbers after every tenth draw so that you can carefully check how you are doing. YOUR PRIZE MONEY WILL BE CONFIDENTIALLY PAID DIRECTLY TO YOU ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD. Upon expiration of your subscription you will receive a final itemized statement of your bringings.

United States International Marketing P.O. Box 7525 1118 2G Schiphol Centrum The Netherlands

Directed Telex to New York, U.S.A. · Answerback: Jackpot

•	Subscribe Now! Think what a jackpot of $40,000,000 could mean to you – You must play to win.
	of $40,000,000 could mean to you -
	You must play to win.
1

PICK YOUR PLAN - Check only one box below next to the option of your choice. ALL PRICES IN U.S. FUNDS

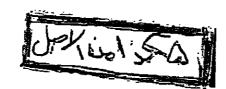

FREE BO	ONUS >	INCLUDES 2 DRAWS FREE	INCLUDES 4 DRAWS FREE
EACH NEEK 2 Draws)	15 WEEKS (30 Draws)	26 WEEKS (52 Draws)	52 WEEKS (104 Draws)
2 Games	☐ $ 135.	□ $22 5.	□$ 450.
Games	□$270.	☐ $ 450.	□$900.
Games	☐ $405 .	☐ $ 675.	□$1350.

Make Cheque/Bank Draft (in U.S. Funds) payable United States International Marketing Mail to: United States International Marketing

P.O. Box 7525 Direct Telex to 1118 ZG Schiphol Centrum New York, U.S.A. ITT Telex 4976556 The Netherlands

ALID ONLY WHERE LEGAL Not available to residents of The Netherlands United States International Marketing is a private company Not attituded with any Agency or Government.

	GAME 1	RS FROM 1-54 IN EACH GAME GAME 2	GAME 3
		COPLINE 2
1 2 3	456789	123456789	12345571
10 11 13	2 13 14 15 16 17 18	18 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18	• •
10 20 2	22 23 24 25 26 27		18 11 12 13 14 15 16 1
		10 20 21 22 20 54 53 58 51	19 20 21 22 23 24 25 2
1	0 31 32 33 34 35 36	1 4- 40 84 90 90	28 29 38 31 32 33 34 3
37 38 3	8 40 41 42 ₄ 3 44 45	37 38 39 48 41 42 43 44 45
46 47 41	B 49 50 51 52 53 54	46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54	37 38 39 40 41 42 43 4
		70 47 40 48 50 51 52 53 54	46 47 48 49 58 51 52 5
	GAME 4	GAME 5	GAME 6
1 2 3	456789	123456740	1234567
10 11 12	2 13 14 15 18 17 18	18 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18
19 20 2	22 23 24 25 26 27		18 11 12 13.14.15 16 1
		F 50 54 59 58 51	19 28 21 22 23 24 25 2
	3 31 32 33 34 35 36		26 29 38 31 32 33 74 7
	9 40 41 42 48 44 45		37 38 39 40 41 42 43 4
45 47 48	49 50 51 52 53 54	46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54
		T 00 01 02 03 54	46 47 48 49 59 51 52 5
NAME _		Telepho
ADDRE	00		· 16 ——————
ADUNE	33		·
		.
CITY
UI 1		COUNTRY
CHEO

For Bonn, Civilian 'Soldiers'

Number of Conscientious Objectors at Record Level

By Robert J. McCartney Washington Post Service
COLOGNE — Martin Weiler, a trim young man with shaggy blond hair, freely admits that he exaggerated his personal aversion to carrying a gun in order to avoid being

Mr. Weiler, 23, is one of a record 80,000 conscientious objectors performing civilian service as an alternative to entering the armed forces of West Germany.

PLO Offering Joint State With Jordan

CAIRO - A senior official of the Palestine Liberation Organization said Friday that the group was willing to join with Jordan in a eration-style government to satisfy U.S. and Israeli objections applications, 19 are approved to an independent Palestinian

The statement by Hani Hassan represents the first public remarks by an official of the organization dicating that efforts are under way to resurrect a "Jordan option" in the search for a new formula to establish Palestinian self-rule in the Israeli-occupied territories.

Mr. Hassan is a chief political adviser to the organization's chairman, Yasser Arafat, and is a member of its dominant Fatah wing. Mr. Hassan has also been involved in preparations for a critical meeting of the organization's parfiament-in-exile at the end of this month. The meeting has been called to ratify a Palestinian declaration of independence and to issue guidelines to a "provisional goveconnent" on steps toward recognition of Israel and peace negotia-

In an interview in Cairo after consultations between Mr. Arafat and President Hosni Mubarak of Egypt, Mr. Hassan said Mr. Mubarak presented the new conditions of the PLO for such a confederation to King Hussein of Jordan during meetings of the two leaders in London last week.

Mr. Hassan said no response has been received yet from the monarch. He added that a senior Egyptian diplomat is expected to travel to Amman next week to continue the effort to reach a new understanding between the PLO and Jordan, following the disintegration of an earlier working accord.

BUCHWALD

FRANCE

INSTITUT DE FRANÇAIS

Overlooking the Riviera's most beautiful bay

MAKES LEARNING FRENCH A WONDERFUL AND UNIQUE EXPERIENCE

LODGING IN PRIVATE APTS. AND 2 MEALS INCLUDED.

For adults, 8 levels; beginner I to advanced II.

Next 2, 3 or 4-week immersion course starts Oct. 24, - Nov. 21, and all year.

rch & experience in the effective teaching of Fi

INSTITUT DE FRANÇAIS - J.15

GERMANY

YOU WANT TO SPEAK

GERMAN,

SPEAK TO US FIRST!

149 CULTURAL INSTITUTES IN 67 COUNTRIES.

16 INSTITUTES IN THE FEDERAL REPUBLIC

OF GERMANY AND BERLIN (WEST)

100.000 STUDENTS PER YEAR.

PLEASE SEND ME FREE DETAILS OF YOUR

LANGUAGE COURSES IN GERMANY.

_ (COUNTRY)

GOETHE- O

LENBACHPLATZ 3

8000 MUNCHEN 2

TEL:: 089 · 59 99-200

OR IN _

NAME

ADDRESS

leder, 06 VRLEFRANCHE/MER. T.: 93 01 88 44. Tx.: 970,989F, 🚟

The objectors scrub hospital population shrinkage — the civil-floors, run errands for house- ian service requirement is being exbound eiderly people and cook meals at youth hostels in the largest program of its kind in the world. Mr Weiler said he wrote in his application that if he did kill, it would be hard on his conscience, "and on this point I exaggerated."

But Mr. Weiler, who calls himself an "absolutely idealistic demohad been worthwhile because he had made a "political statement" for peace. He said also thoought that his work in the civilian service had helped society more than the work done by his friends who had been drafted.

"I have a friend who spent eight hours a day for two weeks sitting in a tank, and not moving, during maneuvers," Mr. Weiler said. Meanwhile he said, he has taught a young disabled woman how to get around on her own in a wheelchair.

In the past, about 10 percent of draft-age men have applied for objector status, and the percentage is rising, officials said. For every 20

Men between the ages of 18 and 28 are eligible for the draft. Women The trend toward more objectors is creating some headaches for military planners. They already face a difficult task trying to keep the West German armed forces at their present strength - 488,400 - in the face of a demographic decline in the number of draft-age men. West German men are much more likely than their counterparts in other West European countries to request conscientions objector status. The percentage of appli-cants in France and Italy is less than 1 percent, according to figures compiled by the Bonn government.

In East Germany, people who object to carrying arms on religious grounds are allowed to serve in military engineering units. But these objectors are often penalized after their military service by having to face obstacles in entering universities or getting desirable

Applications in West Germany are expected to rise more than 10 percent this year to 70,000, the highest number of yearly requests ever, according to the Federal Office for Civilian Service in Cologne.

The surge can be explained in part by a new law, which takes effect next June, lengthening the civilian service requirement from 20 to 24 months. More people are applying now to avoid the extra four months of service.

Under a 1984 law conscientious tended as well.

In addition, increasing numbers of applicants are citing the spirit of détente in their required essays requesting objector status. After last year's signing of the first U.S.-Soviet disarmament treaty to scrap an entire class of nuclear weapons, applicants began to question whether crat," said he thought his deception the threat from the Warsaw Pact was great enough to necessitate > Rüdiger Loehle, spokesman for the civilian service office, said, "Someone who is interested in detente policy and who is faced with the fact that he has to go into the armed forces asks the question: 'Is this necessary? Does this have to military service.

The West German Constitution guarantees the right to claim status as an objector. The authors of the 1949 Basic Law, with memories still fresh of conscription under Hitler, wrote, "No one may be compelled against his conscien render war service involving the use Conscientious objectors performing civilian service receive the same pay as military draftees: $5.13 a day for the first six months and $5.95 a day thereafter. Objectors receive stipends for food, clothing and lodging to compen-sate for the fact that they are not eating at the mess hall, wearing ms or living in barracks.

Since 1984 West German applicants have had to submit a personal biography, police record and, most importantly, the essay explaining their reasons for refusing military

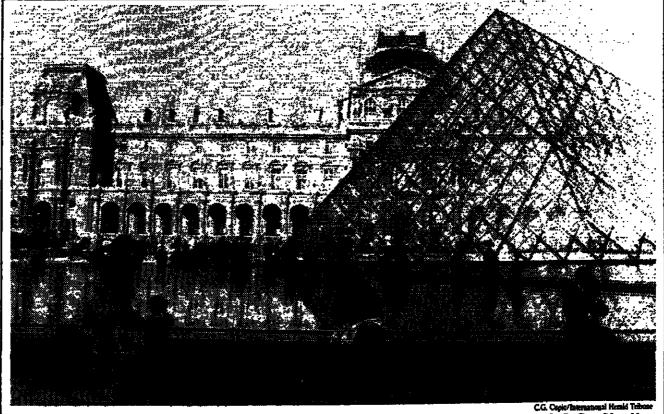

Unless an applicant falls into the tiny fraction of those whose sincerity is questioned, there is no need to appear before interrogators.

In theory, a deeply personal opposition to the bearing of arms is required to be declared a conscientious objector. Political opposition to government policy, such as Bonn's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is not considered a sufficient reason. About 80 percent of the applicants base their claims on religious

The great majority of the objectors work with hospital patients, elderly people or the disabled. Many make daily visits to the homes of old or handicapped people, where they bathe them, cook meals and perform housework, And they often find immediate henefits from their efforts. "When I go home, I know I've done something tangible for someobjectors must serve one-third one," said Ingo Etzweiler, 21, who longer than draftees. Because the plays table tennis with, goes on to Paris by the Soviet foreign minismilitary service requirement is be- walks with and otherwise comforts ing lengthened from 15 to 18 emotionally disturbed patients at a months - to compensate for the mental health clinic.

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION DIRECTORY

OLD AND NEW AT THE LOUVRE - President François Mitterrand of France reopened the Louvre's rebuilt Cour Napoléon on Friday, although LM. Pei's new and hotly debated pyramidal glass entrance to the museum will not be open until February.

U.S. Seeks Soviet Advance on Rights NUCLEAR:

By Michael R. Gordon

New York Times Service WASHINGTON — Confronting renewed Soviet demands, the United States has repeated that the Kremlin must improve its performance on human rights before the United States will agree to a human rights conference in Moscow.

The Soviet Union has been pushing hard for Western agreement to such a meeting and the Soviet denand has become a major obstacle to concluding East-West talks in Vienna on human rights and secunity issues.

Western nations have said the Vienna talks must be successfully concluded before new negotiations

The Reagan administration faces conflicting pressures on the question of a possible human rights meeting in Moscow. Members of Congress have urged the administration to insist on tough conditions for agreeing to such a meeting. But allied nations have taken varying positions, and some have pressed for greater U.S. flexibility on the human rights issue. French leaders, for example, agreed this week to a Moscow human rights meeting during the visit ter, Eduard A. Shevardnadze. But Britain has been very critical of the Soviet proposal.

PRANCE

SERIOUS ABOUT LEARNING FRENCH?

Then trust experienced professionals

VERSION FRANÇAISE Small groups (max. 6).
For reference & brochures

23 Rue de Riveli - 06000 NICE, Tel.: 93 88 29 90-

SWITZERLAND

First and second year: Hotel operations, basic business administration, computer science, lan-guages, leading to a Certificate in Hotel Operations.

Business administration, management, languages, numerous case studies, leading to a Diploma in Hotel Management.

During the compulsory annual in-service training in good Swiss hotels, students earn a gross salary of approx. SFr. 1,650.- per month,

Please ask for course brochure at: [HTTI, Dept. IHT, P.O. Box 95, 4006

Tel. (061) 42 30 94, Telex 965 216 TC

International Hotel and Tourism Training institutes Ltd.

U.S.A.

PREPARE FOR:

ESL REVIEW-TOEFL

FMGEMS · CGFNS

FLEX 1,2,3 - MSKP

NMB1,2,3·NDB

NPB-NCB1

GMAT-LSAT-CPA

MCAT-DAT-VAT

OCAT-SAT-ACT

EXEC. SPEEDREADING

EKAPLAN

For information regarding non-immigrant alten student: in the U.S.A. please call.

800-KAP-TEST

Or Write: Dept. HT

Stanley H. Kaplan Educational Center Ltd. 131 West 56 Street

NYC 10019, 212-977-8200

Permanent Centers in More Than 125 Major US Cities Puerto Rico & Toronto Canada

REBELLING TEENAGER? Elective, 21 day survival impact program in clains wilderness. Departs weekly year around Boys & girts 13-16 years. 7 medimizm in group References available. School cradit most cases.

requestives available. Scritch (1994) most case beginning sustaining side, trigacts for sail as learn life sustaining side, trigacts for sail as learn, immeturity and brings most senegers or of their britishy world back to reality. Year noun beauting address sustaints. Ask for this beauting as to the senegers of the sail of the sail of the senegers.

The next course begins on Monday, 20th February, 1989.

Medium of Instruction: English,

Hotel

Institute

Management

Montreux Switzerland

HOTEL MANAGEMENT,

TOURISM, CULINARY

DIPLOMAS IN ENGLISH.

Hotel Courses: 2, 3 year
 Swiss and U.S. Diploma.

Tourism Course: 1 year Swiss and International Diploma.

Culinary Course: 2 year

Intakės: January, September.

Details: HIM. Avenue des Alpes 15, CH-1820 Montreux, Switz

land. Telex 453 261 HIM.

Phone 021/963 74 04, Fax:

GERMANY

"GERMAN COURSES"

IN HEIDELBERG

for study & profession

COLLEGIUM PALATINUM

Hölderlinweg 8

6900 Heidelberg, Germany

INTERNATIONAL

EDUCATION

DIRECTORY

Appears eter SATURDAY

Swiss Diploma.

21/9638016.

THREE-YEAR HOTEL MANAGEMENT DIPLOMA STUDIES

IN SWITZERLAND
IN THE WONDERFUL LAKE CITY OF LUCERNE

The State Department spokes-man, Charles E. Redman, said Thursday, "The United States will only consider this proposal in light of significant steps by the Soviets to improve their human rights performance and of credible guarantees of access and openness by the Soviets to anyone who wishes to participate in this meeting." While Mr. Redman's statement indicated only that the United States was prepared to "consider" such a meeting, administration spe-would almost certainly support a Moscow meeting if the U.S. demands on human rights were met. Outlining the conditions for considering the meeting, administra-tion officials said that the Soviet government was holding 250 to 300 political prisoners, and that it must agree to free all of them or per-suade the United States that some of these prisoners are no longer being held or are in prison on valid

Soviets Agree to Expand IHT Sales

The International Herald Tribune will be among the first Western publications to distribute more widely in the Soviet Union under a new Soviet policy announced this week. A distribution agreement, signed in Moscow on Sept. 29 by Lee W. Huebner, publisher of the newspaper, increases the IHT's daily shipment to 250 copies from 80. The enlarged number will be sold in hard currency to foreign sources and in rubles to the general public. Previously, virtually all of the paper's limited number of copies were distributed to officials and other individual readers.

The agreement with the IHT was the first of its kind to be signed with any Western publication. Soviet authorities emphasized that the initial order would be reviewed frequently and would probably be revised upward as delivery mechan isms are improved and a Subsequent agreements have brought to 1,500 the number of copies of West European and American publications that will be available in the Soviet Union.

"We are pleased to be among the first publications welcomed on an expanded basis by the Soviet Union," Mr. Huebner said. "This represents an important breakthrough. We are especially gratified to know that the IHT will be available to foreign visitors and Soviet

"Our discussions have been businesslike and encouraging, and we hope now that a wider and more timely availability of our paper will enable us to reach in time a substantially wider audience of internationally minded readers in the U.S.S.R.

EUROPE: Wooing by Kremlin

(Continued from Page 1) from 1961 to 1986 and then a senior adviser to Mr. Gorbachev may have been related to the Soviet leader's desire to broaden Mos-

Although Mr. Gorbachev has spoken frequently about a common European home, stretching from the Atlantic Ocean to the Ural Mountains east of Moscow, the concept remains vague, and its implications for relations between Eastern and Western Europe are A senior West German diplomat, briefing reporters Friday about Mr. Kohl's visit later this month, said Mr. Gorbachev had shown no inclination to reconsider political boundaries, including the division of Germany, that have existed in Europe since the end of World War II. Creation of a common European home, the diplomat said, would be impossible without addressing the political divisions between East and West, particular-

In his meeting with Chancellor Vranitzky last week, Mr. Gorba-chev warned that the economic and political goals in Europe remain unclear, the emphasis in the current round of meetings with European leaders has been on economic is-The Soviet Union, in general, has been seeking to increase trade and economic cooperation with the West, including overtures to join GATT, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, and establish working contacts with the International Monetary Pund and the World Road World Bank. Moscow's interest in economic cooperation was reflected earlier year in a significant shift in attitude toward the European Community, which it once condemned as a extension of NATO. In June the Soviet bloc trade council, Comecon, broke the ice by agreeing to establish official relations with the European Communi-

The agreement was quickly fol-lowed by a Soviet effort to negoti-ate its own trade agreement with Both Mr. Vranitzky and Mr. De Mita, who is here this week, were they warned that use political integration of Western Europe, at the exclusion of its eastern neighbors, would make it impossible to build a common European bome.

Mr. Kohl, who will be in the Soviet Union from Oct. 24 to 27, expects to bring 50 German business executives with him.

cialists said the United States Warts Sprouting

(Continued from Page 1) of toxic and radioactive wastes. equipment failures and management breakdowns. Taken together, all these incidents convinced critics and the Euergy Department's own safety officers that the system was heading for a disaster. The government-owned plants and laboratories are managed by some of the nation's largest companies, including E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., the Rockwell International Corp. and the Westinghouse Electric Corp.

For decades, these companies and others have managed the warhead production system almost as fierdoms, free from the close scrutiny they would have received had the weapons plants been operated as private ventures and subject to the nation's environmental and public health laws.

The armed services committees in Congress, which have primary oversight of weapons production, have been intent on satisfying the Pentagon and have not paid nearly as much attention to the Energy Department's nuclear weapons As a result, despite substantial evidence of contamination and unsafe conditions at many of the 15 sites in the weapons production system, the dimensions of the problems now confronting Congress and the next administration were not clear until very recently.

Perhans most startling, however, is that the Reagan administration, which has prided itself on rebuilding the nation's defenses, did not recognize the crisis building in the

In the fiscal year 1981, at the start of the Reagan administration, the Energy Department's budget for nuclear weapons programs was $3.7 billion. In the fiscal year 1989, which began this month, the agency will spend $8.1 billion. (Almost $1 billion of that is directed to studying and solving any solving and solving and solving and solving and solving any solving and solving any solving an ty problems.) Over the same period, though, the Pentagon's budget climbed to $291.2 billion from $178.4 billion. "We all ought to be asking why we are playing catch-up ball with something so critical as this system is," said Representative John M. Spratt Jr., Democrat of South Carolina, who is on the House Armed Services Committee. The question now is, how much will it cost to make the necessary repairs? The old equipment and systems to manufacture materials and warheads are falling apart. Re-pairing the system sufficiently to keep it operating safely for 15 to 20 more years, until new plants are built, will cost $13.3 billion from 1989 until 1995, according to the Energy Department.

At the same time, the department has asked Congress for at least $17 billion over the next decade to build a huge atom smasher, dubbed the superconducting super-collider, to begin the largest biolog-ical research project in history.

Vaunts Successes Tory Party Called Vew Mainstream By Karen De Young Wichington Prof Server NDON — Amin Thatcher

LONDON - Amid the atmosphere of a religious revival and chants of "10 more years," Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher told ber Conservative Party faithful Friday that conservatism had become the mainstream. "common ground" of British politics.

Speaking at the closing session of the annual party conference, he this week in the southern season resort of Brighton, Mrs. Thatcher delivered an assertively positive assessment of her government's accomplishments.

As she approaches her 10th anniversary in office next year, Mrs. longest serving prime minister this century. With opposition parties still trailing far behind in opinion polls 16 months after her third electoral victory, Mrs. Thatcher said "it has fallen to us to lead Britain into the 1990s and, who knows, perhaps beyond."

Taking a leaf from President Ronald Reagan's book on the benefits of private charity versus public provision, Mrs. Thatch said that "prosperity has created not the selfish society but the generous society.

Responding to opposition charges that her free-market, private- enterprise policies have made Britain more greedy and materialistic, she told delegates they had nothing to be ashamed of.

The truth is that what we are actually encouraging is the best of human nature," she said. "The prosperity brought about by our policies offers a wider choice for more people than ever before," she continued, adding, "It's time we took the credit." The Labor Party leader, Neil Kinnock, branded Mrs. Thatcher's comments a "tired reply." At last week's Labor conference, he had charged that "the prime minister wants a 'me and now' society.

Paddy Ashdown, leader of the newly formed, centrist Social and Liberal Democrats, said that the speech represented "all the complacency and the arrogance of power that characterizes her government." He said that "As a picture. of the future, it was narrow, crabbed and visionless

Although Mrs. Thatcher's claims to represent the "common ground" are somewhat undercut by the fact that none of her three electoral victories has been obtained with a plurality of more than 44 percent, the low standing of the opposition has enabled her repeatedly to dom-

At the same time, continuing economic growth has enabled her deficit this year, and recent increases in both interest rates a inflation, with minimal politic.

Critics have charged that huge income tax cuts this year, particularly for high earners, were unwise and have greatly contributed to the spending boom and inflation, which has now reached 5.9 percent, according to figures announced Opposition politicians, and a number of financial analysts, have criticized Chancellor Nigel Lawson's efforts to stem consumer spending with a sharp increase in nterest rates, from 7.5 percent to 12 percent, over the past six

Mrs. Thatcher said Friday that she firmly supported the interest rate policy, and said that the rise in rate policy, and said that the rise in inflation was only temporary.

"Make no mistake," she said, "we intend to bring inflation down again," adding, "I think the com" try knows us well enough now to recognize that we say what we mean and mean what we say."

Pilot Dies in Channel Crash Reuters

LONDON — A British Navy pilot was killed and another missing after their Sea King helicopter plunged into the Channel late Thursday, a navy spokesman said.

ESCORTS & GUIDES INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED INTERNATIONAL (Continued from Back Page) ESCORT ESCORTS & GUIDES | ESCORTS & GUIDES

SERVICE Head office in New York 330 W 56 St NYC 10019 LONDON 212-765-7896 KENSINGTON
ESCORT SERVICE
10A Kensington Church St, W8
TEL: 937 9136 or 937 9135
All major credit cards accepted.

MERCEDES

YLP ESCORT AGENCY

ANDDAY TILL MEDNEGHT - 7 DAYS

MAJOR CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED

TELLONDON

(01) 235 0069

ARISTOCATS

iondon Escart Service Stouldham Street, London WI major Credit Conts Accepted Tel: 01-258 0090 (3 LINES) 12 noon - midnight

LONDON

BEIGRAVIA

Escort Service. Tel: 736 5877

LONDON CLIQUE

212-765-7754 MAJOR CREDIT CARDS AND CHEOIS ACCEPTED INTERFACES

ESCORT SERVICE

CHICAGO 312-372-3330 NEW YORK LOS ANGELES 212-956-7900

WASKLEARS
VLP ESCORT AGENCY
MIDDAY TILL MONGHT - 7 DAYS MAJOR CREDIT CARDS AND CHEQUES ACCOPTED
TELLONDON
(01) 235 0069

LONDON Portman Escort Agency 67 Chiltern Street Landon W1 Tel: 486 3724 or 486 1158 All major credit cords accepted CAPRICE-NYC ESCORT SERVICE IN NEW YORK TEL: 212-737 3291

 MADRED ur Escort Service. Tel: 239 90 02.

ZURICH 558720 Private Tourism Golde Service Credit Cards Accepted

GENEVA * MELODIE * SCORT SERVICE, Tel. 022/461158

VIENNA Evelyn First Class Escort Service. Tel: 37 56 70.

*ZURICH CAROLINE ESCORT SERVICE. 01 /252 61 74

Milan Sacha Escort Service (39-2)7422169

ESCORTS & GUIDES

DUESSHOORF - KORIM - ESSEN - Bonn - Krefeld - Duesberg - oad grea. Carry's Escort & trovel Service. Credit cords, 24 frs. (2211/34008)

2 LOVELY SWEDISH Escorts in Stackfolm. Please call between 11thm and 7pm. Tel: 00746 8 454020 or 817607

ROME CLUB BURDPE ESCORT Guida Service. Tel: 06/589 2604 c 589 1146 (from 4pm to 9:30 pm) MULTILINGUAL GUIDE AGENCY TB.; TOKYO 58-646-74.

MEAN YIP Escort Agency 2-461125 LONDON LATIN AMERICAN escort Service. Open seven days week. Tel: 01 706 1973. LONDON BRAZILIAN ESCURT Service. Open seven days o week. Multi loggad, Tel: 01 723 4666

Bubbly, continental lady excert service. Tel: 01-386 7671.

LONDON LOVELY MODEL Elegant ercort dervice.

Ideprate 01-266 7333

FRANKFURT TRAVEL

SRIVE CALL 069/49 74 01.

TRAVEL SCOTT TRAVEL

SRIVE CALL 069/49 74 01.

SRIVE CALL 069/49 74 01.

HAMBURG

ESCORTS & GUIDES Major credit cards accepted. Tel: (III)

LONDON. BEAUTIFUL ITALIAN Connection Excert Service, Telephone: 01. 581 4421. TOKYORBST CLASSESCORT Guide and Membership Service. Teb (03) 351-2278

LONDON
New German Excert & Travel Service.
Tek 01-82 6250

* AMSTERDAM S.H.E. * Excert and Guide Service, Male and Female. Tol.
101 20 - 665/701

Vienna Young Escort 83 35 71

Escort and Guides Service. Multi-lingual. Tel: 01/257 (8 92. AMSTERDAM BERNADETTE ESCORT Service: Number one. 21 hr. Service. Col.(0) 20-327799 or (0) 20-367833 ATHEMS EXECUTIVE ESCORT AND Guide Service. 7 days a week, English spoken. Tet 3641746 Athens

AMSTERDAM 2000 Except Service. All credit cords accepted. Phone: (0) 20:911030 or 06:52130912 FRANKFURT - "TOP TBN" ESCORT SERVICE TB: 089/55-88-34 THE BEST IN TOWN. MUNICH * SECRES * 408 60 38  311 79 00 Escori + Guide Servers is the success of

AL 1989

whose master plan was the work of fugue by Bach and pretending that it is still as intended by the artist.

which text and image are mextrica-bly interwoven in such a book. Oc-casionally the painter would insert calligraphed quotations into the miniature. They relate to the image and introduce an additional meaning by echoing the text of the book in a metaphorical way. The entire page is thus given a different twist.

barely beginning to be understood in the West, where the study of art history and literature are separate disciplines and where art historians dealing with "Islamic Art." to use the meaningless blanket denomination, lack the linguistic skills to read classical texts and early technical treatises in Persian or Árabic.

The resulting havor is comparable with the destruction that has afflicted many Chinese scroll breaking them up and entring them down into convenient sizes for hanging on the wall. The misunderstanding of an art is strikingly reflected in the heavy two-volume "The Houghton Shahnameh," published in 1981 by Harvard University Press. The volume of plates reproduces the miniatures, for the greater part in sepia reproductions that are not the best, and some in color. But the text facing the miniatures is not reproduced. Only a few pages of calligraphy are thrown in at the end of the volume. The text focuses on possible attributions of the miniatures, of which three out of 250 are signed, and matters of ntings likewise butchered by

The nature of Iranian painting is

There is yet another way in

ARTS/LEISURE

Taking Stock Of German Art From the 1980s

By David Galloway

Thomas Huber, aesthetic content comes packaged in tidy and colorful containers. Each of his recent canvases shows a box or series of boxes with such labels as "Light" and "Dark," "Foreground" and "Background," "Langhing" and "Crying." The viewer, presumably, can unpack whatever idioms he likes. On the giddy roller-coaster ride of con-temporary art, the instant "ism" might presumably be taken along like a box lunch.

The 33-year-old Düsseldorf painter thus speaks for a generation of German artists who have the time has come, and not only come of age during the art boom on the calendar, to take stock of come of age during the art boom of the last decade. Many have developed remarkable savvy for the modish market while maintaining their own skeptical distance from its machinations. They have learned much from older colleagues who skyrocketed ists who theoretically document to international fame in the early the major American positions. In 1980s and faded almost without a Düsseldorf, the Kunsthalle and to international fame in the early Neue Wilde, who proclaimed an intuitive, passionate, gestural style, their successors belong for the most part to the cool school. Minimalist modes, political engagement, social comment and philosophical positions are "in" once more. Yet this is no school or movement in the traditional sense. Few younger German artists issue manifestos or plot aesthetic revolutions. Most operate within their own hermetic, idiosyncratic systems.

Germany's cultural vigor. Some ansa.

DUSSELDORF—In the sly a troublesome lack of focus that is aggravated further by the maris aggravated further by the mar-ket's growing need for new trends. The stakes in this game of cultural roulette are often underestimated. In 1984, the last year for which statistics are available. the country's art and culture "industry" produced a gross income of 20 billion marks ($1.1 billion) -five times the sum reported by the space and aviation industry, more than double that of the en-

The gold rush atmosphere and the plurality of contemporary styles complicate objective critical appraisals. But it is clear that the 1980s. Such was the thinking of the German and U.S. organizers of a unique pair of exhibitions labeled the BiNationale. The Boston Museum of Fine Arts is now showing a group of American arthe Sammlung Nordrhein-West-Unlike the neoexpressionist falen are responsible for the German reprise. In December, the two shows will be exchanged.

Rather than merely exporting its art, as Germans were so keen to do at the beginning of the de-cade, the BiNationale stresses the need for cultural relations as a two-way street. Other exchanges of the sort are planned for the future. That the prototype could be launched on such a scale and with so much fanfare owes much to the celebration by the city of Düsseldorf of its 700th anniver-The resulting pluralism is sary and its enlistment of such sometimes cited as proof of West well-heeled sponsors as Lufth-

Thomas Huber's work labeled "Laughing" and Beyond the obvious hurdle of financing, a continuation of the this concept can be hampered by its own shaky beginnings. Nei-ther the U.S. nor the German presentation has found the positive echo the organizers had banked on. To be sure, the 27 artists now on view in Düsseldorf stake out the major positions. There is sculpture that employs als, alongside traditional media used in fresh, irreverent ways. There is photography ranging from banal literalness to poetic transformation. And painting once more dares to celebrate technique. In every medium there is a new stress on language either philosophically tongue-in-painter Albert Ochlen. Yet the whole is a great deal less than the sum of its parts. Figures like Jörg Immendorf. long since overexposed on both sides of the Atlantic, have no cheek, as in the case of Thomas

Huber, or enigmatic-provocative,

as in the case of the virtuoso place in an ensemble that touts itself "German Art in the Late '80s." Nor is the purported overview broadened by the Teutoni-cally weighty catalogue. In addition to the ponderous musings of terviews that are sometimes refreshingly cheeky but too often deteriorate into self-important rambles. Happily, a number of artists declined to submit to the

What the Bostonians will make of this didactic stew is anybody's guess. One can only hope they will not mistake the mept English translations for profundity.

"German Art of the Late '80s," through Nov. 27 at the Kunsthalle and Sammhang Nordrhein-West-falen, both on Grabbeplatz, Düsseldorf. "American Art of the Late '80s." now at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, will be in Düsseldorf Dec. 10-Jan. 22.

David Galloway is a writer and professor based in West Germany.

A Persian Masterpiece Ruined sitions, with panels of text inserted into them, were balanced by the columns of calligraphy on the page

LONDON — It is unusual for a masterpiece of staggering beauty, commissioned by a mon-arch and acknowledged as a landmark in the art of one of the world's great living cultures, to be dismembered slowly over the years and sold in bits and pieces.

On Tuesday, the umpteenth epi-sode of this artistic havoc could be witnessed at Christie's. The masterpiece is a manuscript of the Iranian "Book of Kings" — in Persian "Shah-Nameh" — executed "by order of the Library of the exalted Sultan. . Shah Tahmasp" (1524-1576), as the dedication inscription calligraphed within a rosette on the opening page tells the reader. The volume, which was presented by the shah of Iran to the Ottoman Sultan Süleyman the Magnificent, was carefully preserved until 1903 when it left Turkey and passed into the possession of Baron Edmond de Rouhschild in Paris. The greatest care continued to be taken of the treasure until 1959. That year it was bought by Arthur A. Houghton Jr., bibliophile renowned for the Houghton Library, which he built at Harvard in 1942 and gave to the university. The disintegration process began some time later. In 1962 some leaves were exhibited at the Grolier Club. More leaves were seen in an exhibition at Knoedler and Company in 1968 and Asia House in 1970. In 1972, 78 leaves were donated to the Metropolitan Muse-um. In November 1976 the first public sale of folios from the manuscript took place at Christie's in London. The seven folios included the ultimate masterpiece of Iranian painting in the 16th century: King Gayomars and his court. It went up to £280,000 paid by Colnaghi's of London on behalf of Prince Sadruddin Aga Khan of Geneva, The total sold added up to £785,000. This gave sales a big boost. Two selling exhibitions were held in the following years, in the two best pird Simorgh, which was sold for £79,200 at Christie's in London.

SOUREN MELIKIAN

known London galleries, Agnew's bought after the auction by a Mid-and Colnaghi's. Single leaf sales are dealer based in London

The sale on Tuesday was the second to be held in an auction house. In a special catalogue carrying the title "Fourteen Folios from the Houghton Shahnameh," Christie's gave a glowing description of the manuscript, as it rightly should, without dwelling on the fact that the greatest 16th-century royal manuscript from Iran -- complete with its 759 folios, including the 258 folios with miniatures, until it had come into the hands of the vendor — had been dismembered to allow such sales to proceed,

If measured by the 1976 auction rise of the art market in the interval, the financial achievement may even seem modest. The 14 folios were sold for a total of £976,800 (about $1.7 million). The most expensive one, which illustrates the isode in which the princely hero Rostam discovers his horse Rakhsh in the herd of the king of Turan, went up to £253,000, only 15 percent-over Christic's high estimate-the scene in which Emperor Yazde-said by dealers to have taken place for £14,300 on the basis of a theoretical £13,000 knockdown price. In passing, this sheds interesting light on auction house practice, implying, as it does, that there were no real bids between £13,000 and £18,000. Christie's did not officialrelease the transaction price but t was confirmed independently by the buyer himself and by a source within Christie's.

The vendor has every reason to be satisfied in business terms. He has clearly recovered his initial outlay several times over. From the standpoint of those concerned with the safeguard of the world's artistic beritage, the outcome is a very different one. Irreparable damage has been caused to a major manuscript. It has been argued in detense of the dismemberment that the book had been rebacked. This is like saying that Notre Dame should be pulled down because the slate on the roof

The dismantling has destroyed a work of art as a whole. It reflects a basic misunderstanding of what Iranian book painting was all about. Miniatures were not conceived as an addition of indepen-The least expensive, illustrating deat units, but as a sequence with a pace and an overall balance in the gerd is about to be killed by a horse book. In more narrowly defined remained unsold as the hammer terms, each double page formed a

It all gives a ironic ring to the claim made in the introduction that "this book will make the art of the Houghton Shahnameh available in its entirety.'

Naguib Mahfouz: Penetrating the Soul of Egypt prices, the session Tuesday was unimpressive, and, given the general "It is a masterwork," said Sasson ning, they are not even allowed to dria. She is exploited by many men, shot up. A spokeswoman for Co-

RITICS sometimes call Naguib Mahfouz the Balzac of Egypt because of the way his works express the pulsating energy of city life and because of their psychologically nuanced characters and broad social concern.

Mahfouz, who won the Nobel Prize in Literature Thursday, is largely unknown in the United States and Europe, although several of his shorter novels have been translated into English and brought out by small publishing spent five years researching it behouses and university presses. His fore he started to write. Then it fore he started to write. into French, Swedish and German.

"The Cairo Trilogy," which he wrote in the late 1950s and which is generally regarded as his most important work, was translated into development of its characters you Hebrew and published in a limited can see the development of modern edition in Israel.

Each of the three books in "The Cairo Trilogy" is named for a street in the old section of the city and each chronicles three generations of a Cairene family before, during and after the 1952 military comp that overthrew King Farouk and eventually brought Gamal Abdel Nasser to nower.

Somekh, a professor of Arab studies at Tel Aviv University and a visiting research fellow in the Department of Near East Studies at Princeton, "because it is not just a social portraval but penetrates the psyche, the intellect and the soul of the Egyptian people."

"The trilogy is a monumental work," added Roger Allen, a professor of Arabic and Comparative Literature at the University of Pennsylvania who has translated three of Mahfouz's novels and a collection of short stories. "He filled three volumes, with over 1,500 pages. Nothing like it before had been written in Arabic.' "It is also a symbolic work," Somekh said, "because through the

"Kamal the main character in the last two volumes, becomes estranged from the Islamic religion of his parents. He reads Darwin and Nietzsche, and his faith becomes shaky and eventually he rejects religion.

"There are also a great many women in the novel. At the begin-seen and are very much under the is seen when a modern woman en- to take her fate in her own hands. ters the family through marriage. She symbolizes the changes in orders for about 400 copies. She is not home-ridden and - almost a feminist - demands equal rights and seeks to help build a new

Critics say his work expresses the pulsating energy of city life, with psychologically nuanced characters and broad social concern.

"Women play an important role in all of his work," Somekh said. to symbolize the changes in Egypt banned in many Arab countries, written in 1967, Mahfouz been lifted. tells the story of a village girl who comes to work in a hotel in Alexanning the prize, the sales of his books Egyptian society."

Allen also cited one of Mah-fouz's novels that got the author in trouble with the Nasser government. In the novel "The Thief of a third-floor apartment in Cairo. Dogs" (1961), Mahfouz told the allegorical story of a man who are sometimes said to be depresssearches for those who have wrongly caused him to be imprisoned. and witty.

When he finds his enemies, he Mahfou shoots at them but misses and kills an innocent bystander. The novel i the police havi nered him in a cemetery. "This was the day with a walk through the taken to mean that things were not going well in the Egyptian revolution." Allen said. Another book, "The Children of Gebelawi," a novel he wrote in 1959, was found offensive because it contains an allegorical representation of Mohammed as an all-too human, simple and womanizing in all of his work," Somekh said.

"They are active, not passive characters, and they are frequently used with Israel, Mahfouz's works were today. For example, in 'Miramar,' a although those restrictions have

Within hours of Mahfouz's win-look out a window for fear of being but she resolves to fight back, and lumbia University Press said Mahby the end she has resolved not to four's books normally sold up to domination of men. The transition be a passive victim any longer but 200 copies a year in the United States. Thursday the press received An amiable man of 77 who has never traveled farther than Yugoslavia, Mahfouz lives with his wife and two daughters and two dogs in Despite the fact that his novels

ing his friends call him cheerful Mahfouz writes every day except when he vacations in Alexandria in the summer. His routine, according streets of Cairo, to write for several hours and then to meet friends and visitors at cafés in the afternoon. Allen recalled that he once asked Mahfouz about the artistic motives behind his work. The author replied: "I write because I have two daughters and they need high-heeled shoes!" When the translator Trevor Le-Gassick once expressed concern about repetition in the novel "Midaq Alley," Mahfouz roared with laughter and said, pointing out the window to the Nile: "You see that great river. It rolls on and on. This is our culture. We love variations went down at £18,000. It was diptych. The asymmetrical compo-

PARIS - AUCTION FIRST IMPORTANT AUCTION IN PARIS OF 160 CONTEMPORARY SOVIET PAINTINGS FROM 1930 TILL 1980

AUCTION SALES

HÔTEL DROUOT - Salle 6 Monday November 7th 1988, at 2.15 p.m. Viewing: Saturday November 5th from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Me Y. de CAGNY 4, rue Drouat, 75009 Paris. Tél. : (331) 42.46.00.07 - Télex 640 612 F

INTERNATIONAL ART EXHIBITIONS

ANTIQUES

October 14th - 23, 1988 11 am to 7:30 pm . Thursday until 10 p.m.

Catalogue No. 4

GDR-literature) 1000 Berlin, West Germany.

CANNES GINZA apanese restourant. Teoponyalia, sukiyali sushi bar. Private coddail and dinner. COLONY CLUB

Night club. Next to Polin Beach Casina. Res. 93 94 37 53/93 43 11 40. ASHIANA

Indian gastr. Tardoori spec. Refined surround-ings. Aver. pr. F.140. Air cond. Div. 205 ov. Ch.de-Goulle. Tel. 46.24.52.43 or 46.24.87.65. LA CHEVAUCHEE Spanish spec. & traditional cooling. Refined setting. Business meak. 209 ter, one. Charles de Gaulle. Tel: 46:24.07 87. Cl. Sat. lunch & Sun.

JARRASSE

As restrecting as the sea, specialists in fine figh, Boullabasse Oysters, shell fish, five custoceans, fine gras. 4 Ave. Modred, Tel. 45 37 16 32 or 46 24 07 56. Closed Sunday right & Manday. PARIS 1er Per night as per day. 16, rue Coquillière. Tel.: 42 36 74 24.

• 1

L'ALSACE AUX HALLES

CAFÉ DROUANT ine F.F.200. Open every day. Tel.: 42 65 15 16, Mate Gallon.

KITTY O'SHEA'S PUB

r of the femous Dublin Autologued 50 is from Pl. Vendörne, The French home alth Coffee and excellent draught beers.
7 clays. 10 R. Copucines. T.: 40.15.08.08.

JOHN JAMESON
I rish Restourch in Poris, recommend-nance guides. Business lunch FF 95 and ris. Sunday brunch. Case Monday. G Rue Capucines. 40,15.00.30.

INDRA AND VISHNOU
The most exclusive Indian Resources in Europe renowned for its quiete, secon in treagately. Recognised by Gestmontical experts internationally has been covarided process in Paris, Rome, New York, Madrid, INDRA, 10, Rome du Cdt-Stivière (8a)
(54.-Philisppe-du-Roule). 43.59.46.40,
(YSI-NOU), 11 biss, Rue Volney (2a)
(Optra). 42.97.56.54 & 42.97.56.46.

DIAPASON
Refined cooling, 1988 Gout-Millou Go (14/2), 1 Chef's copi, busness menu FF 1 drining menu FF 1991 B menu, 30 Rue Bernardira, 164, 43,54,21,13.

RAFFATIN & HONORINE te American prèss has made us famous electeuren specialies 8 traditional cooleng Regional digles : Lunch : various, Daily, 16 bd St-Germain, Tel. 43.54.22.21. PARIS 7th

CHEZ LES ANGES Gastronomical cooling, Ct. on Sun. eve. 54, Bid. Latour-Maubourg. Tel.: 47 05 89 86.

KARLOV
Russian style in a luxurious and romantic atmosphere. Live music with gigary band. Mean 230 F and gastroomic cord. 197, rue de Grenelle. Tel: 45 51 29 21. THOUMIBUX, Specialities of the South-West. Confir de canord & casculet ou confir de canord. Cl. Monday. 79 rue St. Dominique. Tel.; (1) 47 05 49 75. Near Invalides Terminal.

PARIS 8th LUDMILA PAVILON RUSSE Dinner-supper, Rusion concepture with Lucinito 8 her musicians in charming surroundings. 45, Rue François-IIII. Tel.: 47,20.60.69.

LE BISTROT D'ARMAND
Between the Ch.-Bystes & Flo., 9.-Honoré
Bosto BADROV & Jas team will receive you in an infirmate & cardinal setting. Gestranomic coolong (menu, à la carte & dally spec.).
Nice dining room & reception room section.
30 for business meats. 5 r. du Cd.-Rivillere, Peris. 42.25.61.67. (C. Sat midd. & Sun.)

AL DIWAN Gastronamical Lebanese cooking. Latering service. Open every day. Lav. George V. Tel. 47 20 84 98.

PARIS 16th LE PRESBOURG is of the sea. Seafood, list, crayfish, ok. Wass Art d.Tromphe. Terrote. PV2 or 4 to carte. D1y. Opnon stop 88 Aved1.Grands-Armee. 4500.2477.

GOLDENBERG WAGRAM Smalts herings - Postroni - Cream cheese baget and lost homemade - Cheese calso & all the trod. Lewish spec. 69 Av. de Wagram. Tel. 42.27.34.79. Every day up to madright.

KERVANSARAY

Turlash & Inf I specifies, lobster bor, best secfood restauront, ist floor. Motherstr. 9.
Tel: 5128843, Ar conditioned 80 m. Opens. Noon-3 p.m. & 6 p.m.-1 a.m., escapt Sunday. Open holidays.

The Map of the World That Is 'More Realistic' map that shrinks the United States. proportion and provides "a more realistic view of the world."

Since 1922, the society has used maps that rely on a system developed by Alphons van der Grinten, round Earth on a flat surface. But Gilbert M. Grosvenor, the

But Gilbert M. Grosvenor, the The new map makes Greenland president of the society, said that only 60 percent larger than it is, the he new map "more accurately portrays a round Earth on flat paper."
It is impossible to produce a flat map that does not distort the size, shape, distance or direction of various land masses. Van der Grinten's was no exception, for example, depicting Greenland 554 percent larger than it is, the Soviet Union 223 percent larger and the United States 68 percent larger.

"It's a more realistic view of the Soviet Union 18 percent bigger and depicts the United States about 3 percent smaller than its actual size.

"I decided to go about it back-wards," said Robinson, a leading American cartograper. "First. I vi-sualized the best-looking shapes and sizes: afterwards, the mathematical formula to fit was figured out. Most mapmakers start with the mathematical formula."

Now Printed in New York For Same Day Service in Key American Cities.

To subscribe call us toll-free in the U.S.: 1-800-882 2884. (In New York, call: 212-752 3890.)

Or write: International Herald Tribune, 850 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022. Or Telex: 427175. Or Fax: 212-755 8785.

WASHINGTON — The National Geographic Society has unveiled a revolutionary new world prove its maps. After reviewing nearly 20 proposals, the society's depicts the continents in different cartographers chose Arthur H. Robinson's method of viewing the world. We believe that its balances of size and shape are the most reaa U.S. engineer. His method was sonable for a general reference seen as the best way of mapping a map," said John Garver Jr., the society's chief cartographer.

Tel.: 43.25.58.13

PARIS

Galerie ROBIN-LEADOUZE

YVES BRAYER

Watercolors and Monotypes

Until November 19th

. 2, avenue Matignon 75008 Paris. Tel. 42.89.26.83

GALERIE LAURENT TEILLET

JEAN COCTEAU

October 19, November 18 1988

ARTS & ANTIQUES will be published

October 29, 1988

The Special Report

For more information, contact your nearest LH.T. representative or: Brooke Pilley 181 Ave. Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France. Tel.: 46.37.93.00. Telex: 613595 _WALLY FINDLAY_ New York - Chicago

Palm Beach - Paris 2, av. Matignen 48, av. Gabriel, 75008 Paris 161, : {1} 42.25.70.74 tuesday thru saturday 10 c.m. to 1 p.m. - 2:30 to 7 p.m. GROUP EXHIBITION:

HAMBOURG BOURRIE GANTNER GAVEAU

18 OCTOBER 14 NOVEMBER

SIMBARI

PARIS

GALERIE MAURICE GARNIER BERNARD BUFFET

Recent Works

6, Av. Matignon Paris 8º Until December 10th

OCTOBER 7 - NOVEMBER 19 🗪

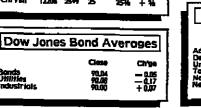

Galerie Etienne SASSI 14, av. Matignon 75008 PARIS Tél.: 47234038

2, rue de Miromesnil 75008 PARIS Tél.: 42655105

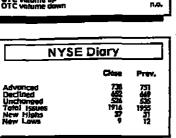

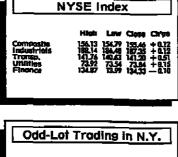

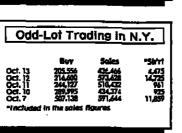

Div. Yks. PE 100s High Low Qual. Cryse

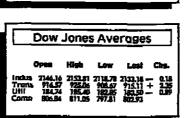

Market Sales

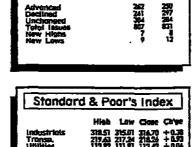

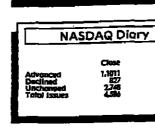

Tables include the nationwide prices up to the closing on Wall Street and do not reflect late trades elsewin

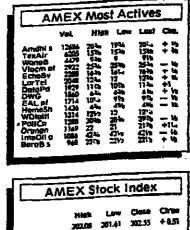

Div. YICL PE 1905 High Law Quot. Orge High Low Stock

AMEX Diary

Div. Yid. PE 100s High Law Qual. Chige

NASDAQ Index

William State In the

One Year Mer C

ECONOMIC S

.- -48

The San All

明田主 明明 と 明明 上 別化 自 明朝 上 開始 と 明朝 上 開始

Total State State

なった 一年 一年 一年 一年 1997年 1

Select Value of the selection of the sel

$.12 .44b .10e 115

Zig-Zag Day for N.Y. Stocks

NEW YORK - Prices on the New York Stock Exchange ended almost unchanged Frilay after a zig-zag day for the Dow Jones

Advances barely led declines, 714-650, on the NYSE on Friday. Volume was 161.3 million shares, compared with 154.5 million traded Thursday. Analysts said the rise at the outset was blunt-nterest rates, which had fallen in early activity. In the economic news, the government re ported that the producer price index rose 0.4 dvance estimates on Wall Street Meanwhile, figures showing flat industrial last month provided support for the belief that economic growth was slowing to a more moderate, and presumably more sustainable, pace. At 3 P.M., Centerior Energy was the most active issue, unchanged. The stock trades exdividend on Monday.

Wickes Cos. followed, down more than 3 points after a management group terminated its proposed $12-a-share tender offer. Hospital Corp. of America was up more 3 points. A management group in this case of-fered to increase its takeover offer to $51 a share from $47 a share. IBM was stronger. IBM reported a strong increase in sales and shipments in the third quarter. Earnings rose to $2.10 a share from $2.00 a year ago.

AT&T was ahead slightly Among other blue chips, General Electric, Eastman Kodak and American Express were ahead. Merck was off slightly. Amdahl led the Amex actives, up a fraction

.20

(UPI, AP)

IntebG IntstPw IntSec IgwilG IowaRs Ipakco IpcoCp IrvBak IrvBk p Iody n

(Continued on next left-hand page)

production and a 0.4 percent drop in retail sales industrial average. Trading was moderate.

The Dow, which rose 7.12 Thursday, closed down 0.18 at 2.133.18. The index jumped about 14 points in Friday's early going, turned lower and fell around 12 points before recovering in

For the week the average was down 17.07

ed by weakness in the dollar and an upswing in percent in September. That was in line with

36% 27% 19% 27% 17% 150 73% 18% 18%

The Daily Source for International Investors.

The Shape of the Chicken Industry Today

Markets Still Vulnerable One Year After Collapse

By LEONARD SILK

EW YORK — Don't expect a ticker-tape parade to celebrate the anniversary of the stock market plunge of October 1987. On the contrary, Wall Street would like but it cannot. The effects of the fall live on, breeding anxieties among investors and securities dealers that history could repeat

A great deal of evidence points to the conclusion that the collapse could happen again, because too little has been done to remedy the causes of the phinge on Wall Street and its almost instantaneous spread to markets throughout the world. To be sure, severe as it was to the fortunes of some speculators

The evidence is that because too little has been done to remedy the causes.

it could happen again,

and investors, the crash did not set off a steep fall in the real economy, as some feared it would. Yet, despite a lot of publicly expressed optimism by brokerage firms and mutn-

AME X Stock Index

die is

Complete to the complete to th

Character and one of Self-Berry page

al funds, many of the very same firms are keeping large amounts of money in cash, short-term government bills and notes and commercial pa-per, rather than going back

Those who fear that Oct. 19, 1987, could be not just history, but also a sign of things to come, were given additional cause for anxiety from two sources this week.

One was a set of investigations into the equities plunge released by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York — a major player in keeping the fall from getting out of hand. The New York Fed's analysis treats the drop basically as a "bubble," in which speculators drove stock prices far above their fundamental values. What is fresh and rings so true in the analysis, written by Gikas Hardonvelis, is that it does not treat this market behavior as irrational, but rather as a "rational speculative bubble." It gives evidence that a large majority of investors believed, before the fall, that the market was overvalued. Survey data show that before October 1987, 71.7 percent of individual investors and 84.3 percent of institutional investors thought the market

Yet the investors continued to hold onto their stocks and buy more because they saw a good probability that the bubble would continue to grow, bringing them large positive returns until the

HEY EXPECTED those returns to equal the risk-free rate available to them in other investments, plus the usual risk premium from investing in stocks in the absence of bub-bles. In addition, they expected returns large enough to compensate them for hanging on as long as the bubble lasted.

Those investors accepted the probability that the bubble would eventually burst and present them with a large one-time negative return, which their positive returns would exceed.

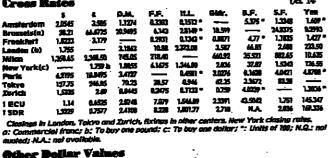

Furthermore, many sophisticated individual and institutional investors thought they could capture an abnormally high bubble premium and still get out in time.

The strategy worked well when the number of insurers was small, but when it swelled, and everybody wanted to get out at the same time, the liquidity of the market was destroyed, and stocks last Oct. 19 took their biggest one-day dive in history, both in absolute and relative terms. The second event, or set of events, this week that awakened painful memories of last October was the report of a worsening U.S. trade deficit and a sharp fall in the dollar. Similar news helped set off the stock market drop last year.

As foreign and domestic debt grows and imbalances in trade persist, the vulnerability of financial markets increases. Last Oct. 19 still stands as a monument to poor economic

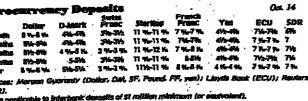

Currency Rates

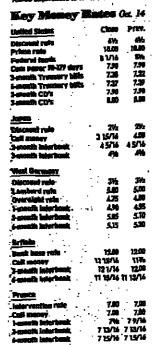

Cerrency Per S
Fig. marktin. 4.392
Great tirec. 146.65
Heep Koses S Heep Hooks
Hooks Tuplish 1705.00
Hrish S
Herwall stell. 1.43
Kowwill diseare 0.2535
Adokty, rise. 2.4735 Service reside 0.4054 Tolkicen 5 28.93 The loute 0.2055 Turkish first 1897.99 Venez, boliv. 37.305

lources: Indesuez Bank (Brussels); Banco Commerciale Halland to Paris (Paris); Bank of Tokyo (Tokyo); IMF (SDR); BAII (dia Truble). Other data from Reuters and AP.

Interest Rates

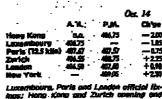

84-84 84-84 84-84 84-84 84-84 U.S. Money Market Fr Oct. 14

Telerate Interest Rate Index: 8,073 Source: Mertill Lynch, Telerate, closing prices; New York spot All prices in U.S. S per ounce.

Cold

China Orders Swiss Firm To Pay $5.3 Million Fine

A Chinese court has ordered a Swiss steel com to pay $5.3 million for fraud and breach of contract, Xinhua said Friday, calling the case the largest of its kind since 1949.

The official news agency said that Swiss Industrial Resources Co. failed to fulfill a contract signed in 1985 to deliver 9,180 tons of rolled steel worth $2.3 million to Technology Import & Export Corp. Technology Import & Export filed suit last May with the Intermediate People's Court of Shanghai, alleging that the Swiss company had supplied forged documents to cover up its delinquent delivery, the agency said.

The Swiss company appealed to the Higher People's Court after it was ordered to pay $5.136 million, but the high court upheld the decision and added an additional $163,000 for financial losses incurred by Technology Import & Export, the news service said.

The fine is to be paid to Technology Import & Export, which is based in Shanghai.

U.S. Production

In billions of pounds.

Study Says Big Japanese Surpluses Will Persist

By Hobart Rowen

WASHINGTON — Japan will run huge in-ternational surpluses this year and next, Unreat-caing continued conflicts with the Unreat-States and other trading partners and jeopar-dizing international economic stability.

That is a main conclusion of a new study called "Japan in the World Economy" written by two economists, Bela Belassa and Marcus Noland, published Thursday by the Institute for International Economics

The authors access Japan of maintaining a protectionist stance that will lead to an even stronger yen, "supporting inefficient industries at the expense of the high-technology sector," where Japan has a comparative advantage.

The report projects that Japan's global current account surplus — trade and services — would drop to between $75 billion and $80

Weekly production by company, in militons of pounds.

Pilgrim's Pride

Tyson Bid Ruffles Holly's Feathers

Holly Farms Corp.

Earnings per share $4.31

Total =58ets, May 31,1987

Main Lines of Business

Flour/Bakery Supplies

Food Service

Long-term debt

Gold Klst

billion in 1988 and 1989, from $87 billion in 1987. The estimates are in line with International Monetary Fund estimates.

To bring the world economy more into balance, the authors call on Japan not only to develop 2 more open economy on the import side, but also to accelerate domestic expansion "oriented toward improving the quality of life

The study places special emphasis on the role that high land prices have played in distorting the Japanese housing market. It said that in Japan, 65 percent of all savings by households takes the form of bousing, compared with 31 percent in the United States.

"In order to afford housing, the Japanese must save at very high rates as the prices are grossly inflated by inefficient land use policies and the tax system," the study said.

Similar steps have been recommended within

Japan by two 1986 reports named for Haroo Mackawa, a former president of the Bank of

But Mr. Belassa and Mr. Noland say that the reforms recommended by Mr. Mackawa will not be possible until Japan reduces an abnormally high savings rate. They challenge the notion that Japan's high savings rate resists reduction because of cultural forces, noting that the high rates are a "relatively new phenomenon."

For example, a table shows that before world War II, Japan's gross savings rate, at 11.7 percent of gross national product, was far below that of the United States, at 18.7 percent

On trade issues, the anthors called on Japan to further reduce barriers to agricultural imports, lower food prices to Japanese consumers

But economists said that Alan

Greenspan, the Fed chairman, would not be able to relax his guard and lower interest rates much, if at all, to keep the 71-month U.S. coonomic expansion humming.

A 3.3 percent drop in energy prices was largely responsible for the slowdown in inflation, they

Excluding the volatile components of food and energy, the producer price index rose 0.6 percent-last month, twice as fast as in Au-

The Commerce Department said

See ECONOMY, Page 13

Inflation

U.S. Reports

More Moderate

Inflation Rate

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches

ment reports released Friday indicated that U.S. inflation at the wholesale level moderated last month, as the economy continued to slow after expanding rapidly in Producer prices rose 0.4 percent in September after a 0.6 percent increase in August, and retail sales fell 0.4 percent.

Taken together, the reports sug-gested the interest-rate increases engineered earlier in the year by the Federal Reserve, the U.S. central bank, were taking some steam out of the economy and stifling inflationary pressures, economists said.

The figures released Friday, combined with the wider U.S. trade from the previous close of 127.50.

in September for automobiles models, economists said.

the first half of the year.

WASHINGTON - Govern-

IBM Says Earnings Rise 3%

Sales Gain 5.3% To $13.4 Billion

NEW YORK - International Business Machines Corp. reported Friday that earnings in the third quarter rose more than 3.2 percent from a year earlier on a 5.3 percent sales gain.

The computer giant's profit for the quarter was $1.25 billion, or $2.10 a share, up from $1.21 billion. or $2 a share, a year earlier. Revenue climbed to $13.4 billion from $12.73 billion.

"Worldwide demand is strong across our product line," said the chairman of IBM, John Akers.

It was the fifth straight quarter personal computers.

Mr. Akers said,

$119.75.

higher figure.

struggling. However, many analysts expect midrange sales to pick up as IBM increases shipments of the new AS/400 minicomputers.

today demonstrate the soundness of the course we have set for IBM,"

One analyst said IBM's third-quarter per-share earnings of $2.10 could disappoint the stock market.

Wall Street had expected a per-share figure in the range of $2 to $2.10, although in recent days some computer analysts said earnings might be closer to $2.15.

On Friday in New York, IBM stock rose $1.125 to close at

Larry Wachtel of Prudential

Bache said the per-share figure was vestors had hoped for a slightly

For the first nine months, IBM said earnings rose 9.1 percent to $3.46 billion from $3.17 billion.

Revenue for the nine months climbed 7 percent to $38.74 billion from $36.21 billion a year earlier.

cinde a $600 million charge for esti-mated costs of manufacturing and headquarters consolidations aunounced in the second quarter.

in line with forecasts, but said in-

"The results we have announced

Between Chiefs of higher operating earnings for IBM, and the results were at the By William Glaberson high end of Wall Street estimates. New York Times Service
NEW YORK — The battle of An IBM spokeswoman, Marti Mattia, said the company had seen "some signs of immovement" in U.S. demand during the quarter. Computer analysts said IBM's overall U.S. sales had been flat to America's chicken suppliers has only just begun, analysts say. The $920 million bid by Tyson Foods Inc. for Holly Farms Corp.

would give Tyson a chance to ex-pand as the U.S. chicken processslightly lower in the first half. Analysts said the earnings gain ing superpower, but a fight is likely. ppeared to be driven mostly by Tyson, the biggest fresh-chicken sales of mainframe computers and processor in the country, went public late Tuesday with its plan to buy Holly Farms, the fifth-largest prorelated products, as well as personal computers. During the quarter, IBM began shipping new ES/3090S mainframes and said it docer in the country. With Holly Farms, Tyson would shipped a record number of PS/2 supply 28 percent of the chickens Americans buy in grocery stores The analysts said it appeared IBM's midrange systems were still

Offer Shapes Up

As Personal Battle

and restaurants, up from 18 per-On Wednesday, Holly Farms said the Tyson proposal would be "considered by its board of directors in due course." But analysts said they expected

PARIS - L'Oréal SA, the French cosmetics giant, said Friday

it had acquired the U.S. cosmetics maker Helena Rubinstein Inc.

The French group said it paid "several hundred million francs" to bny the U.S. holding company from a group of private U.S. investors. It declined to give more de-

Both companies already had close ties and had been preparing the merger for a while, industry

In 1983, L'Oreal took over Hele-na Rubinstein's operations in Latin America and Japan, which have amnal sales of about 500 million francs ($80.6 million).

The French group also manages part of Rubinstein's marketing.

tives are likely to advance financial that behind the scenes at Holly and possibly antitrust concerns, the Farms, the company's top executives were preparing for a strong analysts said.

Differences in personal style are and the chairman of Helena Rubin-

Helena Rubinstein, founded by a Polish emigrée at the turn of the century, withdrew from the U.S.

market in 1985 after a badly controlled sales network damaged its reputation as a leading supplier.

Rubinstein's biggest markets are now in Europe: France, Britain, Italy and West Germany. They accounted for most of the group's Industry sources said it was probable that L'Oréal had plans to reintroduce Helena Rubinstein products in the United States.

In addition to its own products,

Helena Rubinstein has manufacsales in 1987 of $150 million.

L'Oréal Buys Helena Rubinstein

utive until three years ago.

May 31, 1987 _____ Stock price, Oct 12, 1988 N.Y.S.E. consolidated ck Stock price, 52-week range Headquarters

$685,000

197,000

stein France, Emmanuel Villeroy fumes, except in the United States, de Galhan, was a top L'Oréal exec- and Jean-Louis David hair care products

its companies.

defense. The Holly Farms execuspecializing in takeovers, as advis-resists becoming part of the biggest chicken conglomerate in America.

The general counsel to Tyson, James B. Blair, said that Tyson's managers had also reached the conclusion that the fight for Holly

"We're trying to do a friendly deal, which we think is possible,"

he said. "We would like to have 1967 Farms might turn hostile.

Holly Farms, based in Memphis, Tennessee, said all its executives available for interviews. On Tuesday afternoon, before

Tyson went public with its offer, problem for now." Holly Farms announced that it had been contacted by a suitor but had decided it was in the company's best interests to remain independent. It also said it had enacted a "poison pill" takeover defense, intended to make any unwanted offer

In a letter that Tyson's chairman, See CHICKEN, Page 11

L'Oréal describes itself as the L'Oréal now controls the two largest companies in the upscale cosmetics market in Western En-rope, Lancôme and Helena Rubinstein. The group said it has always world's largest cosmetic group. In 1987, it earned 1.09 billion francs on sales of 20.1 billion francs.

deficit announced Thursday, pushed the dollar lower in trading Rate Rises in New York. (Page 13) The dollar closed in New York at them sit down with us, but so far its lowest levels since June. It they haven't been willing to do closed at 1.8055 Deutsche marks, down from its lowest levels since June. It In Britain that." down from its Thursday closing of Tyson has hired Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom, a law firm against the yen, falling to 126.55

LONDON - Britain's annual inflation rate rose to 5.9 percent in "The two major conclusions September, its highest level since from these reports," said Bruce late 1985, despite government ef-Steinberg, an economist with Merforts to curb rising prices, according to official statistics issued Fridecelerating but remains solid and that inflation remains a potential Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, meanwhile, reiterated Less aggressive dealer incentives her determination to cut inflation and expressed support for recent increases in British interest rates. played a role in the inflation and sales reports, keeping prices high

"We intend to bring inflation down again," Mrs. Thatcher said at the annual conference of the Conservative Party in Brighton. "That's not an expression of hope. It's a statement of intent."

down 0.1 percent in August, have important to maintain growth in now fallen for two straight months, the first back-to-back decline in manageable rate.

"It is the most convincing set of numbers yet that the economy is slowing," said Joe Liro of S.G.

Warburg & Co.
Producer prices for finished goods rose 2.7 percent in the 12 months ended in September, compared with 2.2 percent for all of 1987, the Labor Department said. Two other measures of wholesale inflation also suggested inflationary pressures were not increasing. Prices of goods at the intermedi ate stage of processing rose 0.4 per-cent last month, the same as in August, while crude goods prices encouraged competition between fell 0.5 percent after rising 1.1 percent in August.

and reducing demand for new Automoble sales fell 1.9 percent in September, and were the major factor contributing to the overall decline in retail sales. Retail sales, But she said that, although it was the British economy, it must be at a In August, the retail price index. the main barometer of inflation, was 5.7 percent, and aroused concern in business and industry about an overheating economy. On a monthly basis, the index rose 0.5 percent in September, compared with a 1.1 increase in August.

The index, which uses a January 1987 base of 100, stood at 108.4 in September, compared with 107.9 in August, and 102.4 September 1987.

Economists had been generally expecting an inflation rate of 5.8 percent last month. The British pound closed Friday, See BRITAIN, Page 13

"Our clients value our initiative highly.

It's the basis for all the services our bank has to offer you."

Heinz Feldmann Senior Vice President

Specialists in investment management.

Bank Sarasin & Co., Freie Str. 107, 4002 Basle Bank Sarasin & Co., Talstr. 66, 8022 Zurich Sarasin Investment Management Limited, Sarasin House, 5/6 St. Andrew's Hill, London EC4V5BY

New OPEC Framework Reportedly in Works OPEC would agree to a higher ceiling to accommodate Iraq and other By Warren Getler

LONDON - OPEC appears to be nearing a new price and production framework that would set a significantly higher output ceiling and sim for a medium-term target price that is well below its current reference price, industry observers

The framework would also provide production parity between Iraq and Iran at about 2.5 million barrels a day, the observers said. Some industry observers believe that a consensus on strategy within the 13-member Organization of Pe-troleum Exporting Countries has emerged. Its thrust is that a higher ceiling is required if price stability is to be restored.

A viable production ceiling per-haps as high as 19 million barrels a day for the first quarter of 1989, appears to have taken priority over any adherence to a reference price of $18 a barrel, industry observers While the secretary general of OPEC, Subroto, gave a broad indication Thursday of his desire to re-establish a credible production ceiling for the cartel, no senior OPEC ster has said publicly that overproducers within the group. ilarly, no OPEC minister has said that the cartel is prepared to abandon an $18 reference price.

Speculation among London oil traders that a broad outline of a new framework could be conclude at the cartel's planned price and Madrid, which begin Oct. 20, helped lift the price of North Sea Brent crude for November delivery to $13.05 a harrel on Friday, from $12.60 on Thursday.

John Herrington, U.S. Energy Secretary, told an industry conference in London that OPEC would — and more credible — output not accept further declines in market prices of crade. 'I don't believe OPEC will allow the price to fall below $10 and sustain it for a period of time," he said. At a press conference later, however, he said that OPEC could face disintegration because non-OPEC production continues to exceed output within the cartel flooding the market and making price con-trol perhaps "impossible." Crude prices have plunged to

LEHMAN MANAGED CURRENCIES PROGRAM

PERFORMANCE RESULT FOR BEGINNING EQUITY OF

HAS BECOME $ 49.665 October 1st, 1988

THESE IS NO MANAGEMENT FITE PAST PERFORMANCE IS NO GUARANTE

Olivier Delaton Serior Vice President SHEARSON

HUTTON 8, rue Bellini 75116 PARS - FRANCE Tel. *49-1*7-20-21

See OIL, Page 13

SHEARSON

JANUARY 1st 1988 AFTER ALL COMMISSIONS NEXT RESILT IN NOVEMBER 13th 1881

OF RUTURE PERFORMANCE

LEHMAN

FOR NON FRENCH RESIDENTS ONLY.

| 1346 | 195 | Source| | 1.046 | 5.5 | 1.05 | 1.10 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05 | 1.05

1988 1,049 71,50 1,53 1988 3,060 212,70 4,51 1987 997.90 50.40 1.00 1987 2.860, 125.80 2.47 Avions Marcel Dassault 1988 1987 ___ 425.00 243.00 1988 1987 465.10(a)1,083 7.26 Usinor-Saction 1989 1988 601.50 503.90 41.31 26.54 0.86 0.56 7988 1987 7360 60.10 0.30 0.24 1988 1987 202.30(c)373.7 0.81 — NBD Bancorp 3rd Qear. 1988 Net Inc. 58,02 Per Shore 1,24 9 Meanths 1988 Net Inc. 165,63 Per Shore 3,52 1987 48.99 1.05 1987 112.54 2.39 1988 473.10 33.10 33.10 1988 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1,450. 1987 393.50 27.50 0.40 1987 1,150. 60.30 1.18 ijusted United States 1988 175.40 19.90 0.82 1988 494.60 59.60 2.46 1987 135.90 18.50 0.78 1987 390.10 55.20 2.36

wotten West Fin*
2nd Quar* 1982 1987
Net Inc. 36.02 35.8t
Per Share 1.15 1.14
9 Months 1988 1987
Net Inc. 101.85 119,00
Per Share 101.85 119,00
1987 nets include advance payment penalties of $1.5 million in awarter and of $4.8 million in Fronties. 1987 44.90 1.58 0.34 1987 136.90 9.08 0.84 U.S. Lags Japan in Automation

CAMBRIDGE. Massachusetts — The Japanese are far ahead of U.S. manufacturers in the critical area of factory automation, an edge that seriously threatens the ability of American industries to compete internationally, according to a Harvard University study

Harvard, said at a news conference that they had based their findings on a survey of 1,368 companies of all sizes between October 1986 and March 1987.

The survey was funded by the National Science Foundation and the Congressional Office of Technology Assessment

"The failure of U.S. industries to upgrade production equipment directly threatens our ability to compete with nations that are rapidly adopting computerized automation technologies," the study said.

Maryellen Kelley, a professor at Carnegie Mellon University and co-author of the report, said, "More than half the plants we surveyed haven't adopted any computer-controlled machine tools yet."

chine tools yet.

Prospects for future computerization are not promising, she added. "Only one in 10 of the production managers at those plants with no automation have any plans to purchase new technology in the next two years."

Ms. Kelley and Harvey Brooks, a professor at dustries to compete internationally, according to a Harvard University study.

A 1987 survey of the metal-working sector of the U.S. economy, which makes everything from coffee pots to jet engines, found that less than 11 percent of the machine tools used in these industries were computer-controlled.

By comparison, a 1985 study of Japan's metal-working industry estimated that 30 percent of machine tools were computer-controlled, a level probably over 40 percent now. Conclusions of the study were released Thursday.

"The failure of U.S. industries to upgrade production equipment directly threatens our

Reaching More Than a Third of a Million Readers in 164 Countries Around the World. Herald Eribune

US. Futures

PORK SELLIES (CME)
40,000 lba-cents Per lb.
47,00 44.40 Feb 49,41
64.33 40,73 Mar 50,00
64.73 40,75 Mar 50,00
64.73 40,75 July 52,46
64.73 40,700 Aug 52,46
53,50 45,700 Aug 51,46
64.50 45,700 Aug 51,46
64.50 45,700 Frev. Devlor Jul. 15,572 off 23

Dec Mar May Jul Sap Dec Mar Pray, S nt. 38,34

Oct Nov Dec Jon Mar May Jul Sep Dec

Financial

US T. BILLS (IMMA)
SI million-pits of 100 pct.
94.09 91.17 Dec 92.78 92.81
94.63 91.26 Mear 92.82 92.85
93.63 91.26 Mear 92.82 92.85
93.63 91.27 Jun 92.69 92.72
93.13 91.21 Sep 92.57 92.57
92.77 91.35 Dec 92.65 92.67
92.60 91.32 Mear 92.67 92.67
92.60 91.32 Mear 92.67 92.67
92.60 91.32 Mear 92.67 92.67
92.60 91.32 Mear 92.67
92.61 91.32 Mear 92.67
92.61 92.65 Mear 94.17 94.23
94.21 90.5 Dec 94.19 95.8
95.62 89.36 Mear 94.17 94.23
94.21 80.4 Jun 92.30 94.3
93.11 89.13 Sep 91.73
18 91.3 Sep 91.73
18 91

London

Commodities

Oct. 14

75/75/76 76/70 70/70 85/

0.18 0.18 0.74 0.74 1.7 2.61

0.60 F

r r r 0.09 r r s

115.00 84.50 108.50 98.00 96.00 84.75 82.50

21.20 22.22 22.22 22.22

Mar Jun Sep Dec

Prev. Day Open Int.
COTTON 2 (NYCE)
50,000 lbs. cents per 1
70,209 84.85 E
48.70 48.90 A
48.70 49.01 A
48.50 49.24 J
45.70 50.35 C
48.20 51.40 A
Est, Soles 8,500 Pr
Prev. Day Open Int.

PTRV, DOY Open Int. $2,31
CRUDE OIL. (NYME)
1,000 bbj.-doillers per bbj.
18.47
12.28
Nov
18.25
12.11
Doc 18.20 12.20 12.20
Jon
18.10
12.20 12.20
Jon
18.20
Jon
1

Moody's: base 100: Dec. 31, 1931. p. preliminary; f - final Reuters: base 100: Sep. 18, 1937. Daw Jones: base 100: Dec. 31, 1974.

Market Guide

+2.10 +2.10 +2.10 +2.10 +2.10 +2.10 +2.10 +2.10 +2.10 +2.10 +2.10

London Metals

DM Futures

Options

Sterling ; Spot Forward NICKEL

44.70 44.70 44.70 45.70

4.99% 5.53 5.79 6.48% 7.47% 7.25 7.25 7.23 7.23 804 817% 825% 824 821% 821% 723 723 731

21.72 24.18 24.40 24.90 25.25 25.40 25.15 24.40 24.40 24.40 72.87 74.75 74.70 75.67 74.30 71.50 71.15

Currency Options

4,000 0 82,90 84,05 84,80 83,50 82,50 61,25 80,00 80,00 sst. Sai 81.95 82.90 84.15 82.15 82.20 81.02 77.95 77.95

NYSE Highs-Lows

AMEX Highs-Lows

Company Results

25.2. 39
25.5. West German
25. 1988 234.60 1.00 6.01 1988 753.10 12.57 1.18 1988 13.400. 1.250. 2.10 1988 38.740. 3.460. 5.83 1987 12,730, 1,210, 2,00 1987 36,210, 3,170, 5,25 Society Corp.
tear. 1988
nc. 26,50 hora 1,11
nths 1988
nc. 72,70
hore 3,10

2nd Coar. 1989 1988 Net Lose ... 1240 5.31 12t Hott 1989 1988 Net Inc. ... (a)9.39 128 a: loss. Fer share results at-ter preferred dividends.

ing-Pittsburgh

1988 1987

27133 23780

96.40 25.50

1- 16.41 4.40

1988 1987

251.20 751.60

255.30 (6)50.7 And Quar.
Ravenue
Met Inc.
Per Share
9 Montes
Ravenue
Nel Inc.
Per Share 1988 271.70 28.29 0.95 1988 798.70 79.33 2.67

1987 246.80 22.40 0.76 1987 739.40 42.77 2.13

Dec Mar May Jul Sep Dec Mar

Paris

Commodities

S&P 100 Index Options

Calls: total volume | 14.049; total open int. 319,672 Parts: total volume | 14.647; total open int. 455,267 SEP 100 Index; High 261.23 for 251.23 close 289.60 + 31

US.Treasuries 7.12 7.40 7.51 Yield 7.54 7.79 8,04 7.30 7.38 7.49 8id Offer 38-yr, band 102 11/32 102 13/32

Spot Commodities Oct. 14 Teday 1,015 1,12 1,25 212,00 0,38 0,48 473,00 121 4,5573 0,49

Dividends

Prev. 1,92 1,13 1,25 213,00 0,30 0,50 6,26 473,00 121 4,53% The Global Newspaper.

Crisis Measures At Nigeria Airline

Reuters

LAGOS — The board of state-owned Nigeria Airways has been dissolved and its managing director given two months to save the airline from collapse.

A statement from the Aviation Ministry said the managing director, Olu Bajowa, a retired army major-general, was made sole administrator of the airline. Nigeria Airways owes $400 million to plane makers and suppliers and has been blacklisted by the International Air Transport Association for failure to pay its dues.

Under a state privatization program, 60 percent of the airline is to be sold off if buyers can be found. Only half of the airline's 14-plane fleet is operational.

Unisys Is Sued By Honeywell The Associated Press

0.26 0.27 0.34 125 653 859 144 120 130 SF ... No. 2 130 Est. hatel vol.: 23,05 Colle: Thur. volume: 14,86; toen lot.: 57,26 Pals: Thur. volume: 16,26; toen lot.: 62,46 Source: CALE.

MINNEAPOLIS — Honeywell Inc. has filed a $350 million lawsuit against Unisys Corp. accusing the giant computer maker of artificially inflating the financial strength of four aerospace operations that Honeywell purchased from Unisys for more than $1 billion in 1986.

In a lawsuit filed in U.S. District Court on Wednesday, Honeywell accused Unisys of refusing to provide more detailed financial information when Honeywell sought it in 1986. Honeywell's suit alleges violations of federal and state securities laws, fraudulent misrepresentation and breach of warranty.

Honeywell said it had to rely on financial statement financial statements issued in Sep-tember and October 1986, which the suit says overstated the assets and income of the aerospace opera-

三年 無難 対 Brisk

TATE OF STATE A SHE STANFA

Same and Same a die de

Holly Gets The second second A STATE OF SAME

1 ° ° 9 # 3 .5 ç60 والمرابعين والمرابع The second

Tribe to design ST THAT HE to to meet The second second 7 - TANK EAS The same of the

and the state

A PARTY WAR The new years خويها خالانها أأأ thills at the one

Minute Inst

Minister, the lands the lands of the lands o

PPsings of the state of the sta

Section of the sectio

the and the state of the state drivery and the street of the Acres on the fall

Contact Contac

ं किया है

Car chyp

The state of the s

2.7

*

. . .

 $\operatorname{dist}_{\mathcal{A}} = \operatorname{constant}_{\mathcal{A}} (\mathfrak{b})$

The same

second to the second

Section 11 to the second of th torner linear

the law is a marking

Roman Land To Mile

bring the best party page

Contraction of the second party of the second

Respondence to opposite

oute of the endanting

her the contract mine

the one or exemple, in-

The state of the state of the state of

A market of the second

٠, . the central section in the central section in

New Yorks and

 $M(U_{(k+1),(k+1)})$

4.5

Bernelle

170 000

4 4 4 4 5 5 6

But Sale

LONDON — Kelt Energy PLC, New Meringree an independent oil concern, said Friday that it is making an offer for Carless PLC that values the inde-By bear Doying Trocks and Building pendent oil and gas exploration company at £212.3 million ($370.6 million). The bid is intended to create an enlarged energy group, Kelt said, which would be capable of withstanding low oil prices and providing stable production well into the next century. It is in keeping with a

BUSINESS ROUNDUP

Kelt Energy Makes Bid

Alfa-Laval Buying Unit Of Pennwalt

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches STOCKHOLM - Alfa-Laval AB, the Swedish engineering and equipment group, has agreed to buy the Sharples-Stokes division of Pennwalt Corp. for $119 million, the companies said Friday.

Meanwhile, Centaur Partners

said it had raised its stake in Pennwalt to 8.5 percent of outstanding shares. Centaur, a New York-based investment group, held about 7.7 percent of Pennwalt as of July 19. Alfa-Laval said Sharples-Stokes was expected to have sales of $100 million in 1988. Sharples-Stokes makes decanter centrifuges, used to clean pipes in industrial cleaning and waste plants, and other machines including those used to manufacture medical pills. Alfa-Laval makes food-processing and agricultural equipment.

The managing director of Alfa-Laval, Harry Faulkner, said: "This will markedly strengthen our position in the U.S. market and also in Japan, where Sharples has a strong position though its licensee," Tomoe. Sharples, which is based in Warminster, Pennsylvania, also has operations in Europe. Pennwalt said the deal was subject to regulatory approvals. The sale is in line with the company's decision to sell its equipment group to enhance shareholder value, and to Pennwalt said negotiations for the sale of Wallace & Tiernan, the remaining segment of its equip-ment group, were continuing. Wal-lace & Tiernan produces chlorinators and other equipment for concentrate on its chemicals group.

wastewater treatment Also Friday, Pennwalt said it closed the sale of its pharmacenti-cals division for $442 million to Fisons PLC, the British drug, scien-

Norsk Expects

To Take Over Carless recent trend toward consolidation in the energy industry during a period of unstable oil prices. The bid offers £4 in cash and one Kelt convertible preference share for every four Carless ordinary shares, or 115 pence in cash for each Carless ordinary share.

Kelt said London Merchant Securities PLC, which owns 27.19 percent of Carless, intends to accept the offer for its entire stake. Kelt currently owns 4.7 percent of

The cash and preference share offer values each Carless share at about 118 pence, based on a valuation of the preference shares of 73 pence.

Full acceptance of the offer would involve the issue of a maximum of 44 million preference shares in Kelt, or 15 percent of the enlarged capital.
The offer from Kelt is conditional upon Carless shareholders voting against a proposed takeover of Ryan International PLC, which Carless last month agreed to acquire in a stock swap worth about £92 million.

The takeover bid for Ryan, the largest independent British compa-ny involved in open cast coal mining coal recovery and trading was originally backed by London Merchant Securities, but now the large Carless shareholder opposes the American Express Bank Ltd., a,

SANTA MONICA, California

- A management group from

Wickes Cos. announced Priday that it had withdrawn its $2.6 bilthat it had withdrawn its $26 billion leveraged buy-out offer, and the conglomerate's stock plunged on the New York Stock Exchange.

The group, which is headed by the company's chairman, Sanford C. Sigoloff, said that it had dropped its offer because Wickes'

Collapse of Osaka Speculator Bodes Tajor Stock Market

By Patrick L. Smith

TOKYO - The officially declared bankruptcy of a powerful real-estate and stocktrading concern in Osaka is likely to further depress already dampened trading activity in the Tokyo share market, analysts said Friday, and could represent the first of several dra-matic collapses among leading Japanese

Following several recent insider-trading scandals, the collapse of the Nihon Tochi group also brings to light the substantial influence exercised in the market by incorporated speculators and loosely associated syn-

Reflecting the importance such speculators have gained in the Tokyo market since Japanese land prices skyrocketed three years ago, share analysts were scrambling Friday to de-termine the extent of the privately held company's affiliations and the financial condition of similar groups still active in the market. Nihon Tochi was a leading participant in the Osaka property market since its founding in 1967, and has been a speculator in Japanese stocks for the past decade. ones stocks for the past decade.

On Thursday, the company cited 156 billion yen ($1.22 billion) of debts, making this Japan's third-largest bankruptcy in the postwar cra, behind those of a ship-chartering group and a finance company several years ago.

"You mainly have to worry about who was

At least two equally speculative compa-nes, known as Cosmopolitan and Kohshin K.K., have faced financial difficulties since last summer, brokers and other market sources said. Cosmopolitan has been seeking court protection since early September.

Market sources estimated that these and other companies directly control as much as 20 percent of available stock on the Tokyo exchange. They also exercise indirect influence through the individual buying that normally follows the disclosure of their investment targets.

Like the Nihon Tochi group, which has been given court protection from its 256 creditors, these concerns have speculated aggressively in real estate and stocks by using newly revalued land parcels to secure credit from banks and other lending bodies. The companies have faced increasing pressure from creditors in recent months as well as tightening cash positions, reflecting falling land prices in central urban areas, where many of their investments were made, and reduced gains in the stock market.

Unlike Nihoa Tochi, most of these concerns were founded within the past several years and came quickly to prominence with the recent rise in land prices in Tokyo, Osaka and several other cities. In the property market, they actively drove up prices by purchasing small parcels, holding them off the market and finally selling them to developers.

The government, which has held firms such eightfold increase in the price of well-located urban property over the past six years, last year passed legislation to curb such specula-

In the stock market, local and foreign analysts say, the activities of Nihon Tochi and other companies often amounted to a form of "greenmail," by which they accumulated stock in a given stock company, drove the purce up and threatened the company with a takeover if it did not repurchase its stock.

Nihon Tochi is widely believed to have executed this strategy last year with the stock of Toyoda Automatic Loom Works Ltd., a machinery manufacturing affiliate of Toyota Motor Corp., and with Mitsui Toatsu Chemicals, making a total of about 10 billion yea.

Those raids reportedly prompted Nihon
Tochi to make a move on Konika Co., the photo equipment and film manufacturing concern. That move, it is believed, led to the demise of the real-estate company.

Last year, Nihon Tochi began to buy no more than 20 percent of Konika, at prices of about 720 yen to 970 yen a share, and drove the stock up to 1,830 yen a share by spreading rumors of its intentions among small investors. But Konika refused to buy back the shares, and its stock fell recently to about 870 yen a share. Knowledgeable broking sources said property-based speculators such as Nihon Tochi generally targeted companies with weak track records and substantial land assets, in case they were forced to take them over.

HOW TO REACH BELGIUM

lrends industrie

onze tijd

For information, please contact: Roularta Media IV: Louis Schmidtlaan 97, 1040 BRUSSEL, Tel. 02/736 11 75, Telex 25425

Schmidtlagen 97, 1040 BRUSSEL, Tel. 02/736 41 75, Telex 25425
Netherlands, PUBLICTIAS AMSTERDAM, Tel. 31/20.17.87.95
Prance, MEDIA EXPORT, Tel. 33/1.747.46.00
Germany, PUBLICTIAS HAMBURG, Tel. 49/40.51.30.04.0
Greece, PUBLICTIAS GREECE, Tel. 30/1.692.96.07
U.S.A., BRANHAM INTERNATIONAL, Tel. (212/684-6601
Japan, TOKYO REPRESENTATIVE CO. Tix. 26860
Scandingvia, CONNECTIONS, Tel. 44/1.930.0198
Great Britain, PUBLICTIAS LID. LONDON, Tel. 44/1.385.77.23
Suisse, PUBLICTIAS BASEL, Tel. 41/61.22.65.75 • PUBLICTIAS ZURICH, Tel. 41/1.267.81.11 • PUBLICTIAS LAUSANNE, Tel. 41/21 20.71.51
Italia, PUBLICTIAS SPA, Tel. 39/2.3458541
Austria, PUBLI MEDIA, Tel. 43/222.75.76.84
Lupembourg, LOMBARD MEDIA, Tel. 00.352.20777
Korea, KAYA AD INC - SEOUL, Tel. 719-6904/6907/9813

exposed to this company," said a spokesman for Nomura Securities Co. as Nihon Tochi largely responsible for the Ford Offers Incentives on Trucks, but Not Cars, for 1989

United Press International General Motors Corp. and DETROIT — Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp. already have intromerger should go ahead.

The Ryan takeover was intended to take advantage of opportunities arising from the impending privatization of the British electricity supply industry.

American France on 188 relatively strong sales, trucks, surprising industry analysts responded Friday to competitive who thought such deals on 1989 offers of other carmakers by announcing $300 rebates on selected November.

Some industry analysts in Thomas Offering buyer large of from offering buyer large of the private of the British electricity supply industry.

model cars. It is only offering spe-cial vehicle-lease rates on selected

Analysts said the decline was sparked by fears the company may be worth far less than previously operating income this year was ex- believed. Some analysts had put the products and furnishings, and the

On Tuesday, Carless said it would press on with the Ryan deal traditionally the last top U.S. cardiaced incentive programs covering and an extraordinary general meeting of Carless shareholders was scheduled to decide whether the responded Friday to competitive who thought such deals on 1989 offers of other carmillers by any models would not express until late.

incentive programs may be a bid by subsidiary of American Express 1988 and 1989 model cars until the top carmaker to restore some of Co., has agreed to assist in the financing of the offer, Kelt said.

1988 and 1989 model cars until the top carmaker to restore some of its market share before the calendar year expires.

GM's share of the car market for on all 1988 model Ranger compact the 1988 model year ended Sept.
30, including imports, fell to 35.7 percent from 36.8 percent in the previous 12-month period.

on an 1700 model range compact trucks until Nov. 24,

"We are simply keeping our dealers competitive with the intention of continuing our strong sales Ford's share rose to 21.2 percent from 20 percent, while Chrysler's decker, a Ford analyst.
share was up to 11.3 percent from Current incentive pro

10.9 percent. Ford is offering $300 rebates on include $3,000 rebates on 1988 1988 and 1989 model F-150, F-250 and F-350 trucks equipped with manual transmission under a program valid until Dec. 5. Ford also amended a previous

Management Group Drops Its Offer for Wickes

ing, with the remainder of out- In late August, when the buy-out projection for this year would fall standing shares exchanged for new plan was announced, Mr. Sigoloff short of the mark. It said that pretax operating income was expected to be about $40 million less than the $256.9 million $2 billion in debt. agreed not to buy shares for 60 it forecast at the time of the buyOn Friday in New York, Wickes days. Mr. Sigoloff's group includes out offer. That would represent a $2.25 plunged $3.375 to close at top executives of Wickes, and 15.6 percent fall.

Operating income in August and September was about sharply beto the automobile industry, a major low earlier predictions, Wickes re-

In addition, the company said it

Minorco's Earnings Tripled in Fiscal '88

patterns," said L. Raymond Win-

Current incentive programs on cars purchased from dealer stock model Merkur XR4Ti cars until

Nov. 30, $1,000 rebates on 1988

model Ford Thunderbird Turbo

Coupe and Mercury Congar cars, and $600 back on all other 1988

Thunderbirds and Cougars.

LONDON - Minerals & Resources Corp., an arm of South Africa's Oppenheimer mining empire, reported Friday that its not earnings tripled, to $262.3 million, in the year ended hine 30.

Minorco, which has bid £2.05 billion ($3.6 billion) for Consolidated Gold Fields PLC, said its 29.32 percent stake in Gold Fields made the biggest contribution to profit.

cals division for $442 million to Fisons PLC, the British drug, scientific equipment and horticulturalproducts concern. (UPI, Renters) The proposed offer was $12 a share, and said that the $12 a image and decorative fabrics. The proposed offer was $12 a share, and said that the $12 a image and decorative fabrics. The impetus to drop the offer, fourth quarters, as well as the full wickes said, was that its earnings The proposed offer was $12 a share, and said that the $12 a image and decorative fabrics. The impetus to drop the offer, fourth quarters, as well as the full wickes said, was that its earnings Icahn Reportedly Meets Unions on Eastern Loss for Year of NEW YORK — Carl C. Icahn, chairman of Trans World Airlines Inc., and representatives of the ma-

$7.44 Million jor unions at TWA and Eastern Airlines have held a series of meet-OSLO — The Norwegian computer maker, Norsk Data A/S, said it expected a loss of to sources close to the talks. up to 50 million kroner ($7.44

CHICKEN: Holly Gets Ruffled

Don Tyson, delivered late Tuesday of America's major food industries afternoon to Holly Farms' president and chief executive officer, R. a sharp difference in style between the heads of the companies.

quarter of a share of Tyson's Class the helms of their companies, and A common stock for each share both are credited by analysts with Bonnie C. Rivers, the food ana-ard at Salomon Brothers, was one There the similarities and.

might just be a starting point for negotiations. "We would be prepared to increase the proposal" if Holly Farms showed why it was too million) for the year. Rolf Skaar, the company's founder and president, blamed the expected loss on poor performance in the do-

Norsk Data had a pretax loss of 124 million kroner in the first half.

Mr. Skaar had predicted in July that Norsk Data could see a loss in 1988, its first ever. But he said the company would increase profit in the second half of this year after a 70 million kroner profit in the same period last year. "Expected improved results in the second half are mostly due to growth in our foreign markers. he said. Sales in Norsk Data's four major foreign markets - Sweden, Denmark, Britain and West Germany - rose 45 percent in the first six months of

Lee Taylor 2d, Mr. Tyson said he was prepared to offer $45 and a

At current prices that works out to about $49.50 a share.

lyst at Salomon Brothers, was one of several who put Holly Farm's low, he said. Other analysts said Holly Farms was almost certain to raise antitrust questions, saying that a purchase by its bigger competitor might limit competition too much in the fresh-fray & Hopwood in Minneapolis.

chicken business.

Mr. Blair said the initial bid outstanding of Holly Farms.

market value closer to $55.

$7.25.

ings this week to explore a takeover by Mr. Icahn of Eastern, according Also being discussed, the sources of the machinists' union at TWA, involved in taking over an airline. said Thursday, is a deal involving the takeover of both Eastern and TWA by an outside investor. Mr. Icabn has already proposed a buyout of TWA stock to take the also planned.

company private. He also has indicated an interest in buying Eastern, which has been losing money and is locked in a dispute with its unions which include the unions making a for both Eastern and TWA, with bid for Eastern, Mr. Icahn and the unions playing a role in a take-unions jointly making a bid for the over. The source said it could in-preferred shares, which would also have a value of $12. The offer also included assumption of more than $2 billion in debt.

and William O'Driscoll, the head met with Mr. Icahn in New York. Sources said similar meetings between Mr. Icahn and the pilots' ment of Texas Air would be willing union at Eastern and TWA were to sell Eastern.

over wage concessions.

The sources said the meetings had been exploring various possible deals involving the two airlines, have an outside investor make a bid that Mr. Icahn had contacted him that Mr. Icahn had contacted him and expressed interest in possibly presenting a bid for Eastern to the Texas Air board.

airline, or getting an outside inves-tor to make a bid for both airlines. buyout of both carriers.

Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc.

retailer of home improvement world's largest maker of wall cover-

The effort began on Tuesday, The source refused to name the when Charles Bryan, the head of investor, but said that he had exthe machinists union at Eastern, pressed interest several times and that he had not been previously Another source said that a major question was whether the manage-

At a news conference Tuesday at Mr. Bryan, while refusing to con- which the sale of the Eastern shutfirm that a direct meeting with Mr. the to Donald J. Trump was an-Icahn took place, acknowledged nounced, Frank A. Lorenzo, chair-that a lot of talking among parties man of Texas Air, acknowledged

Brisk Trade in Air Canada's Floated Shares

MONTREAL - More than 30 million ordinary shares in Air Canada, representing 43 percent of the state-controlled airline, have been floated on the main Canadian stock exchanges in the first stage of a government privatization plan for the carrier.

dominance in what has become one

Both succeeded their fathers at the financial sayvy to keep their companies strong in an industry

plagned by roller-coaster prices

Mr. Tyson is a gregatious, risk-taking entrepreneur who has bought out competitors before, en supplier to be "up there with Coca-Cola and Green Giant" in takes a much more somber view, analysis say. He is "a very conservative guy, too conservative. I would say," said William Leach, nmer recognition. Mr. Taylor, 46, the Princeton-educated chief of Holly Farms changes. The stock opened Friday at 8.125 dollars in Toronto and trading in the first hour was brisk percent of the company's stock,

The civing plane to use the esti-The airline plans to use the estimated 246 million dollar revenue restricted to a maximum 25 percent from the flotation to pay off some stake in the airline. of its debts, which currently stand at more than I billion dollars. (Continued from first finance page) some analysts said, Tyson's bid for the priority given to them under a fere in its day-to-day management.

The shares, which were initially Canadian privatization law and offered at 8 dollars ($6.62), rose to bought 25 percent of the shares.

8.25 dollars Thursday in active The law restricts ownership to trading on the Canadian ex- ensure that the airline does not fail into foreign control. Individual Canadians are restricted to holding 10

The federal government, which said it would retain a 55 percent stake in the airline for at least six Employees took advantage of months, has promised not to inter-

Comprehensive U.S. Election Coverage from The New York Times The Washington Post

Only the Trib brings you so much in-depth news and analysis of the crucial 1988 election — drawing on the unrivalled resources of our two parent newspapers. Shouldn't you be following the story every day?

Value Line INTRODUCTORY TRIAL

Line in the past two years, you can now receive full-page analyses of about 130 American stocks each week for t 12 weeks for $95. As a double boous at no additional charge, you will also receive the 2000-page Investors Reference Service (covering 1700 American stocks) and the 72-page booklet.
"A Subscriber's Guide" which explains how even inexperienced investors can apply thousands of bours of professional research to their own portfolios by focusing on only two unequivocal ratings, one for Timeliness (Performance in next 12 months), the other for Safety.

percentage of those who try Value Line for a short period stay with it on a long-term basis. The increased circulation enables us to provide this service for far less than would have to be charged our long-term subscribers were their number smaller. Send payment along with name and address together with this ad to: Dept. 213 F 15

The Value Line Investment Survey Value Line, Inc., 711 Third Ave., New York, N.Y 10017

DM 175) and requests for information should be directed to ; Value Line, All: Alexandre de Saint-Phille, 2 Ave. de Villars, 75007 Paris. ed by KLM Royal Dutch Airlines Publication Distribution he ratioed subscription price selected through December 31, 1988. Country Currency +52 +26 +13 issues issues issues Austria A Sch. 4400 2,500 1,350 Belgium B.Fr. 11,000 4,000 3,300 Dermork D.Kr. 2,700 1,500 Finland F.M. 1,760 970 F.F. 1,500 830 _45 £ 135 74 41 Dr. 23,500 13,250 7,300 Lize 380,000 200,000 110,000 Lean-bourg LFr. 11,000 6,000 3,300 Norway (air) N.Kr. 2,000 1,100 medide N.Kr. 2,500 1,400 Portugal Esc 26,000 14,300 7,900 Spain (airmail Plast 31,000 17 ##dahl S.Kr 2,000 1,000 witzerland $.Fr. 455 255 141 hat of Europe, N. Afr., form Fr. Africo, Mid. Bost $ 470 260 145

To: Subscription Manager, International Herald Tribune, 181, Avenue Charles de Gaulle, 92521 Neutly Cedex, France. Tel.: (1) 46 37 93 61. Telex: 612832. Fox: (1) 46 37 93 70. Please check the subscription term you desire:

" In West Germany, please contact foreign frest Service, Gleistmann 5, D. 6532, Hockenheim, Talhaus, or telephone. (05305) 20 133; teles: 465 826. Hand delivery is available in major after. Rates do not include free issues.

 At these rates, you can get marring hand delivery in the following after Calo, Stavanger, Sandthalm, Göteborg and Malma.

resort. They're two different peoenough to worry government regu-ATGL 45.51.63.59) ple. Lee Taylor will be spending his Even if Tyson clears any anti-trust concerns and raises its bid, Mr. McMillin said.

"Obviously, the question is going to be raised, because the deal would the food analyst at Donaldson, make the biggest one bigger," said George S. Dahiman of Piper, Jaf-Lufkin & Jenrette Securities, who has followed Holly Farras for several years. Most analysts agree that the dif-But John M. McMillin, a food. ferences in style are likely to be-come a central issue in the struggle. analyst at Prudential-Bache Securities, and others said the nearly 30 percent market share Tyson might

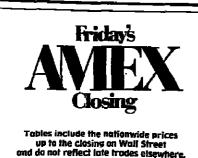

"Lee Taylor will sell his compahave after a merger would not be ny to Don Tyson only as a last only $95

If no member of your household has subscribed to Value

We make this special offer because we have found that a high ant in local currencies (British £60, French fr575, Swiss fr145, Service Holland. Allow 4 weeks for delivery.

.15

Stockbar SFR-BAER .

Intercurrency DM
Intercurrency DM
Intercurrency DM
Intercurrency Memosed S
Intercurrency Memosed S
Intercurrency Memosed S
Intercurity French Offer S
Intercurity French Offer S
Intercurity French Offer S
Intercurity French Offer S
Intercurity Australia Cis. S
Intercur Cop.Frence Cop. FF
Interlux Cop.Funce Cop. FF
Interlux Cop. LUF/BEF LF, LINIERIUX COP. FUNCE COP.
Interlux Cop. LUF/BEF LF, LINIERIUX COP. S
FIFT Intercut, Div. B
FIFT I

(w) B53 int18 Bond ... $ 1800* (d 1 (d 1 R) B55 int1 Bond ... $ 1800* (d 1 R) B55 int1 Equity ... $ 1800* (d 1 R) B55 int1 Equity ... $ 1800* (d 1 R) B55 int1 Equity ... $ 1800* (d 1 R) B55 int1 Equity ... $ 1800* (d 1 R) B61 Annual ... $ 2.565* (d 1 R) B61 Annual ... $ 2.77* (d 1 R) B61 Annual ... $ 2.77* (d 1 R) B61 Annual ... $ 2.78* (d 1 Annual ..

sis Sicos eicom

1.40 9.3 320 2.1 12 52 3.3 9

127

5 1,219.27 ECU 1,095.45 Y 228.632.00 FF 10.698.92

id I hord Curr. Liquidity Phil. 5 id Inil. Bond Particile. 5 id I inil. Bond Particile. 5 id I inil. Equity Income Phil. 5
id I Recovery Particile 5
id I Recovery Particile 5
id I Recovery Particile 5
id South Eys Asian Particile. 5
id South Eys Asian Particile. 5 id Sterling Liquidity Phil. 6
id U.K. Particile 5
PORUS BANK A.S. 472 423 535
iv I Sconfords Intil growth id 5
FORBES PO B887 GRAND CAYMAN
London Agent 01-837-3013

12 Manth High Low Stock 48 A-98 2.75 3.5
6 A-98 5.6
6 A-98 5.6
8 A-98 5.6
8 A-98 5.6
8 A-88 5.7
8 A-98 5.6
8 A-88 6.7
8 A-8 17 13% B&M n 11% 6% BAT 6% 3% BB REI % BB RI wr 13% 5% B$N 20e 1.2 33e 4.2 27e 8.0 79 16½ 16½ 564 79 74 9 34 350 4 % % 7 27 6 578

16th Souter
5th Souter
5th Soldwar
5th Sol 24 9∆ № 8 7 12 COLIAN OCCANA OC 16/2 — Ve 79% 3% 5% + Ve ADVERTISEMENT

os are supplied by the Funds listed with the exception of some quotes based on issue price, potations supplied:(d) =daily; (w) = weekly; (b) = bi-monthly; (r) = regularly; (t) = twice weekly; (m) = monthly

| Burnapadin Equity Fusia | Similar | Similar

World Fund ____ NE FLEMING, GPO Box

JARDINE FLEANING, GPO Box 1

JARDINE FLEANING, GPO Box 1

(d J.F. Pocific Sec. Trust

(d J.F. Pocific Sec. Trust

(d J.F. Pocific Sec. Trust

(d J.F. Pocific Income Trust

(d J.F. Pocific Sec. Trust

(d J.F. European

$

Heal Loys Intil Sec. Post

$

(w) Lloyds intil Namerica

$

(w) First Convertible Sec. Fd

$

1) First Convertible

$

1) U.S. Federal Securities

$

1) U.S. Federal Securities

$

1) World Not Res Pfi. Shore A

1) World Not Res Pfi. Shore B

WARBEN

1 Class A

LEFLEX I MANTER

Belly Fund
Cortexe International
Ecupar
For East Growth Fund
Luxer
Parell-Fund
Pureurape Growth
Portifier Fund

Por US Treas. Bond 'CI. B'...

(c) | Por US Trees. Sond 'Cl. B'. $ 139.12 (c) | Europhenibx | F. 1213.33 (c) | Por Inter Bond Fund | F. 1213.33 (c) | Por Inter Bond Fund | F. 1213.33 (c) | Por Inter Bond Fund | F. 1213.33 (c) | Por Inter Bond Fund | F. 122.34 (c) | Por Inter Bond Fund | F. 122.34 (c) | Por Inter Bond Fund | F. 122.34 (c) | Por Inter Bond Fund | F. 122.34 (c) | Por Inter Bond Fund | F. 122.34 (c) | Por Inter Bond Fund | F. 122.34 (c) | Por Inter Bond | P. 122.34 (c) | Por Inter Bond | Por Inter Bond | P. 122.34 (c) | Por Inter Bond | Por Inter Bond | P. 122.34 (c) | Por Inter Bond | Por Inter Bond | P. 122.34 (c) | Por Inter Bond | P.

14.72 22.33 14.39 13.00 31.67 24.82 18.03 47.47

115.90 154.10 202.80 297.50 131.80 218.00 15.80

FF 1,213,83 FF 1,145,42 FF 1,145,42 DM 1,212,78 SF 96,10 S 1,187,60 FL 1,109,95 SF 1,336,25 Y 2,848,00

32 3.7 .15 1,1 4.16421,9 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 100 | 10 25 25 9 21e 12 22e 42 35 65 16 1,12 36 17

#5| #8

1.50 138 15

DA ECU FF DA 4

1.77 8.39 8.39 11.02 7.22 11.48 23.96 18.61 31.79 19.98 10.53 12.96 6.51 5.99 9.69

73.60 45.00 110.9 123.0 202.20 464.3 215.3 103.3 113.60 27.97 29.38 40.05 22.81 12.28

1026.49

64.25* 211.20 188.00 172.00 169.00 173.50 97.75 208.00 258.00 1058.50

11.73 9.40 11.65 11.65 4.98 8.39 6.29

1.19 1

258.50 • 2.40 • 2.70 • 17.70 • 11.57 • 25.00 • 11.57 • 25.00 • 10.0

SBC US$ MMF | SSETING SONG SEPTING SONG SEPTING SONG SEPTING S

| Colon | Colo

Action in the state of the stat

Actificance IIII.

Actigestion

Actigestion

Actigestion

Actigestion

S

Annobel

Actigestion

S

Actigestion

Actigestion

S

Actigestion

Actigestion

S

Actigestion

Actigestion

Actigestion

S

Actigestion

Actigestion

S

Actigestion

Actigestion

Actigestion

S

Actigestion

Actigestion

S

Actigestion

S

Actigestion

S

Actigestion

Actigestion

S

Actigestion

Act

2 1 20 5 4 17% 38 4 222 8 8 16 554 4 15% 4 15% 17 4 15% 17 6 81 20% 17 17 5 25% 104 % 67 79 3 DWG
4 DomEA
20 DomEA
20 DomEA
20 DomEA
20 DomeO
24 Domeo
40 Dome .15e .15 .16 .4 15 .10e 1.2 20 .10 .14 .28 2.3 11

10 7.4 MSA wt 1211/2 MS1 DI S 28 MS1 DI S 29 MS2 DI S 10% 10% — 16
574 574 + 16
574 574 + 16
574 574 + 16
574 174 + 16
574 174 + 16
574 174 + 16
574 174 174 + 16
574 174 174 + 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 - 16
574 174 174 174 175
574 174 174 175
574 174 174 175
574 174 174 175
574 174 174 175
574 174 174 175
574 174 174 175
574 174 174 175
574 174 174 175
574 174 174 175
574 174 174 175
574 174 174 175
574 174 174 174
574 174 174
574 174 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
574 174
57

.10e 1.0 13 17 40 44 6 707 5.1 17 1.80 6.5 9 50 1.5 11 764 4.1 44 1.35 18.3 .05e .5 11 .40 9.1 .5 .188 .246 1.0 48

214 1576 1576 1576 1576 1174 274 274 107

O

30½ 19½ OEA

317 5 29% 29% 29% 29%

8½ 31½ OBrien

109 24 4% 4% 4% 4% 1%

7% 4% OderlA

224 10 6 5% 5% 5% 1%

164 10% Otsten

20 8 20 419 24%

234 10% Ossten

17% 5% Onerlo

13% 6% OderlA

28 14 71 16 15% 16 1%

13% 6% OderlA

138 6% OderlA

138 10% 10½ 19% 1%

27% 19% Opegath

20 11 21 18% 18% 18%

21% 10% Orsigh

109 11 12 18% 18% 18%

21% 10% Ossten

23 14 16 11 19% 19% 18%

23% 6% Orsigh

23% 6% Orsigh

24% 6% Orsigh

25% 11 19% 19% 19% 1%

27% 25% Ossten

28 14 16 11 19% 19% 19% 1%

27% 25% Ossten

28 14 16 11 19% 19% 19% 1%

27% 25% Ossten

28 14 16 11 19% 19% 19% 1%

28 28 Oxfeey

18 4% 4% 4% 4%

issuer/Mgt. Construction of Mary's Resident Mary's Resident New Park Resident New Park Resident Resident

944 74 USPRI 1614 476 Unicorp 1745 576 Unitres 1745 14 Univery 1744 175 US Call 1615 714 Unitely 1744 Unitely 1744 University 1744 University 1744 University 1744 University 1744 University 1744 University

1.15e14.2 4 .30 4.6 1.22e21.4 4 7 8% 8% 8% 5% - %
2 6½ 6½ 6½ 6½ 6½ 12
10 9½ 9½ 9½ 1½ - %
4 10 13% 1½ 1½ - ½
4 7% 9% 9% 9% 1%
14 4 7% 9% 9% 9% 1%
26 4% 4½ 4%
23 9½ 9½ URRENCT

Sollar 1

Charle Citate

3 690 649 617 4 164 164 164

| 14 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 | 316 |

14% 25% 7% 7% 5% 5% 5%

.20 1.4 14 9.11e34.7 .48 2.5 17

G 10.5

2.05 12.4

15 14

.12 5 19 .220 1.4 12

1,74 5.7 11 .00 4 18

.08 128 P .7% 5 22 .34 27 46 .54 31 11 .10 18 20 .55 14 .50 .4 16 .50 .4 16 .40 7.2 5

8 TaMdn
2% TEC
1% TIE
2% TIPA Am
5 TRA Am
51 TobPrd
1% Town
5% Town
1% TobL n
2% Town
1% Techn
1% Techn
2% Town
1% Techn
2% Temm
1% T

11e126 228 5 11e126 288 5 120 42 4 4258 1100 42 4 4258 1112 32 13 11 2818 112 32 13 11 2818 112 32 14 37 356 12 10 59 112 40 21 78 2 1997

17% 14'2 7 9% 8% 3% 12'4'5 26'5 36'4 9% 36'5

% Hill wish % Houd?
An Howin
15th Howin
17th Howin
27th Hubela
25th Hubela
4th Hod?d
13th Huden

5% (CH et 1.75 17.5
314 (CN et 1.75 17.5
315 (CN et 1.75 17.5
316 (CN et 1.75 17.5
317 (EN et 1.75 17.5
318 (EN et 1.75 17.5
318 (EN et 1.75 17.5
319 (EN et 1.75 17.5
319 (EN et 1.75 17.5
311 (EN et 1.75 17.5
312 (EN et 1.75 17.5
313 (EN et 1.75 17.5
314 (EN et 1.75 17.5
315 (EN et

Elly Jackyn
11 Jacobs
5% JAndson
5% JanBell
14 Jefren
2 Jevinst
16 Jeneint
29 Joule
1% JumpJk

2% KAWW
9 KVPh
9 KVPh
108 8.1
4% KertSer
4% KertSer
5% KevCorA
4 KevCorA
4 KevCorA
4 KevCorB
4 Kilern
1% Kilern
1% Kiler
1% Kirby
100 2.3
5% Kir Mig
19 KogrEq n1.80 9.5

.10e 1.5 14

10 15

23

19 20

28 24 15 260 70 7

.12 3.7 .60 4.2 22 .25 1.5 14 .7

1.40 32.8 6 .36 3.8 7 .245 2.2 249 .20 1.5 13 .26 2.8 16

.5% 5.9

.20b 1.3 14

0

.60e 8.9 .5 31

4% 17% 12% 28% 20% 37% 37% 11% 23%

5½ + ½ 6% - ¼ 37½ + ¼ 2% - ¼ 15% + ½

5% 6% 3772 2% 15% 6%

(Continued on next page)

 Output Next  And ***

 1 * Leads Perm % Gb
Leads Perm % Gb
Leads Perm % Gb
Leads Perm % Gb
Motes Found No 1 of M
Motes Mark Motes M
Mits Alvet 8d R78
Mits 10c1 2021
Mits Pupper Next Bild Asked

124: 14-12 99.89 99.88

185: 28-11 98.29 99.89

185: 28-11 98.29 99.89

185: 28-11 98.29 99.89

185: 28-11 98.29 99.89

185: 28-11 98.29 99.89

185: 28-11 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29 99.89

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 28-12 98.29

185: 2 Next Bid Askd

11% 01-11 100.05780.35 12.31831-12 100.10100.35 11% 27-11 004.7 99.72 17% 13-01 99.75 99.80 17% 38-12 99.95 108.85
Deutsche Marks
Company Next Bid Asia 4.866 29-12 99-87 (00.12 5.156 46-99 100.54890.25 5.156 46-99 100.54890.26 5.156 46-99 100.54890.26 5.156 46-99 100.54890.25 5.157 22-87 100.54890.19 5.157 22-87 100.54890.19 5.157 100.54890.19
ese Yen
Cognes Next Bid Asket 4% 26-16 190.80108.90 38-08 7 50.38 198.48 4.454 21-11 100.46 148.40

Auton Next Bid Askal

74. 49-52 99-52 105.00

7.262 13-14 99.75 100.65

76. - 91.75 100.65

76. 31-10 99.76 100.65

60. 21-10 99.76 100.65

6 21-12 97.50 91.76

6 21-12 97.50 91.76 Remo 92 (Ecu)
CF Farcler 96 (Ecu)
CF National 95 (Ecu)
Ect 91 (Ecu)
Ireland 97 (Ecu)
Ireland 97 (Ecu)
Italy 92
Pécers 1956st 97 Source : Credit Suisse-First Boston Ltd., Landon

Dollars

Floating-Rate Notes

Cr L. vancous 21/46
Cr L. vancous 21/46
Cr L. vancous 21/46
Cr L. vancous 21/46
Cr L. vancous 31
Cr L. vancous 32/46
Data Fred Jumit
Data Fred Jumit
Data Browshar Para Den Marshar File 31
Den Schaller File 31
Den Schaller File 32
Eib Nov 38
Ferrovie Mary 47
Ferrovie Schaller Schaller 32
File Schaller Schaller 32
File Schaller Schaller 32
File Schaller 33
File Schaller 34
File Schaller 35
File Sch Compos Next 8id Askid

1.57 (7-77) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (7-77) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (7-77) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9.07)

1.57 (9.07) 19.07 (9 Allente Finance Justin Allente Finance Justin
Allente Finance Justin Allente Finance Finance Bearing
B

Abbey Not 91 Gb
Abbey Not 92 Gb
Abbey Not 92 Gb
Abbey Not 92 Gb
Abbey Not 92 Gb
Alliance + Leic PGb
Alliance + Gb
Alliance + Gb
Alliance + Gb
Belgham 94 Gb
Gb
Gristone + Binn Anril Gb
Bristol + West 97 Gb
Bristol + West 97 Gb
Gb
Gristone + Binn Anril Gb
Bristol + West 97 Gb
Gristone + Binn Anril Gb
Bristol + West 97 Gb
Gristone + Binn Anril Gb
Bristol + West 97 Gb
Gristone + Binn Anril Gb
Bristol + West 97 Gb
Gristone + Binn Anril Gb
Bristol + West 97 Gb
Gristone + Binn Anril Gb
Bristol + West 97 Gb
Holliance + Gb
Holliance +

Pounds Sterling

12.07.17 99.9 99.9 12.1.15.51 99.9 99.5 17.0 25.11 99.9 99.5 17.0 25.11 99.9 99.5 17.0 25.11 99.9 99.5 17.0 25.11 99.9 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 99.5 17.0 25.12 17.

| Company | Comp AS-Australian Dollars; BF-Betglum Francs: CS-Canadian Dollars; DM-Deutsche Mark; ECU-European Currency Unit; FF-French Francs; FL-Dutch Figrin; Lit-Italian Lira; LF-Luxembourg Francs: poence: SF-Swiss Francs: Y-Yen:a-caked:+-Offer Prices: N.A.-Not Available; N.C.-Not Communicated; a-New: S-suspended; S/S-Stock Split; -Ex-Divisional: -Ex-Ris:-8 Offer Price Incl. 3% profilm, charge:-Parts stock exchange:++-Amsterdam stock exchange; e-misqualed earlier; a-not registered with regulatory authority Be sure that your fund is listed in this space daily. Telex Matthew GREENE at 613595F for further information.

CURRENCY MARKETS

Dollar Falls Against Mark and Yen

NEW YORK — The dollar ex-tended its losses Friday, closing at its lowest levels in New York since late June algium; entiment remained bearish and wornes over the U.S. trade deficit and further signs the U.S. economy is slowing, as well as less favorable interest-rate differentials for the dollar.

The state of the s

16 v 1. .

iam P_{faff}

Cite Will este pale

With the state of ant in Belgum i de

at German-speaker

at German-speaker

the Ad pointed tone

the Lack of firm gone

the Care has reflected to the Care has reflect an each to the other there may be a solve change to on the to the pattle has dispar antiphotor to the

and pointed as to wine constant

the same and seemed minder simbenes n be community the madian county and pole

: umable mounaled by ten mitte the gordina

the way to some bude

There has be

ten atem pe 5 alembes by a reach Direct Acted in the same of the var variated, but a leak product insecunity ada lamatutis

. Pro commerciation a let-carrie no narch, malene and amorphisms are the training The state of the s by a sea where Free W Commission over thickly with the rest by the rote of it the property of the section

the manner

125 (5.45) Wiffned & ार स्थले हो and the and world get and the main line a maria dendera 53º

A CONTRACTOR

The best of the control of the contr

A STATE OF THE STA

ാ വാഷ്ട്ര and the state of t The gale 7 an contact

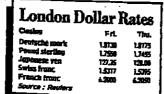

ng Latonsm

Also, there was speculation major that central banks are not overly concerned about the dollar's recent

The entire market is dead certain it's going to be lower next week," said Charles Wheeler of tery berying as Union Bank in Los Angeles. "So who wants to hold it?"

The dollar ended at 1.8055 Deutcourts or the Flands sche marks, down from 1.8150 DM at Thursday's close. The U.S. curready also fell to 126.55 yeu, down from 127.50. Since last Friday's close, the dollar has fallen 3.1 percent against the mark and 5.1 percent against the yen.

The dollar also ended at 1.5243 francs, from 6.191. The pound fin-process.

ished at $1.7590, compared with $1.7500 on Friday.

This week's sell-off began in Asia. It began after last Friday's U.S. employment report for September was weaker than expected, fueling speculation that U.S. interest rates were unlikely to rise soon. In fact, interest rates fell that day. Lower rates reduce the attraction of holding dollar-denominated as-

The currency slide was exacerbated by worries about the U.S. trade report, which showed that the trade deficit widened substantially in August

Economists said the August deficit reinforces the view that the dol-Swiss francs, compared with lar needs to fall further to help speed the U.S. trade-adjustment

With the exception of the Bank of Canada and the Bank of England, major central banks have not intervened on behalf of the dol-

"The only reason I could see for the central banks coming in were if the dollar went into a freefall," said Mr. Wheeler of Union Bank, He said a sharp drop in the dollar was unlikely to result in another col-lapse in stock prices.

In London, the dollar closed at 1.8130 DM, down from 1.8175 DM on Thursday, and finished at 127.35 yen, against 128.00.The British pound rose to 7550, up from $1,7455. Against the French franc, the U.S. currency declined in London to 6.2000, from 6.2050, while against the it ended at 1.5317 Swiss francs, down from 1.5395. The pound's steady rise through out the day in London was boosted by statements by government offi-cials that Britain would continue to fight inflation. British inflation figures on Friday, which showed September re-tail prices rising by 0.5 percent to an annual rate of 5.9 percent.

Dollar Trend Weakens Franc Against Mark

Reuters PARIS - The Deutsche

mark surged Friday in Paris trading, where dealers said the dollar must come under further pressure from Thursday's U.S. trade data and that, in turn, would boost the mark

The mark opened at 3.4141 francs, which was sharply up from Thursday's close of 3.4077. By the fixing, the mark had retreated a bit to 3.4127. The Bank of France drained liquidity from the French money market Thursday, and one dealer said it appeared the bank was "going to rely on interest rates for now to help the franc." Earlier this week, the Bank of France was selling marks around 3.4090 francs, dealers said. Now its traders may be obliged to raise the ceiling somewhat, with several expecting action at 341_50.

ECONOMY: Producer Prices Rose 0.4% in Month

(Confinued from first finance page) strong sales for the first 10 days of reflected declines for all major furetail sales last month fell by $519 million, to $133.66 billion.

The 0.4 percent decline, which confounded forecasts of a 0.5 percent increase, was the largest since April and rounded off a disappointing third quarter for the nation's shopkeepers.

The softness in retail sales sug-gested to economists that although Thursday's U.S. trade report showed imports are running at record levels, domestic demand continues to moderate as the economy gradually makes the transition to export-led growth that is needed to reduce the trade deficit. Excluding cars, sales were unchanged in September after rising 0.5 percent in August. Car sales fell to $28.66 billion in September.

September is the end of the model year, and Detroit's Big Three car makers on Thursday reported els. Gasoline prices, up 3.8 percent in August, fell 3.3 percent last month. Natural gas prices fell 2.5

The inflation report showed the summer's drought, which sharply reduced farm output, was still having an impact on prices.

Another factor pushing prices higher in September was a 1.8 percent increase in new automobile prices. Analysts said this reflected lower incentives for buyers at the end of the model-year than would normally be the case.

Consumer food prices rose 1.2 percent in September, after a 0.4 percent increase in August, and were 4.3 percent above their year-

Much of the momentum for the gain in food costs came from esca-lating beef prices, as producers ended the herd liquidations that had depressed prices earlier in the drought cycle.

Countering that was a 3.3 percent drop in energy prices, which jumped 10.0 percent. (Reuers, AP)

Factory Output Is Flat in U.S.

The Associated Press WASHINGTON - Production at U.S. factories, mines and utilities was unchanged in September, the weakest performance in seven months, the government said

The Federal Reserve Board attributed the flat output almost entirely to a large drop at utilities, which returned to more normal operating levels after increasing output to meet the summer heat wave.

Analysts had expected a modest overall advance of about 0.3 percent. The Sep-tember performance followed a slight 0.2 percent rise in August and a large 1.2 percent jump in July.

OIL: Analysts See Price and Production Strategy Emerging for OPEC

(Confinued from page 1)
two-year lows in recent weeks on market fears of unrestrained promarket fears of u

A formal endorsement and imion ceiling would have to wait until the next OPEC plenary meeting on Nov. 21

For the remainder of the year, a production limit of 18.5 million barrels a day is expected by some observers to be accepted in princi-dent of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation Inc.

Harrison, a senior oil analyst with Kitcat & Aitken, London stockbromates show.

mainon barrels a day for the fourth quarter," he added, OPEC would stand a good chance of seeing the price recover from current levels to $15 a barrel next year.

But other industry observers cantion that OPEC's agreeing to a higher production ceiling is a high-rick strategy that can only succeed.

risk strategy that can only succeed if it eradicates the widespread practice of cheating on output and dis-

The current OPEC ceiling, excluding Iraq, is 15.06 million bar-rels a day, which rises to 17.5 million barreis a day including Iraq.
Production levels in October have reached 21.5 million barrels a day, industry sources say, with Saudi Arabian production possibly accounting for as much as 6 million barrels a day, well above that coun-

But there are indications that Iraq is ready to limit its production and agree to rejoin the quota system at a level somewhat above its present allotment. Iran appears willing to accept parity for the sake of arresting the dramatic drop in crude prices.

The Iraqi oil minister, Isam Abd ar-Rahim ash-Shalabi, said Friday ple in Madrid,
"OPEC doesn't have any expectation of seeing $18-a-barrel oil in 1989," said John Lichtblau, president Madrid, president Madrid, president Madrid, and the counting on output and discounting on prices.

"A ceiling of 19 million barrels a day is much too high to get prices moving upwards," said Humphrey in the country was ready to abide by a new consensus on production, if OPEC can agree to a sustainable output level, Reuters reported.

BRITAIN: Inflation Rate Climbs

Thursday. Nigel Lawson, the chancellor of the Exchequer, told the Conserva-tive Party conference on Thursday that he expected inflation to peak and then fall next year. In the meantime, he said, interest rates would have to remain high to cool down the economy.

Some financial analysts expect the inflation rate to be as high as 7 percent by December, and are pessimistic about prospects for 1989. At the beginning of the year, the index was just over 3 percent.

(Continued from first finance page) below 4 percent in April, it was at a four-month high against the dollar in London. It ended at $1.7550, compared with $1.7455 on economy. But it has been driven up partly by a sharp rise in interest rates. The bank base lending rate has climbed from 7.5 percent in early June to 12 percent at present. In an interview on Friday, Mr.

Lawson reiterated that his monetary tightening measures were "do-ing the trick."

British wages are also on the rise. The Department of Employment announced Thursday that weekly average earnings during August accelerated to an annual rate of 9.25 percent, the highest since June Employment Secretary Norman

EC Ends National Barriers To Public-Works Bidding

percent in September; home heating oil costs were down 4.6 percent.

Labor Department analysts said

these declines - which sent energy prices down at their steepest clip since January — reflected the cur-rent battle among oil-producing nations over production quotas.

Many private economists believe that Americans will benefit from the world oil glut and say that, for all of 1988, inflation will average

Energy wholesalers saw that benefit last month. Food middlemen, however, found higher prices for a variety of goods, not all the

In addition to the 4.2 percent around 3.4 percent.

result of the drought.

LUXEMBOURG — Members of the European Community agreed Friday on setting up a single public-works market, allowing any contractor in the Community to bid for public tenders in another country.

The directive, which will have the force of law throughout the EC. year. will be enforced once the European Parliament has given its approval. But Greece, Spain and Portugal, the newest EC members, will not be required to comply with it before March 1, 1992.

The adoption of the directive billion European currency units ($165 billion) every year in the European Community, according to construction and other projects in the EEC by 20 billion ECUs every

The directive will apply to any tender exceeding 5 million ECUs. but will exempt water, energy, transportation and communication projects, for which the Commission has made other proposals. Secret projects dealing with de-

NASDAQ prices as of 4 p.m. New York filme. This list, compiled by the AP, consists of the 1,000 most traded securities in terms of dollar value.

It is updated twice a year. Via The Associated Press

12 Month
Sts. NetMigh Low Stock Div. Yld. PE 100s High Low 4 P.M. Crige

A - 42 201 189h 1894 1894 + 16
- 10 242 139h 129h 139h - 16 1399 13 129h 13 + 16
- 7 730 886 89h 89h 89h 4 + 16
- 7 730 886 89h 89h 89h 89h
35 - 21 12 199 231h 239h 13 + 16
- 22 957 79hd 7 7 - 16
- 23 955 159h 159h 159h + 16
- 23 75 259 259h 159h 159h + 16
- 23 75 259 259h 259h 259h - 16
- 23 957 79hd 7 7 - 16
- 18 285 159h 159h 159h + 16
- 23 75 259h 259h 259h 259h - 16
- 13 564 89h 259h 259h 259h 159h
- 14 5 854 25 244 259h + 16
- 16 3 25 2553 459h 264 459h 159h 6¼ A&W Bd 11 ADC s 6¼ ASK 6¼ AST 1¼ Acadin 9¼ Acmess 8 AciARt s 7¼ Acimed 9¼ Acimed 9¼ Acimed 9¼ Acimed 1¼ Adopt 13¼ Adingh 13½ Adingh 13½ Adingh 13½ Adingh 13½ Adingh 13½ Adingh 13½ Adingh

| The content of the

Div. Yit. PE 100s High Low 4 P.M. Chige

12 Morath High 1.0w Stock Div. YIL PE 100s High Low 4 P.M. Chige

1346 574 Comments of the control of | H | 1004 | 111 | 127 | 57 | 1004 | 111 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 | 112 |

| Transfer | Transfer

1186 Selections
1186 Selection 1918年8月7日,1918年8月7日,1918年8月7日,1918年8月7日,1918年8月7日,1918年8月7日,1918年8月7日,1918年8月7日,1918年8月7日,1918年8月7日 1918年8月7日,1918年8月7日,1918年8月1日,1918年8月日,19

16 VHT wt
774 VST
774 VST
774 VST
775 VST
775 VST
776 VST
777 VST
777

274 - 194 -

BOOKS

JOE LOUIS: 50 Years an American Hero

By Joe Louis Barrow Jr. and Barbara Munder. 270 pages. $18.95. McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1221 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N. Y. 10020.

Reviewed by Charles S. Farrell

THIS new biography of the great heavyweight boxer, written by his son, Joe Louis Barrow Jr., with Barbara Munder, is a loving tribute that offers new insight. into the man who, at his prime, was probably the most admired black man in the United States.

"Nearly every black person and most whites in America knew who Joe Louis was," writes tennis star Arthur Ashe in a foreword. "They knew his face, his voice, his record in the ring, his family and his life history that so closely mirrored the background of other striving blacks." But one person who knew little beneath the surface was his son, estranged from his father at an early age because of his parents' divorce and because of the boxer's ceaseless travels. Barrow and Munder use news-paper and magazine accounts of the champ, as well as the reflections of dozens of people who knew him, to piece together a detailed account of Louis's life, inside and outside the ring.

The book begins not at the beginning, but on June 22, 1938, when the boxer accomplished probably his most celebrated victory, the first-round demolition of Max Schmeling, Germany's great white hope, in a rematch from two years earlier. For Louis, the victory avenged the only knockout of his young career; to the world and the United States the fight meant much more, since Schmeling represented Nazi claims of racial supremacy.

The fight brought a clear focus on the racial undercurrent in the United States. Sportswriters who had previously tagged Louis with such derogatory names as "the mocha mauler" and the "colfee colored kayo king suddenly declared him the symbol of American freedom and equality. Blacks viewed the fight as a vindication for an entire race. "Black Americans were down, way down," the authors write, "and felt that Joe Louis had to avenge himself — for them. It was almost as if that segment of America had somehow disappointed the country when their hero lost in 1936. If Louis beat Schmeling in the rematch, it would be not only a national victory political implications - but also a vindication of black Americans' ability to carry the flag."

This was the burden that Joe Louis carried through his adult life. He represented his race during a period when black America had no other champions, and he did it with a dignity and grace that allowed him to be accepted as a champion by whites as well.

Louis was a man of humble beginnings — the son of Alabama sharecroppers who had moved to Detroit in search of a better life - and he ended his life just as humbly. The authors trace his roller-coaster life with an eye for detail and an unabashed affection for him.

Even though poor, Lillie Barrow tried to expose her children to culture, giving young Joe 50 cents a week for violin lessons. He instead used the money to rent a locker at a recreation center so he could learn boxing. His mother eventually discovered the ruse, but gave her blessing with the understanding that, if he was going to be a fighter, he should "be the best you can."

His reputation was made in the ring and the authors give vivid descriptions of his many lights. The Schmeling fights, the bouts against Billy Conn and others are recounted with a blow-by-blow intensity that makes wonderful reading for any boxing fan. But the authors also shed light on Louis's personal life - his friends, his wives, his battle against segregation in the U.S. Army, his humor and wisdom, and later his sad decline as an overage boxer, wrestler and finally Las Vegas greeter mired in alcohol and drug problems.

The authors' enthusiasm goes overboard at times. The reflections of family members, friends, opponents and "common folk" no doubt provide insight into Louis, but coming as they do, page after page, snippet after snippet, they intrude on the narrative.

There are exceptions: for instance, the moving recollections of John Thompson, Georgetown University's basketball coach, who said, "No one had more impact on me in terms of giving me encouragement and motivation, giving me hope and self-respect. Although today I look upon Joe Louis as an American hero, when I was younger I was too selfish to appreciate that. I didn't care what white people thought. It was only important to me that he made me feel good about myself. Today I appreciate the tremendous obstacles a black person had to overcome in the 1930s. His style — modesty, dignity and courtesy — were just as courageous in his era as that of any black militant today."

Charles S. Farrell is on the staff of The Washington

DOWN

13 Time past

14 Farewells 15 "--- beanrows will 1 have . . . Yeats

16 Etta -19 Tooth: Comb. form 21 Vehicle for Lunt: 1928 23 Venison 28 Handle a problem handily

37 Forecaster

residue

47 Manta, e.g.

together

56 Alder tree:

Scot. 57 Israeli city

58 Circa: Abbr 61 Vehicle for

63 Fragment

64 Buff pumps 65 Mother of the Fates, to Plato

54 Chat idly

50 He and Hickey

44 "Cara — 1954 song

Liberia or Italy 40 Bone hollows 41 "Poor Man's Tapestry' 42 It curdles milk 43 Panatela

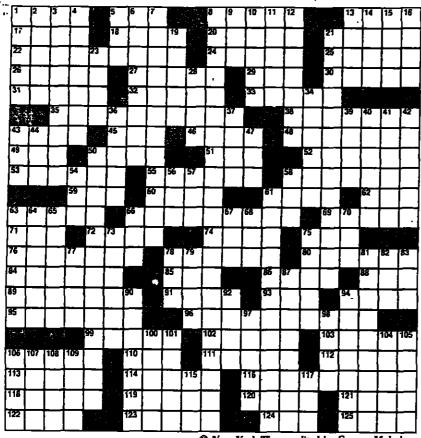

34 The old bean 36 "Tears" poet

872 874 1710 200 200 201 201 2750 201 2 World Stock Markets Via Agence France Presse Closing prices in local currencies, Oct. 14 2.70 2.06 6.68 1.55 1.51 2.62 4.75 5.18 5.86 Socypaes Son-Go Carris Carus C Zarich Thysse verte veba vEW volksw Adia Alsoulus Bank Leu Brown Boveri Cibo Gelay Cradit Sulsus Electrowedi Georg Fisches Hoffman R Ba Interdiscount Joens Suchan Joens Suchan Joens Suchan Joens Suchan Sondat Schinder Sulver Su Driefonteia S Prisons Present S Present S Gen Accident GEC Lister Lister Lister Lister Lister Lister Lister Lister Marks & S Mankvel Com Aletion Bonk Lucos Marks & S Mankvel Com Aletion Bonk Nat. West. Bix Peorson P and O Pilkington Plassey Prodeontel Recol Elec Rendientein S Ronk Recol Elec Rendientein Roule Recol Elec Rendientein Solnsbury Sears Holding Saell Solnsbury Sears Holding Saell Solnsbury Sears Holding Saell Till Till Group Trotologer Hise Thip Ultrontor 1602,20 Tekye Akai Asshi Chemica Asahi Glass Bank af Tokya Bridgestone Carlon Caslo C.Jich Dolwa House Dolwa Securitie 520 990 1530 1530 1276 1276 973 1890 2380 5180 1480 948 1480 948 13500 13500 13500 Kymene Nokia Pohjala Słockmann Uzd Paper Wartsila Hong Kong SEC Index : 538 48 Previous : 542.30 Bk East Asia Cothay Pacific Cothay Pacific Covendish Int'i Cheung Kang Chisa Light Pur Dalry Form Int'i Green Island Cem Hans Lung Dev Hans Seng Bank Handerson Lund HK Air Eng. HK China Gas HK Liand HK Air Eng. HK China Gas HK Land HK Air Eng. HK China Gas HK Land HK Air Eng. HK Shah Bank HK Than HK Shah His HK Tyournate Huich Whampod Hyson Dev Jerdine Main Landinen Main Awn World Main Marw World Dev SHK Preps Swiner Pac Swiner Pac Wing On Co Wingon Ind. Winer Ind Sourse trend index : +8.54% Previous : +8.85% Oct 14 Teroute 2713 + 102 + 103 + 104 + 103 + 104 + 103 + 104 + 103 + 104 + 27th Cyshand A 58th Physical Care 58th Physical Care 78th Proceed in Proceeding Procedure Procedure Procedure Procedure Procedure Procedure Procedure Procedure Proceeding Procedure P Oct. 13 505,61 540 78 82 114 114 82 86,50 911 946 48 48,50 Canadian stocks via AP High Law 2 P.M. Cho. 120th 1974, 1974-15 1214 1379, 1974-14 1314 1379, 1379-14 1315 1379-15 1315 1379-15 1315 1379-15 1315 1379-15 1315 1315 1379-14 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 1315 1315 1319-15 ANP-CB$ Geo1 index : 279.50 Previous : 277,48 F.T. 30 Index : Previous : 148 F.T.S.E. 100 inc iang Seng Index : 2593,89 Previous : 2561,76 1045 1045 944 944 1045 1045 440 440 339 371 92-50 91-25 125.75 125 138 184.25 Celonese Contri Cap Ciniplex Conwest A Corone A f Corone A f Crownx Denison B b Derison B Bonco So Bonesto CEPSA AECI Affecti Analo Americ Barlows Birvoor Buttels GFSA Harmanv Huveld Steel Kloof Nedbonk Rusolat SA Brews SI Hallena Sasat Welkom Western Deep 1250 17700 1850 1650 1650 1650 1755 1750 1750 1750 1750 1250 7700 9275 2500 6150 2600 8400 975 4040 1910 2150 2150 1900 Drogados Expl. Rio Hidroelec Iberauero Telefonica Frankfurt AEG Allianz Hida General Index ; 283.77 Previous : 283.98 iraits Times Ind. revieus : 997,21 994.57 Moos Prev. Class 3.375.80 3.371.75 TSE 300 Index: Banco Con Bassiosi Gipanoreis Cirk Cirk Eridania Fridania Indices Indi Oct. 13 Asers Astra Astra Astra Astra Astra Astra Astra Astra Esserie Esserie Hondelsban Pharmocia Norsk Hydn Soub-Sconia Soub-Sconia Sandvik SCA Composite Stock index : 1924 Previous : 1922 Soles Stock do172 Borth Mont 206771 Bornbrdr B 500 CIS Poli 1330 Custodes 1971 Confide 11411 Domit HA 1400 MnN 17131 121968 MnSIR Cda 2785 Never Cor 19765 Pourser Corp 16579 Provisios 54001 Rayral Bonk 2375 Steinbrg A 2205 Videolrad Tetol Soles 4715,794 1715— 16 2576— 16 1576— 16 1576— 16 1576— 16 1576— 16 1576— 16 1576— 17 1717— 16 1576— 16 1116— 16 1576— 16 1176— 16 1576— 16 1176— 16 16 16

Affoersyperiden : 934,10 Previous : 927,20

5.36 7.86 3.58 3.75 10.30 3.90 8.54 4.48 4.48 1.39 7.16

ACROSS 123 "Now sleeps Tennyson 124 J.F.K. visitor

PEANUTS

71 Charged particle 72 A eucalypt 75 Extinct bird 76 — of paris 78 "Henry the Fifth, thy — invocate": 80 Aegean Island 84 Calico pomes 85 Chinese

ACROSS

66 Monday-morr

backing e.g. 69 That is: Lat.

ing quarter-

63 Fit

dynasty 86 —— Porsena 88 Gelderland city

89 Innuits, e.g. 91 Fancy 93 650, to Cato 94 Expressions of disgust 95 Washington

Square Players' vehicle by 8 Down 96 Tony role for Dewhurst:

99 Invitation reqs. 102 Mother-of-pearl 103 Grown dearer in price 106 More underhanded

T. A. Daly ian Rom 111 "Lest we lose to-day : Ufford 49 Sloth, for one 112 Island off 50 "Return of the Venezuela 113 Amazon

——," 1983 tributary . • 51 Meadow 114 Book reviewer 52 Immerse 53 Scottish 116 Changed a pudding menu selection 55 Whence come: 118 Rose, to Jackie 119 Customary

ACROSS

8 French floor

13 "The Harry

Apr. role

(haller renewal

21 "The Long

Voyage Home," e.g. 22 "Death's

duell" author 24 Paint splasher

25 "--- You Glad

26 Conquistador

29 English writer

31 Mine, in a way

father was born here

35 Saloon where 50 Down bent

an elbow 38 "A — the Misbegotten (Robards vehicle) 43 ldı -

46 "The Hungar

45 Suffix with

48 "

Arthur -

" 30 Alley button

32 Franklin's

33 Voice of Tweetie Pie

You're You?"

Juan de ----27 Sec. of State: 1977

20 Kind of

17 On the Channe

movementi

— de jambe

courtesy, once

5 S.A. wood sorrel

1 Title of

58 Franci drink 120 A.A.R.P. 59 - damné concerns (willing tool) 121 Blood fluids 60 Made a path 122 Robeson of 61 Biblical

"The Emperor Jones" 62 Prop finish Solution to Last Week's Puzzle

O New York Times, edited by Eugene Maleska.

125 Calls for silence

DOWN

1 Bowes, e.g. 2 Together 3 Working up old material again neighbor

actor scars

Oregon: Abbr. 10 Fermi focus II "The Thief" 12 Marks with $ Santa Fe or

DOWN 5 "--- y Plata"
(Mont. motto) 6 Transported

66 Roscoe: Abbr. 68 Rod 7 Vehicle for Garbo 8 This E.G.O.

70 Pop 73 Hague's ' Fables' arrived Oct. 16. 75 Danny's girl 78 F-J link

77 Blend batter 79 Pilgrimage to

81 Extends 117 O - U connechability

DOWN WEATHER

BTR Burmah
Cable Wirele
Cadbury Schi
Charter Cons
Commercial I Cans Gold Cookson Gp
Courteulds
Dailsetv
De Baers
Dee Co.

82 "— to Walt Whitman": Garcia Lorea 83 French possessive

87 Dean and Edward 90 Card game 92 "And mine

— опе". Shak. 94 Adjective for 97 Cupcake toppers 98 Alum hot ..." 101 Weevil feature

104 German Republic's first president 105 Nothingness states 106 Upstart

107 Hyena, of the comics 108 Snow-blind? 109 Epochal 115 Lost lamb's

EUROPE NORTH AMERICA ASIA Alcarve Amsterdom Albens Barcelona Belgrade Berlia Brussels Budapest Copenhosen Costu Del Sol Doblia Edinbyrgh st Anchorage fr Affanta O Basten St Chicago fr Desver fr Detroit o Houston ci Los Anseks fr Migmi Minneopolis New York 15 Son Francisco 19
Seattle 17
Torosto 15
Washington 17
MIDDLE EAST 29 84 15 64 cl 29 77 13 55 fr 26 77 11 52 fr 29 84 14 57 fr Ci-cloudy; fo-loggy; fr-loir; h-hall; e-overcost; pc-portly cloudy; r-rein; SATURDAY'S FORECAST — CHANNEL: Slight: FRANKFURT: Cloudy. Temp. 18—11 (64—23). LONDON: Foir, Temp. 18—6 (64—43). MADRID: Roins, Temp. 29—12 (72—54). NEW YORK: Foir, Temp. 19—11 (66—52). PARIS: Chomping, Temp. 19—10 (66—50). ROME: Thunderstorms. Temp. 25—19 (77—56). TEL AVIV: Not available: ZURICH: Cloudy. Temp. 19—16 (66—50). BANGKOK: Foir. Temp. 22—24 (90—75). HONG KONG: Cloudy. Temp. 25—20 (77—75). MANILLA: Thunderstorms. Temp. 31—23 (80—77). SEOUL: Foogy. Temp. 26—16 (65—46). SINGAPORE: Thunderstorms. Temp. 27—10 (77—75). Temp. 27—10 (77—75). TOKTO: Foir. Temp. 29—10 (75—75).

ANDY CAPP

a: x100. MIB index Previous:

DENNIS THE MENACE

20% 20% 27% + W 27% + W 27% + W

Minneve Maisen A Maisen A Maisen B N-W Gr Morande Morande

C1000 1.572.83

BUSINESS PEOPLE NITE HT PARTY WEDNESDAY, DEJISSDAY, PROAT-PORTHE LATEST NEWS ON COMPORATE

Previous 1,572.35

 $V_{1}(\mathbb{R})$

ſι.

KOREBOA

Cities Pres

GOU

*I LIKE BANANAS. YOU'RE SUPPOSED TO EAT ONLY THE FILLING AND NOBODY YELLS AT YOU."

YOU'RE GOING TO BE ON JUST THE PASSWORD RAYMOND. GUARD TONIGHT, RAYMOND. 4,414 WHAT'S THE PASSWORD? LLL1/L/1

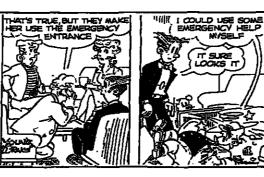

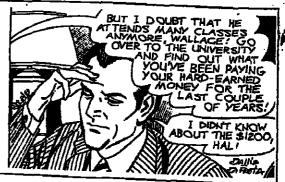

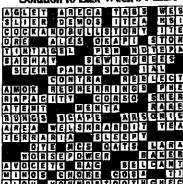

STADIUM BOX

DODGER TICKE

BOX OFFICE

SPORTS

Goin' to Kansas City, Raiders Hoping for a Boost from Bo

By Thomas George New York Times Service

IEF

I Wounds

ion income Bone.

An Adding the country for the country begins the country of the deat of Lebrania

titles to Content of the

the building the

5 Palestini

destroyed the bases of leader and radely allow by Paleston

h. to at Ramallah at t. to at Ramallah at t. t. n. out. Mustali to a still talled that the this wing incident.

the Palestinance that who other Re-police And in Nate

. solidiers shot and te

'ending Tal

THE SECTION AND

eld before early reals

unent scall to region:

whether it will take

totosts. General Say cheral elections with

r Backs Cha

of the Chilean Air fig.

the changes in the ישון שון שיין וכי יליני שם

rminae Matherase

he parament's fang

i'r des i President

cheral Matthe sadkt

er for it to be amenda-

salai continue to kneak

ath ortical veto possisi

on War Game

er en bildis menela

Paul A olated of agree

र प्रतास के अपने के प्रतास के किस्ता है।

Victorial to the Small per all a section of the erse form Sept 1994. namers all etioopte des

San Colored 1996

e a tribitation de la constalla de la constall

2000 No. 1 man makes

વા, તું કેલ્લાં, ફીઇં≢્

The second freeze and made of NOT in the company of the control of the allowing to and stroker.

ri - a a como a sua lindra

retered to a contracting

A step to to and

A SECOND OF SECURITION

EPDATE

to the state of the Property of the state of the st

a grant long rates

an the Take

ent to the street of the stree

A lanked to a land and related

Linked Andrews

Process therm were the time state.

And the second of the first second

Charles I robert little

Phone Minney Brief

Maria de la companya del companya de la companya del companya de la companya de l

Section 1

Approximate the second second

And the second s

 T^{*}

.....

4.0

815

72E.9

-1.0

A Menet

a constitut in 10000

19.00 P 152

s were demand

ich: 18. ordered his mi

bequire of panies

THE RESERVE THE PROPERTY AND THE PARTY OF TH

- de 4+

5 3 to 20

EL SEGUNDO, California -A battle cry often heard among the Los Angeles Raiders this sea-son has been, "If we can just hold on until Bo Jackson gets Well, Bo's back.

Jackson practiced Wednesday for the first time since ending his baseball season with the Kansas City Royals. He had 10 days off before picking up his "hobby."
"I'm ready to play now," Jack-son said. "I know the plays. If we were playing tomorrow, I think I would be ready. It feels better than last year. I'm not nervous.

able. I'm not a new person around here anymore. "There is nothing here I don't already know. The system is new with different names, different terminology, but I'm comfort-able. The players who have been here since training camp don't know all the plays.

I'm not coming here uncomfort-

Jackson, 25, has not lost a step. Or a word. Maybe it is fitting that he makes his debut this season m Kansas City, Missouri: the Raiders (2-4) play the Chiefs (1-4-1) on Sunday in Arrowhead Stadium. After a baseball season in which Jackson had 25 home runs, but hit only 246 and struck out 146 times, Kansas City fans get a chance to boo him again. With Marcus Allen, who did not play last Sunday in the Raiders' loss to the Miami Dolphins, still questionable because of a broken wrist, Jackson could get the ball often.

Jay Schroeder, the Raiders' quarterback, is happy to have him. Schroeder said Jackson gives the Raiders another long option via the run or pass.

"He's always in great shape," said Mike Shanahan, the Raiders' first-year coach. "But there are a lot of question marks. Can Marcus play? How effective will he be if he does play? Is Bo Jackson comfortable with the offense? I think he is. Right now I'm not thinking about Bo coming in as a starter, but coming in and having the ability to play."

Jackson played seven games with the Raiders last year. He gained 554 yards (507 meters) on 81 carries, an average of 6.8 yards per carry. He also caught 16 passes for 136 yards.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE San Francisco (4-2) at Los Angeles Rams (5-1): These teams. with big plays, and this game is no

"I think when you talk Rams you talk run," said Bill Walsh, the 49ers' coach. "But their improved passing game can catch you napping. Any one area in a game like this, the run, pass or kicking game, can beat you."

Both teams are capable in all areas. The 49ers, however, boast the conference's No. 1 offense and No. 3 defense. And for all the Rams' running prowess, the 49ers, behind Roger Craig, rank first in offense in the National

Dallas (2-4) at Chicago (5-1): The Cowboys need this one for morale and to stay afloat in the National Conference East, Dallas surprisingly ranks second in conference passing with Steve Pelluer, but the Bears are no surprise with their top-rated defense. Jim McMahon, the Bears' quarterback, should play despite suffering a concussion last week against Detroit. Green Bay (1-5) at Minnesota (4-2): Can the Packers keep it up?

After a shocking 45-3 victory over the New England Patriots last week, they're hungry for more. "Let's hope winning is contagious," said Packers' coach Lindy Infanie, "Losing sure was." Phoenix (4-2) at Washington

(3-3): The Cardinals shoot for another victory over the Redskins and a chance to widen their NFC East lead. "We just want to play for four quarters," said Neil

NFL PREVIEW

Lomax, the Phoenix quarter-Washington coach Joe Gibbs said of the Cardinals: "They're for real. It's no mistake they're in Detroit (1-5) at N.Y. Giants (3-3): After the spellbinding loss the Giants suffered to Randall ingham and the Philadelphia Eagles on Monday night,

Everyone is talking about the new and improved Miami defense. With the Dolphins playing against the Chargers, there should be even more of that talk.

they need a break. Here is one in the Lions.

The surprise in this one, however, is this: the Detroit defense ranks 10th in the National Conference, New York's 14th. The Lions' pass defense ranks 6th, the Giants' 14th. If the Giants are ever to get their anemic running game on track, this is the time. The Lions have been outrushed, 845 yards to 435 yards. AMERICAN CONFERENCE

Cincinnati (6-0) at New En-gland (2-4): A loss like the one the Patriots endured last week against the league's worst team is the kind of thing that could precede a victory over the league's best club. The Bengals' coach, Sam Wyche,

"Every week, there has been a different challenge, and this one

The Raiders hope Bo Jackson's return won't be a quiet one.

Facing Mighty A's, Are Dodgers 1988 Version of Twins?

By Murray Chass

New York Times Service LOS ANGELES — In the aftermath of the New York Mets' loss to the Los Angeles Dodgers in the final game of the National League pernant playoff, Joe McIlvaine stood in the Mets chibbouse and recalled a moment 10 months earlier.

"I was standing between Fred and Sandy thinking this is a great trade for these teams," the Met excoutive related. "As it turned out, we East. They must do so against a potentially punishing Bills defense and an offense that is coming alive.

Houston (4-2) at Pittsburgh (1-5): The feud between Clinck Noll and Jerry Glanville last season were the last three teams playing McIlvaine was recalling the cight-player, three-way deal in December among the Mets, the Dodgers and the Oakland Athletics. The Mets has been well-documented, as has the rivalry between these Central Division foes. Noll, the Steelers' coach, has called the Oilers and the Dodgers played for the Na-'cheap-shot artists." Glanville, is unique in its own way," Wyche said. "We're running into a team ready to prove something. I just hope we don't think we're finished proving a few things to ourselves."

Buffalo (5-1) at N.Y. Jets (3-2-

1): This Monday night game is an important one for the Jets to pull closer to Buffalo in the AFC made more big defensive plays.

Tampa Bay (2-4) at Indianapolis (1-5): The Colts think they are a better team than their record shows. They won the East last season and need this game badly

even to hope to re-enter the play-

San Diego (2-4) at Miami (3-3): Everyone is talking about the new and improved Miami defense. With the Dolphins playing against the Chargers, who have produced a league-low 74 points, there should be even more of that

INTERCONFERENCE

Philadelphia (3-3) at Cleveland (3-3): The Eagles want to keep a good thing going, but the Browns are tough at home and feature a secondary that should pose problems for Cunningham.

(4-2): A battle of heavyweights, but the Saints can take solace in the fact that the Seahawks, once dominant in the Kingdome, can be had. The 49ers ripped them there, 38-7, earlier this season.

And New Orleans has the NFC's fifth-best overall defense and

Atlanta (1-5) at Denver (3-3):

The Falcons are regrouping from the death of David Croudin, their special-teams captain. That, At-lanta's inconsistent play and a more talented Denver team is a mountain to overcome in Mile fourth-best pass defense.

New Orleans (5-1) at Seattle

tional League permant. Now the Dodgers face the A's in the World the Oilers' coach, has said his Dodgers face the A's in the World Series beginning here Saturday.

The Dodgers, McIlvaine con-cluded, "got the more immediate help; we got the future help."

They won immediately," he said.

I gness we'll win in the future."

Whatever the Mets do in subseteam simply plays hard.
The offenses are comparable, especially with the bushel of quar-terback injuries each has endured, but the defenses are not. Houston has allowed 20 fewer points and Otient seasons remains to be seen. but for the present, the situation is unique because of the involvement of the teams in the trade.

The trade — engineered by McIlvaine, Fred Claire of Los Angeles and Sandy Alderson of Oakland brought the Dodgers Alfredo Griffin, their shortstop; Jay Howell, their top relief pitcher, and Jesse Orosco, another member of the bullpen. The A's got Bob Welch, who is their No. 2 starting pitcher. Dave Stewart, Welch and Storm Davis, Oakland's starting trio, will try to do what New York's heralded pitchers could not do. The A's have more than those pitchers and are considered a relatively beavy favorite to beat the Dodgers. But the Mets had more than their pitchers and they, too, were supposed to beat the Dodgers. Which raises a question: Are the Dodgers the 1988 version of the Minnesota Twins? The Twins, with 85 victories last year, were a most unlikely team to win the World Series. But they did, beating the more talented St. Louis Cardinals in seven games. The Dodgers readily admitted that they were not as talented as the Mets, but they beat them, roughing up their pitchers in the process.

The A's have similar pitchin strengths. Their three starters and Dennis Eckersley, the major-league leader with 45 saves, pose a major roadblock for the Dodgers.

in the seventh game.

tion of how prepared the Mets were

Johnson got his wish and was able to use Gregg Jefferies for the final month. The kid showed he is a second inning of the seventh game.

of the Mets' irregulars worried that the "pheenom" was intruding on a division-championship lineup, they sounded like whiners, but they may

Some of them would probably have botched everything Jefferies botched, and they could not hit the way he can. But after yet another year of juggling in the Bermuda Triangle on the left side of the infield, the Mets still seemed shaky at Jefferies is here to stay, although than Len Dykstra and Wally Backman at the top of the order. Keith

Hernandez has worn out his wel-come with some writers and teammates, but the Mets could win a

Of course, the Mets could have won the World Series this year, too. That is both the blessing and the curse of an organization that has been rebuilt so well.

The Mets can be good sports and give credit to Lasorda, Hershiser

World Series with him next year.

have had a point.

those two positions.

for the championship series.

The A's also have the type of explosive hitting the Mets displayed during the season. Jose Canseco, Mark McGwire and Dave Henderson hit a total of 98 home runs and drove in 317 runs. They will provide a serious test for the

As surprisingly good as the Dodgers' hitters showed disdain for the Mets' problem represents the Dodgers' hitters pitchers, the Dodgers' pitchers sty-mied the Mets' hitters. Darryl Strawberry hit only one home run. Keith Hemandez, in a stretch during the middle games of the playoff, ed to hit safely in six times at bat the National League West champiwith a total of nine runners on base. onship, then hearing that they Three times he struck out and once could not beat the Mets, they

IN L.A., NOTHING FOR EARLY BIRDS — Dodger fans lined up early Thursday to buy World Series tickets, but after waiting hours, they were told that the tickets would be sold only by telephone.

The Dodgers got two victories from Tim Belcher, their rookie starter; they got effective relief ef-forts from Brian Holton, Ricky The New York Yankees learned that in 1976. They played such an emotional struggle against the Kansas City Royals in what was Horton and Alejandro Pena and then a five-game playoff that they they got the series of a pitcher's life were exhausted at its conclusion from Orel Hershiser, who was the most dominant force in the playoff. and just happy to have reached the World Series. In the Series, however, they were flat against the Cincinnati Reds, a stronger team, and problem receating that type of play against the A's, who easily swept the the Reds swept four games.

Because they lost 10 of 11 games Boston Red Sox in four games in the to the Mets during the season and heard constant talk about it for American League playoff. Having heard all season that weeks before the playoffs, the they were not good enough to win Dodgers set out to prove that those results were misleading. Achieving that was their ultimate goal.

he hit into a double play. He soared to an emotional altitude will they be able to regenerate grounded into another double play that cannot be maintained for themselves quickly and turn on their drive against the A's? weeks at a time.

That task will be as difficult as any undertaken this season.

■ Belcher vs. Stewart Likely Belcher was expected to open the Series for the Dodgers against Oakland's Stewart, the Associated Press reported from Los Angeles.

Belcher won Games 2 and 5 of the NL playoffs, the first rookie to win two games in the playoffs since the format began in 1969. He finished the regular season 12-6, winning nine of his last 11 games. Stewart, who won eight straight before losing a game this season, fin-ished 21-12. He won Game 4 of the Now that they have achieved it, playoffs for the A's.

VANTAGE POINT/George Vecsey

Looking for Mets' 'Vital Signs'

NEW YORK --- If this had been ' a midscason game, it could have been filed away as a "laugher," one of those 60 or 70 losses that even a championship team suffers every season, "good pitching stopping good hitting" and all that good old baseball wisdom.

But this was for the permant. This was for the ticket to the World Series. This was for bragging rights next season. And in this biggest game of the 1988 season, Tom Lasorda's Los Angeles Dodgers swag-gered and executed and Dave Johnson's New York Mets stumbled and fell apart.

The most compelling sight in the 6-0 clincher Wednesday evening was the Dodgers' two bully boys, Kirk Gibson and Mickey Hatcher, throwing themselves around the field and the dugout, spurning their teammates with their energy.

The Mets do not have that energy, have not had it since Ray Knight in 1986, which may prove that pennants and world championships should be seen as once-ina-generation bolts of lightning and savored as such.

The loss to the Dodgers, however, should make the Mets' management look carefully at what kind of club they want for the years to come. It was surely no disgrace for the Mets to win more than 90 games for the fifth straight year under Johnson, nor was it any disgrace to lose the permant to Orel Hershiser, a fine athlete and one of the most appealing players the sport could beam into living rooms.

The Dodgers' victory is a tribute to the entire organization and a re-minder that Lasorda is the best manager since young Leo Durocher. that other Dodger No. 2, at knowing how to boot a hot horse home. When Lasorda was brooding about his future early this season, Peter O'Malley changed tactics and extended Lasorda's contract for two years. As Mamma Lasorda probably said about a steaming dish of pasta e fagioli: coakin't hurt. In the Mets series, Lasorda kept the enthusiastic, clumsy Hatcher at first base and allowed the injured Gibson to keep himself in the line-up, until it served Lasorda's defenshowed youthful imperfections in the Dodger series, failing to bunt twice, getting hit with that slow roller in the fifth game and botching a ground ball in the decisive

Perhaps pennants and world championships should be seen as once-in-ageneration bolts of lightning and savored as such. sive strategy to take the big guys out.

This was emotional hunch managing, beyond the logic and the printouts and the medical reports. The Mets, on the other hand, came into the postseason as a team one has to wonder if the prodigy has still in transition, still inventing ita khutzy streak that could keep him self, without the final transforming burst of leadership and energy. Since September 1987, the Mets from becoming a star. He has singlehandedly made at least three players - Dave Magadan, Tim Teufel and either Howard Johnson or Kevin have sensed that their manager was preoccupied by the question of his Elster - superfluous. Mighty imjob security. Nobody fully knows pressive for a young man. the reason for the bad vibrations between Frank Cashen and Johnson - oil and water, bow ties and ryl Strawberry and Kevin McReyncowboy boots, you put a label on it — but it exists.

questions from the media about Johnson's status, it was the cold silence from the front office that made Johnson even more remote and suspicious.

Let's get it straight: it was not the World Series and the A's did most of their slugging in the cubbleuse. The A's beat the Dodgers, 4-1, in the first all-California Series, the Now the word from Cashen is that Johnson's "vital signs" are looking good. Fair enough. Johnlast of Oakland's three consecutive championships and the last World Series for Walter Alston, who was the Dodgers' manager. son is a good manager by any standard, but there is a lingering ques-

The day before the first game, pitchers Rollie Fingers and Blue Moon Odom punched each other out. Fingers need stitches and Odom ended up with a fat lip. There were verbal wars, too. Reggie Jackson and Vida Blue did

'74: First California Series

LOS ANGELES - In 1974, Oakland played has Angeles in the little to conceal their contempt for the man who then owned the A's, Charley Finley. Catcher Steve Yeager started four of the five games for the Dodgers and believes that the 1974 Dodger squad was a perfer team than this year's National League champions. "We had Davey Lopes, Steve Garvey, Ron Cey, Jimmy Wynn and Bill Buckner," Yeager said. "That's some pretty good hitting."

But hitting was not dominant: the Dodgers hit .228, the A's .211. The A's used only five pitchers — Blue, Odom, Fingers, Ken Holtzman and Jim "Catfish" Hunter. Fingers won a game, saved two ed the Most V "The pitching was great in that Series and I think it will be the deciding factor this year, too," said Dodgers coach Bill Russell, who played shortstop for Los Angeles in 1974.

The A's won the first game, 3-2, at Dodger Stadium and Hunter, a 25-game winner, got the last out for the save. Don Sutton beat Oakland, 3-2, in the second game, striking out nine in eight innings.

The Series moved to Oakland and the A's won three straight behind Hunter, Holtzman and Odom. "There's really no rivalry between the two teams and that Series was so long ago it means nothing in relationship to this year." Russell said.

Before South Africa Meets, U.S. Group Warns of Bans

INDIANAPOLIS -- Thirteen

U.S. track and field athletes could The front office must make Dar- receive life suspensions from all domestic and international competiolds feel at home in New York, with tions sanctioned by The Athletics kind words and money. The pitching is excellent. You could do worse Amateur Athletic Federation if they participate in a series of meets in South Africa as planned.

Ollan Cassell, executive director of The Athletics Congress, the governing body of the sport in the United States, sent a letter to the South African Council on Sport asking that U.S. athletes be warned of the consequences of competing in meets there this month.

The first event is scheduled for Saturday in Johannesburg, the second Oct. 18 in Stellenbosch and the last on Oct. 22 in Germiston.

and Gibson, and make plans for 1989. Or they can blame the man-Cassell said in a written statement Thursday that any athlete na State distance runner; Milan who competes in South Africa is Steward, the 1982 National Colleager for losing.
But if Cashen wants to blame the "subject to disqualification by manager, he also will have to take some blame for letting the Mets play the 1988 season with a manager who was twisting in the wind,

The IAFF will look upon the matter "very gravely, and will probably take strenuous action," Cassell said. long jumper Kevin Atkins.

Because of its apartheid policy. South Africa was banned from the Olympic Games beginning in 1964 and was expelled from membership in the IAFF in 1976. Since the IAFF ban, no U.S. athlete has competed in South Africa, Cassell said.

The 13 athletes cited are Tom Petranoff, former world recordholder in the javelin; John Powell Olympic bronze medalist in the discus; Carol Cady, a 1988 Olympian and U.S. record-holder in the discus; Ruth Wysocki, a 1984 Olympian at 800 meters; James Robinson, a 1976 Olympian and the 1979 Part American Games 800-meter champion; Dave Laut, 1984 Olympic bronze medalist in the shot put; Tyrus Jefferson, third in the long jump at this year's U.S. champion-ships; Ray Wicksell, former Arizogiate Athletic Association 110-meter hurdles champion; sprinters Ce-dric Gilder and James Andrews, hurdler Keith Thibodeaux, and

SIDELINES SCOREBOARD

BASEBALL

World Series Player Comparison

			. • •		KAR WE K	H MR	X A I		Keser ses
Ī				•	First Base			Sharperson, LA	271 59 8	16 O A
- (,	Shubba LA	223 242 3	10 54 E	34	Demosey, LA	25 1 6 7 25	42 7 39
3	_	er farmi.		Halcher, LA	.293 191 2	2 54 1	25	Heep, LA	.242 149 14	36 O 17
	1 021		1.0	McGwire, Ook	.260 550 5			Dovis LA	.1% 287 29	SS 2 17
:	1		• •		. —			Garagalez, LA	.053, 24, 7	2 B 4
-	_	•'	,		lecond Base			Parker, Oak	257 377 43	97 12 55
•				Sex, LA	207 632 7			Baylar, Oak	.225 264 28	58 7 34
-				Gallega, Dak	209 277 3	8.582	20	Singtra, Oak	.333 9 1	2 0 5
:			1		Shortston			Philips. Ook	203 212 22	43 2 17
:			10.46	Griffin LA		.	-		rting Pitchers
•	_	1	טאיס ו		199 314 3		27	W- L		BB SO
			I JUP	Welst Ook	250 452 4	14 113 3	39	Hersher, LA	23 6226 1267.0
7	- 3 2	ne Is		•	Third Base	-	:	Tudor, LA	10 8232 0197.2
i				Hamilton, LA	-236 '109	34 73 4	33	Beicher, LA	12 6297 41292
_				Woodson, LA	20 173			Leary, LA	1711291 82282
			- 5	Lansford, Oak	.277 554				.,
•			. J		Lettistd		_	Stewart. Ok	21 123.23 0 275.2
,		1			.298°542.1			Welch, Ook	17 9364 02442
4.		1 march		Gibson LA				Davis, Oak	16 73.79 0 201.2
		AZTIK	12.	Polonia, Oak			.27	C.Yeng. Ok	15 8414 91563	162 50 67
		7.2	A CONTRACTOR	Joviet, Oak	257 397	47 192 2	35	•	Relievers
÷	::2	$(g_1,g_2,\cdots,g_n)^{2}$			CasterRets .			Howell LA	5 32.0821 450	44 21 70
:			1.15	Shelby, LA	.263 494	45:330 10	· 🛵 .	Hollon, LA	7 31.70 1 84.2	69 26 49
•	-		* 	Henderson, Och		100 154 24		Peng. LA	6 7 1.91 12 941	75 77 ED
-							-	Oresce, LA	3 2272 9 538
:					2 obtilete			Herian, LA		11 2 8
			4.0	Marshall, LA	207 502			Eckraty, Ok	A 223645 723
•	ž*	10 /4 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1		Conseco, Ook	-307 61B T	120 187 42	124
,					Colcher			Coderet, Ok	5 2289 3 71.2
		6	19 P. C. C.	Polosolo I A				Plunk, Ook	7 2300 5 780
		4.3.1.5		Scioscio, LA	.257 406 °			Netson, Oak	9 63,06 3771,2
1		• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •	1871 1871	Steinbach, Ook		4 93 9		Burns, Oak	8 23.16 1702.2	93 34 57
		A	المرابع الكاواس	Hossey, Ook	72. 27.	32 63 7	45	Honyett, Ok	3 2330 7 792	74 25 47 n 23"

TRANSITION

Harry Standard Person BASEBALL American League

BALTIMORE—Signed Doug Robbirs

coricity, to a minor-league contract and as-Mational League
PHILADELPHIA—Released David Palar-

> SAN DIEGO—Signed Eric Show, pilicher, io a two-year contract. BASKETBALL National Backethalt Leasur
> DENVER—Angunard that Reddle

Secretary Secretary Banks guard, has left training comma.
PHILADELPHIA—Agreed to terms with Act Marie A

SATURDAY, OCT. 15

HOCKEY

Philodelphia New Jersey Pittsburgh NY Islanders Boston Quebec Buffalo Mantreal Hartford

FOOTBALL Canadian Football League BRITISH COLUMBIA—Put Tany Martino. Idicker, on the practice raster, Released Donover Footh, sucret. OTTAMA—Signed Ray Departs, exciterbook. Activated Mike Hudgar, softback, and book. Activoted Mike Hudgor, statiset, and Michael Crise. Helectical Puri Michael Greenfeld, quarterfact, on the reserve Tisk. SASKATCHEWAN—Pur Ken Habert, quarterfact, on the exactice roster.

TORONTO—Activated Lee Marris, wide receiver, and Bob Stemp, tockle. Pur Dan Former, guard, on the reserve list. Put Persel Macre, wide receiver, on the injured list. Put Keryon Jenkins, rupaline back, an the aracter maker.

fice region.

Hadipari Football Laugus REFEALO-Announced the refere lomby (2), Ekkund (1), Schruhver (1), Tocchair (2), Propp 3 (3), Archibold (2), Ciccoraiti 2 (3). Shots ee geal: Philosetshia (an Mylivs) 12-15-5-33; Milanesota (an Hexical) 13-17-25-38.

World Series Schedule

Ocklord (Stewart 2-12) of Los Ange (Beicher 12-6)
SUNDAY, OCT. 16
Ocklond of Los Angeles
TUESDAY, OCT. 18
Los Angeles of Ocklond
WEDNESDAY, OCT. 17
Los Angeles of Ocklond reles of Onkland x-THURSDAY, OCT. 20 Los Angeles at Oakland »SATURDAY, OCT. 22 Oakland at Los Angeles Angeles
x-SUNDAY, OCT. 22
Cookland of Los Angeles
(x-if secretary)

NHL Standings

WALES CONFERENCE

Morris Division
W L T Pts GP

Philadelphia 8 4 3—7 Missesta 1 1 4—4 Habacheld (1), Kerr (1), Broten (1), Mei-

Weightlifter's Parents Enter Turkey ANKARA (Renters) — Bulgaria allowed the parents of the Olympic champion weightlifter Naim Suleymanoght to enter Turkey on Friday to be reunited with their son.

Suleymanoghi's parents, brother and sister, whom he had not seen since defecting from Bulgaria two years ago, crossed the border at Kapikule, the Anatolian News Agency said. They are expected to be granted political asylum in Tunkey, where Suleymanogla, 21, was feted as a hero after winning the country's first Olympic gold medal in 20 years

Turkish officials said earlier this month that they expected Bulgaria to make a gesture, such as allowing Suleymanogiu's parents to leave, but that basic problems had remained unresolved.

U.S. Ousted in Golf's Dunhill Cup ST. ANDREW'S, Scotland (AP) - The top-seeded U.S. team, led by

Curtis Strange, was eliminated from the Dunhill Cup team golf tournament here Friday, losing its quarterfinal match to eighth-seeded Ireland Ronan Rafferty of Ireland shot a 71 to beat Mark McCumber of the United States by a stroke. Chip Beck of the United States and Ireland's Des Smyth then split their match, each scoring 71s. It was left to Strange to try to salvage victory, but despite a four-under-per 68, he lost to Eamonn Darcy, who carded a 66 to give Ireland the victory. In another second-round match, Australia, which won the trophy in 1985 and 1986, overcame a sparkling start by Wales to win, 2-1. In the other two quarterfinals, Spain was facing Japan, and England, the defending champion, was to meet Scotland.

Tulane Back in Conference After Ban

ATLANTA (AP) - Tolane University, which withdrew from the Metro Conference in 1985 following an alleged point-shaving scandal in its men's basketball program, has been reinstated to the conference.

The reinstatement, which was announced Thursday, will be effective Sept. 1, 1989, ending Tulane's third full academic year out of the league.

Quotable

Because if you don't get well, you die."

• Tom Lasorda, manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, asked if he over put pine far on the ball when he was pitching: "With the stuff I had, pal, I (LAT) used everything I could."

• Jim Lachey, on going from the San Diego Chargers to the Loss Angeles Raiders to the Washington Redskins in a period of five weeks: "I'm just a rent-a-tackle." • St. Louis pitcher Joaquin Andujar, on weather: "You can't worry if it's hot. You can't worry if it's cold. You only worry when you get sick.

Jockey Is Killed in Fall at Belmont By Steven Crist New York Times Service of discussions about jockey safety. That drives it home even more." NEW YORK - Michael Vege-According to the Jockeys' Guild. zia, a 43-year-old jockey who was a national union of riders, more planning to retire at the end of this year, died Thursday of massive head injuries when he was kicked by a horse after a spill in the fifth race at Belmont Park The remainder of the day's races were canceled immediately. Fans silently shuffled out of the park after being informed of the fatal accident, and the other jockeys dressed quickly and waved off reporters as they left.

Mr. Walter K., the horse Venezia was riding, had bobbled briefly at the start but then quickly moved into contention and was up to third place on the outside when he clear-

After two strides. Venezia jumped from the left side of the horse, without having had time to look behind him.

"We extend our deepest sympa-thy to the family of Mike Venezia," said Martin L. Lieberman, senior vice president of the New York representative of the Jockeys' small scale.

Racing Association, which operates Relmont "Riding is a dangerous occupa-than 100 jockeys have been killed in racing accidents since the union was formed in 1940. At least seven other riders have been killed at U.S. tracks since 1980. Venezia, who was born in Brooklyn and rode his first winner in 1964, won 2,313 races and rode the winners of over $33 million during his 25-year career. He recently said that the highlight of his career was winning six races in one day at Aqueduct, on Dec. 7, 1964. His major stakes victories included the 1978 Alabama on White Star Line, the 1980 Nassan County on Winters Tale and the 1982 Gotham on Air Forbes Won. The jockey, who had won only 26 would retire at the end of this year, races this year, had said often in recent months that he probably tion as we are reminded of so fre- He planned to train horses and had quently and tragically. Mike was a already begun breeding them on a

POSTCARD

Canals Divide a Venice

By Robert Reinhold New York Times Service

VENICE, California. — Found-ed at the turn of the century as a canal-graced center of artistic and intellectual ferment, Venice today seethes with questions like: Will the ducks be able to climb out of the canals to feed if the crumbling walls are bolstered? Should the walls be sloped or vertical? Did someone sabotage the plants in a restoration test by pouring oil

What can be done to stop developers from ruining the eclectic

These are the issues that divide neighbors along six derelict canals that are the last vestige of a plan to create a glorious Venice in America near the Pacific Ocean.

This is a tiny refuge from reality — part trendy, part scruffy — on the edge of Los Angeles. Calling it home are such diverse types as Or-son Bean, the actor, Henry Coleman, the movie producer, Ed Stanley, an eccentric lawyer who cruises around on roller skates, and freespirited artisans like Dave Contant. a carpenter who commutes to work by cance. "There are no stoplights, no danger," Contant says.

He gazes at the placid canal through the wide windows of his living room and pronounces the view better than Valium. "It gets me out of my worries, like watching sheep jump over fences," he says.
But the peace has been shattered

since the city began testing a plan to rehabilitate the canals by replac-ing the crumbled concrete slabs that now line the banks with interlocking concrete blocks. Holes in the blocks would let ice plant, pickleweed and other flora grow; the sloping design will allow ducks to climb out easily.

That plan has the support of some residents. Others, though, want a more elaborate reconstruction with vertical banks and wide

After a series of studies and hearings, the Los Angeles City Council is expected to choose a plan, subject to approval by state and federal environmental agencies. The bartle is really between those who fear the canals will change too much and lose their charm, particularly tenants who fear being pushed out if it gets too fancy, and homeowners who want to upgrade the cramped neighborhood.

Already the smallest shack brings $390,000. Just 12 miles (20 kilometers) from downtown Los Angeles, the canal houses are as eclectic as the residents. Small wooden shacks behind picket fences and offbeat gardens of purple bougainvillaea and vegetables abut sleek new homes.

But the canals are filled with muck and debris. It is not what Abbot Kinney had in mind when he founded Venice in 1905 as a citadel of culture. All 16 miles of his canals have long since been filled. But six adjoining canals, to-taling 1.1 miles in length and built by the Pacific Electric Co., the old interurban railway operator, sur-

It seemed years of sporadic rehabilitation efforts had borne fruit when in 1986 the City Council approved a $3.3 million self-assessment plan by a property owners' group, the Venice Canals Association, to build the vertical banks. But environmental agencies resisted that as a threat to wildlife and a group representing tenants threw up roadblocks. Last year, Ruth Galanter, an environmentalist, was elected to the City Council from Venice and she scuttled the plan.

CONTANT prefers the modest slope plan for Venice. "We realize it is getting gentrified, but we want to keep the charm," he says, adding that he wornes that a fancy reha-bilitation will bring tourists and skateboarders.

sloped bank, like Ed Stanley, the lawyer, call it ugly. A vertical wall, he added, would be attractive and durable. This faction also argues that vertical walls would make it easier to tie up boats and that its small ledge would make it safer; an 18-month old child recently fell in the water and drowned.

The other side suspects the true motivation is to tie the area into the nearby Silver Strand, a costly neighborhood nearer to the beach.

A spokesman for Galanter called the vertical plan "dead, history, fin-ito." The project manager for the Venice Canals Association, Derek B. Lidow, of Eastern Canal, says he prefers the vertical wall but now accepts the city's plan as the only way to move without years of fur-ther delay. "Most feel we should go ahead anyway," he says. "The ca-nals are rapidly filling in. It's too

London Fights to Tame Its Spray-Can Artists

By Craig R. Whitney New York Times Service ONDON - Would you be-L lieve graffiti on the London subways? The London Underground would like you not to, and will spend about £1 million ($1.7 million) this year trying to remove it as fast as it is sprayed on,

Jagged "tags" — personal sig-natures like "Scam," "Cape" or only trains and stations, but also public buildings and private homes in many neighborhoods.

For any former New York straphanger, a ride on the District Line above ground east of London to Upney or Dagenham East is like old and not necessarily good times - small wonder, since the technique of cartooning, tagging and using rail rights-of-way as canvases came here from across the sea in the last few years.

But some local community workers and artists in the worstafflicted areas are trying to transform vandalism into constructive art, moving graffiti, and the sense of identity that it expresses, off the streets and into art galleries

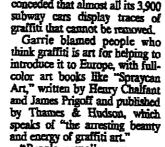

3.4

"Our philosophy is, we don't conceded that almost all its 3,900 care if it's Rubens or Gainsbor-subway cars display traces of ough — we don't want it on our trains or our buildings," said Neil Garrie, an official of the London Underground,

First of all, putting it there has dangers. An 11-year-old boy was killed last year applying graffiti to a train in Kilburn Park station. But the biggest single problem is that it creates a slum environ-"Foam," sprayed hurriedly in that it creates a slum environ-black in a single line — mar not ment, an atmosphere of threat and apprehension." The Underground is trying to get the courts, which have generally taken a lement view, to impose stiff sentences and fines on the few hundred graffiti vandals who are caught and prosecuted each year. Though the law provides for penalties of up to 10 years in prison or an unlimited fine, the usual sentence for young miscreants, who are mostly male, is a fine of £100 or less or a sentence of a few hundred hours' community service to help

In the last year, the London Underground said it spent more than £700,000 on cleaning up defaced trains, buses and stations and improving security. Despite all the scrubbing, the authority and energy of graffiti art."

"People actually came over here from the United States and gave lectures on how to do it," Garrie said. "But it's the 'tagging' that is the problem more than the full-size murals," Ricky Plant, a 23-year-old from Notting Hill, whose tag is "Chase," said he no longer tried to work in the subways. "Once you've done a piece they wash it right off," he said. He ought to know. When he was canght spray-ing graffit at the Hammersmith station a couple of years ago, he was working as a ticket collector. "They brought me up on an administrative hearing and sacked me for it," he said. Now he does abstract designs on canvas, working with other young graffiti artists in the Tabernacle Community Center in Not-ting Hill. David Curtis, coordinator of the center, said he started the art program after the building, a former church, started being defaced just like the subways.

"It was being done by a whole lot of kids, mostly black but not all, mostly unemployed, or getting by with bits and pieces of casual work," Curtis said. "I knew it wouldn't stop just because we told them to stop it; there had to be an alternative."

With help from private grants and help and money from the Labor government in his neigh-borhood, Curtis brought people like Plant together with artists like Mark Jackson, a 28-year-old graphic designer from northern England who came down to learn about graffiti and what went into it. He tags his work "Contempt." Tagging is all based on one line because it has to be done in a hurry, while you're looking over your shoulder for the police,"

EMPLOYMENT

SECRETARIAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

US FORTUNE: 500 CO needs for Si Germoin en Loye office dynamic & experienced administrative cassions. Must be fluent in English, Franch & possibly German, Preferential bodi-ground in inf1 business, J/C's & cus-tomer service. Solary open. Box 0285, IHI, 75521 Neully Cedex, France INTERNAL PORMAL ACTUARY.

INTERNATIONAL AUTHOR, proprietor of Bordeoux chateou, seeking profes-of Bordeaux chateau, seeting profes-sonal secretary, French/Euglish per-fect. Sales expensence, accommodation and auto provided. Send resume and "We don't care if it's Rubens - we don't want it on buildings."

Jackson said. "Kids were getting arrested all the time. We've been trying to stop that from happen-ing and channel their creativity into something more construc-

Plant's favorite outdoor studio is a sunken basketball court near Portobello Road known locally as the "Hall of Fame," where budding street artists paint large, multicolored murals. The critics, other artists, can pass harsh judg-ment: "If they don't like a piece, they'll put their own tags over it and trash it," Jackson said. "If they do like it, it'll stand for three

Some of the young people from the neighborhood hope graffiti art will be their ticket up and out. 'My parents came from Belfast for a better life-style," said San-dra Belgrave, a 21-year-old from Shepherd's Bush whose tag is "Zip."
"We spent the first 12 years of "living in my life in the squats," living in vacant buildings, she said. My parents are a bit bewildered now: their daughter, trained to be a secretary, is a graffiti artist."

PEOPLE

4,000 Attend Concert In Israel at Masada

Under the stars and the gaze of Under the stars and the gaze of hundreds of Israeli soldiers, 4,000 people wanched the conductor Zabin Mehta lead the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra in Mahler's Schrond Symphony at Massda, and legendary last outpost of 960 Jewisch realors in 73 A.D. Speaking at ish zealots in 73 A.D. Speaking at the concert were Foreign Minister Shinton Peres and President Chain Herzog. The audience included Prime Minister Vitzlank Shnaik, Natur Sharansky, President Rata Sir Penala Gamilan of Fiji and Enropean leaders. The event was put on by the Paris-based Keron Or, a nonprofit group that builds schools and sports facilities for Israeli sol-diers. Gregory Peck, the master of ceremonies, and Yves Montand, a guest of honor, addressed the audience in Hebrew.

Barry M. Goldwater, 79, who so delights in being thought of as the most anti-communist man in the United States, says he would like to fly to the Soviet Union and shake Mikhail S. Gorbachev's hand. "I think this man may mark the beginning of a new Soviet Union," says. the retired senator from Arizona adding that he has the U.S. State Department working to set up a trip. He has just published "Gold-water," an autobiography that calls former presidents Richard Novan and Lyndon B. Johnson liars and debates whether President Roself Reagan was a liar or an incompetent in handling the Iran-contra

Jane Fonda fell off a bicycle while pedaling down a Toronto street, smacking her head on the pavement and breaking her nose. "She's fine. It was no big deal." said Steve Rivers, a spokesman. Fonda was treated at a hospital and released. Fonda, is making the film "Letters" with Robert De Niro in Toronto. Shooting was suspended for several days, but resumed Friday and Friday. day with Fonds.

The Bordeaux vineyard of Baroa Philippe de Rodsschild has joined forces with the Robert Mondari vineyard in California to produce a California wine that will be marketed in France and 13 other European countries, the Chateau Mon-ton-Rothschild announced. The wine, to be called Opus One, will be marketed like a Bordeaux premier erand cor.

HYDE PARK, LONDON W2 4RJ

Facing Hyde Park

Traditional Hotel with

of amendies English breakfast included

Single E55.00 ject, VAT puble/Tujn: E77,00 ject, VAT

"A DEST WESTERN HOTEL"

Barristy, a star

Kiosk

ings brain

DISCOVER LEARNING

FOR YOUR WORLD IN SATURDAY'S

EDUCATION

"THE GLOBAL NEWSPAPER"

FELING low? — boving problems? SOS HELP crisi-line in English 3 p.m. 11 p.m. Tel: Paris 47 23 80 80.

FRIENDSHIP

MOVING

SOUTH AFRICA

LATIN AMERICA Begote: 236 9747 - 256 6096. Buenos Aires: 313 68 86

qual: 32 12 66 - 52 28 15.

Bryanston: 706 14 08.

Caribbean: based in N.Y. Tel. (212) 68 46601.

Coate: 150s: 1506 240642. Tx: 1050 RACSA.

Samlinge: (562) 6789019.

Attenuer: 62 44 30. Beirut: 341 457/8/9.

Daher 416535

Turnin 710797.

Dubai: 224161, Jeddoh: 667-1500.

MEDDLE EAST

FAR EAST

NEW ZEALAND Auddend: 775 120.

Lime: 417 852

Mercico: 535 31 64. Pencana: 69 09 75.

MOVING

HOMESIAP. Small & medium moves baggage, cars worldwide. Call Char-lie: Faris 42 81 18 81 (near Opera).

REAL ESTATE

INVESTMENTS

FOR SALE

ANNOUNCEMENTS

181 Ave. Charles de Gaulle, 92200 Neutly, France.

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS English specialing meetings daily. Tel: Paris 46 34 99 65 or Rome 678 0320.

PRAIT, 62, SUM, silver temples, full of land sensitivity, loves music, philosophy, travelling, hopes for a quality relationship with a quality woman QEO (1) 42.25.02.62.

Place Your Classified Ad Quickly and Easily INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE

By Phone: Call your local lift representative with your test. You will be informed of the cast immediately, and once prepayment is made your ad will appear within 48 hours. There are 25 latters, signs and spaces in the first line and 36 in the following lines. Minimum space is 3 lines. No abbreviations accepted. Credit Cands: American Express, Diner's Club, Eurocard, Master Card. Acess and Visc.

HEAD OFFICE Peris: (For clossified only): Toll free: 05-437-437, Tx.: 613575, Fx.: 46379370.

EUROPE Amsterdom: 26-36-15. Athens: 361-8397/360-242 Bergen (Norway): (05) 134010. Brussels: 343-1899, 343-1914. Tx.: 23922 IMRA 8.

Copenbagen: 45 01 42 93 25. Frankfurt: (069) 72-67-55. Tx.: 416/21, Fx.: 727310. Halsinki: 647412. tanbul: 1488957/ 1476669/1484847. ne: 28-30-21 Lisban: 67-17-93/66-25-44. London: (01) 836-4802.

Tx.: 262009, Fx.: 2402254. Jadrid: 455-2891/455-3306. Millano: 5462573. kholm: 1081 7920949. Tei Aviv: 03-455 559. Vienna: Contact Frankfurt

NORTH AMERICA

Chicago: (312) 446-8764. Houston: (713) 627-9730. Tx.: 910-881-6296. Fx.: 7136273/58. Los Angeles: (213) 850-8339. Tx.: 650 311 7639. Fx.: 2138518537.

Bengkaki: 258 32 44. Berabay: 412 77 02/412 23 99. Hong Kang: 5861 06 16. Keruchi (Pokatori): 51 13 46. Kerkmandu: 222-766. Marila: 817 07 49. Secut. 7347611. Pt.: 2138518537. New York: 2112/752 3890. Toll free: (800) 572 7212. Tx: 427 175. Fore 755 6785. Son Francisco: (415) 362-8339. Tx: 6583271375. Singapore: 223 64 78/9. Taiwten: 752 44 25/9. AUSTRALIA 134: 53332/1373. Taronto: (416) 585-5485. 14: 06-219627. Fx: 416 5856275. Honoluku: (608) 733-1004 For 308-733-1009 St. 108der (00) 525 32 44

SPAIN EXCEPTIONAL OFFER Security & oppression, 800,000 st.m. beominal world's hothest spot, Costo Bross, Horst de Mar. 4 km from sec. 30 min. from freeway & int'l airport. $1.6 M. $2/sc.m.]. Coll Mr. Marc 34 72 255668

CARME BY THE SEAM for sole. rmme ocean views. Downtown prop-erly. $1.5-million. Torell Associates -(415) 753-6500 USA

REAL ESTATE FRENCH PROYINCES

PARIS & SUBURBS CHATEAU MAINE LA COQUETTE sill ovoloble 535 sq.m. 2 levels, office or residence, to be renovated Tel: 42.25.68.18.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE AUSTRIA

KITZBUHEL FOR CHRISTMAS Securified elegant chalet for rant, perfect tecepion, 4 bankrooms, 4 barts, 1 securit, Christmas: $10,000. Maria available. Lauger term possible. Raphy Box (25%, HT, 92,27! Newly Cedex, France. Tels other Oct. 26th Austria, 4353 563148.

VIENNA'S HOUSING AGENCY. Tel: 533 50 63, Hodosy, Groben 31. best residence rentals, Rots, villos.

FRENCH PROVINCES

NEAR NECE, CANNES & Volbonne golf. New elegant house in superh domain with tree tennis & pool, 3 bedrooms, 6 beds. 00/941/25/233. November & May tel: 00/732940161. GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON LUXURY opermentum all cartral areas, including Mayfair + Knightabraige, Neisman story Snight, cheeper from leavy hotel. Discount for longer story. Driver will meet your right of Getwek or Highthrow, M P Estates, Tel (1) 489 2154 carytime.

Lordon Reyof York opertments, W2 Superb 7 bed serviced doly, shape 4 phone, colour TV, videe, If, central heating, hotel facilities, rates CSD-6200 weelby 12 01 221 0450 free 01 723 3505 Tb: 260059. HUNTINGDON HOUSE, kerumous ser-vicial apportments in Central London Tel: 01 373 4525. Th: 25293. HOLLAND

RENTHOUSE INTERNATIONAL No. 1. in Holland for (som) furnished houses/flats. 31-20-48751. The 10856. No. hoven 19-21, 1083 AM Amsterck

ITALY When in Rome:
PALAZZO AL VELABRO
JOSKY opertment house with furnishe flots, overlable for I week and more

Phone: 6794325, 6793450. Write: Via del Velabro 16, 00186 Rome. ROME, RURNISHED PLAT, via Suvereix 2nd floor, styree rooms, bothroom bitchen. Tel: 8450313. PARIS AREA FURNISHED

A NEW WAY OF STAYING IN PARIS THE CLARIDGE RESIDENCE FOR 1 WERK OR MORE high class studio, 2 or 3-room
opertments, RULLY EQUIPMENT
MAMEDIATE RESERVATIONS
Tels 43 59 67 97

INTERNATIONAL REAL ESTATE

Sandra Belgrave and Mark Jackson at graffiti "Hall of Fame."

TO RENT/SHARE PARIS AREA FURNISHED PENT A FLAT WITH KITCHEN for 2, 3, 4 persons on a daily basis from F700-F850. Hotel were Form 16 -Basie Tel: 45 53 1495.

METRO ODEON. 100 SQ.M. FLAT large badroom, iving, dining, librhen, mezzarwie, 2 bains. Up to 6 months. F12,500. Tel: 46 33 92 63 restored hotel, colin. Rotes by week/ month. F200-300. Tel: 43-25.88.38 LIXEMBOURG / MONTPARMASSE orea, Short or long term, No agency less. Tel: 43 25 08 91 VACE DES VOSGES. Becuirul longe fiving room + 1 budroom. Completally equipped with soid, Tel: 46 34 19 25.

equipped with acong, see square furnish-ray, tally equipped, F14.500 net, Tel-4207.31.14 or 43.94.501. 16th 8015, hunricasty furnished, bed-room, double living, high class, A months maintain. F16,000; 46.07.86.83 SWITZERLAND

GENEVA - CALVIN LIVED HIGH. In becatiful old house located in Cologny, residential orde, charming furnished sportments Sfr. 2,800 and Sfr. 3,800. Col. 022/84 31 00 USA

MANHATTAN WEST 80'S Exclusive broad new 1 bedroom, furnished or unfurnished, with belcony, open views and lots of sur. Full service lutury building, $1906 1 or 2 yr sublectse. Cell: 212.877-0738 USA. REAL ESTATE WANTED/EXCHANGE

REAL ESTATE WANTED ANNEXY orea. Superior house required estimates A beds to rent 6/12 months, commencing Jon. 1989. Please reply to Box 3005. 1417. 63 Long Acre. London. WCZE 9/H

U.S. RUSINESSMAN seeks 1-bedroom famished opartment in Ports for 20 months from mid Oct. 188. Prefer 1st thru 7th crue. To F5500 pet) 45446819 EMPLOYMENT

SOCIETE INTERMATIONALE en forte expension oyont ses bursour administratifs a Monaco, recherche de teate urganos un jeune trocce d'officires internationales. Age 30/25 ans, experience de cobinet specialise, langue maternelle anglaise, espagnol indisposable, francois ou irollien apprecia, lus condicistures pourroré etra administrative an toute configure a haves Media Regions, 4, rue des tris Monaco. Reference 200.

BNIERNATIONAL COMPANY growing expedy, with its officials for the company of the comp

HEALTH SERVICES

MANAGEMENT CONSULTANT

Arabic lengage Required

To serve as a monogeneer consultant to Ministry of Health in Cairo, Egypt to assist with isoproving the National Family Roming Program.

Maintain requirements: Mosters degree and Arabic fluoring.

Braillett solary and benefits. EOE.
Send resame to:
E Patrict and Associates, inc.

123 Standah Drive

Cropel Hill, NC 27514 U.S.A.

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE Famala, Oxford Graduede 22 with I years expensed in lop management consultancy firm seeks standarding contest opportunity. Please reply to Box 3007, 1.H.T., 43 long Acre, Loxdon, WCZE-5H.

GENERAL POSITIONS WANTED RNE RENCH CHEF, fluent English, saaks responsible possion in private house or york; lean Luc Polier 19 33 93 34 09 94. Th. 460 308 F (AYS) Free 19 33 93 34 08 89. Available issned-

EMPLOYMENT GENERAL POSITIONS WANTED

AMERICAN LADY 29 seeks job in Europe as Teacher or secretary, BA degree in English, good knowledge of Indian, Serious offers only, Write to, P. Colton, B14 14th Street, Scatto Monico, CA 90403 USA.

tion of advertising and pro copy, Paris-based, seeks an copy, Poris-based, seeks on tentremanticonal COORDINATIONAL COORDINATION ASSISTANT, preferably English or American, bilingual Franch-English and fluent in German, Position requires excellent organizational and office stells, good typing and presentation of texts, reposity, Provious experience in communications on advantage.

Numerous contacts with clients and capywriters worldwide. Apply in writing enclosing CV and photo its:

Ursala Gruber

Cosmunication Internationale S.A., 83 no St-Honore, 75001 Poris.

RETIRED INTERNATIONAL Executive, bachelor, seeks attractive selfsationed Inveil and goff companion, between 30 and 40. Expanses good, no salary. Raply Box (094, Herold Tribune, 92521 Newly Cedes, France.

OMERSEAS POSITIONS Hundreds of top proving positions. All occupations. PREF DETAILS. Overseas Employment Servicins, Dept. HT, Box 460, Mr. Royal, Guebec, Carlado HSP 3.7. MONTE-CARLO. New Tex-New res-tourent looking for multilingual, ex-perienced workers/westresses, cook barteader, cessions manager. Call Kats. 93 30 34 54. CV with gheto to: Box 0264, Herald Tribune, 92571 Neutly Cadex, Franca. BRITISH CLASSICAL MAISIC Publishing ox located near Avignon, requires or American secretary with fiscal Franch and some Inswitcing of accountancy. Write enclosing curriculam vitas to Mr. Richard Pringeleim, La Trovenser, Chemin de la Burn, 84170 MONTELIX. EDUCATIONAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE EXPERIENCED EFL TEACHER

Page call france (16) 25.563997 BNGLISH TEACHER. France. Chamber of Commerce language school ungerity seeks full-lens teacher of English. Native species with degree or equivalent exeminal. IEFI, qualification and experiency desirable. Write or phone. CR, 217 Avenue Brasslette, 10002 Troyes, Cadex. Tel. 25.49, 32.49. URGENT. FOR LANGUAGE SCHOOL in Pors, experienced English teachers for adults. Send CV & photo: Box 0293, Heroda Tribune, 92521 Neully Cedex, France.

International Business Message Center

ATTENTION EXECUTIVES

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES MARKET TIMING

40% HIGHER RETURNS
STOOKS BONDS GOLD RANDS.
We beet the October 19 crosh—with sofer & antirely new investment concept.
Sessinors / Private Consultations.
Worldwide (Europe Nov.) to Nov. 19 with Directors of Americas premier, sedependent S.E.C. Registered Specialised Mortal Taming oddesors.
Serious Investors/Professional Advisors
Only Places attach Business Card.
B.T.S.—216c Preston Rd. Westbley,
143 89A UK.Tab 01 908 5689, 6884
Face 908 5083. The 8956552 Kwis.

JEWELLERY PARTNERS WANTED.
Belgion owned gold manufacturing 3 sales organization on the Europe market, seeks 4 working partners for expansion in our new factory in theiland, the ledian Ocean & Belgium. Partner offered good solary & besefits 8 to seet on the board of diseases. Tax free disclosured of the US market can be contrained. His invalenced US$50,000,000. For information write or call: International Gold 8. Jewillery, 11 Belgium. Tek 37-50-419034. For $2.24682430.

Imprimé par Offprint, 73 rue de l'Evangile, 75018 Paris.

BUSINESS FINANCIAL SERVICES OPPORTUNITIES

BUTER HEAM NEW YORK looking to buy inventories of general mer-chandra, stock lob, etc. Wil be in Pars week of Oct 13-23. Tel Pars. 39507258 cak for loquel flergor. VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS, RS op-proved for one year viso, seek opests, MANAGEWENT SERVICES 1505 N. Gordner Avenue, Hollywood, CV. 90046 Tel. 213-874-5007. PODE SALE 10-mile villa resort on 9.25 ctres in British Veril Longe quantity 100% cetton mentionn & infant playweer made in USA. Cell Baser Inc. 213-628-9201, frox 213-628-920-9072.

POR SALE 10-mil villa resort on 9.25 ctres in British West Incles, Exportation potential. While to Box 7020, Stellion J., Olitawa, Ontario, Canada K2A 37.6.

LONDON ADDRESS BOND STREET. Mail, Phone, Fox, Telex, Conference room, Call 01-497-9192. 1x 202090. CAPITAL WANTED INVESTMENTS

19.5% TAX FIRST SNCOME. Belgram owned gold & investery co, with own factory seeks USS2 Million for exponsion. Min, investment USS25001000. Good security through our bank-for information with or call: International Gold & Jewellery, 11 Bokherstroot, 8-8370 Blankenberge, Belgram, Tel: 32-50-419034. For: 32-2462430. FINANCIAL SERVICES

BUSINESS SERVICES

PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT FIDUCIARY DEPOSITS and many other opinions we offer to you, our next customer. We are a SWISS COMPANY special-ized worldwide in finantial operations. Please contact as: Fisc. No. 097/23 70 20 Tail No. 097/23 44 09 / 23 44 10 ST QUENTIN EN TYPELNES, seek 2 notive-speciaring English teachers, Full TIME Contact SQF 30-90.31.54. WANTED ENGLISH TEACHERS, void working geners, to teach Franch basinesses.

EMPLOYMENT

EDUCATIONAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

caldits. Sirrigord, experienced, univer-sity boggage. Tell lines, 1 year, ESC pasport or volid working papers, Send CV and photo to Recruiting Off-facer, Cytolel Langue, 12 Bd Bonns Nouvelle, 75010 Paris.

RECHERCHONS PROFESSEUR

working papers, to teach French nessmen. Tel: Patris 40 26 28 33. DOMESTIC POSITIONS AVAILABLE

QUIET GOVERNESS or English teacher / nonry for girl aged 4 years. Parents ensignet Turkish industration footback footbacking listenbul, Turkey, full domestic staff maintains household. Deallish paivate accommodation provided, apportunities for traveling & solling with the family. Preference Montessori, Frobel, Norland trained. Personal distals, references photo should accommonly application, for details with to Mrs Gray 98 Landon Rd, Bazzea, Wellingbarrough, Norshams, NN9 72 0530 663131.

MANNY WANTED IN SPAIN Over 25, with experience and good references for core of 3 chaldren aged 4, 3 and 1. Send information to: Mr. and Mrs. Jose Juncodello, Gerono 18, 08010 Borations, Spain. Interviewing in London possible between October 20/26. Telephone office hours. Borations, 25/7/00, etm. Mrs. Benc. LIVE-IN NEEDED to take care of 7 ma. all body, light househasping, non-spaker, English specimg. Simd picture 8, maune in English to: Jos Alan, 2550 N.E. 22 Court, N. Mismi, Florida 33180 USA.

PRIME BANK GUARANTES Venture Capital * Real Estate Business Finance * Letters of Credit * and Standby Commitments for All Types of Projects No Commission Unit Funded Brokers Protected REPRESENTATIVE
meded to act as Liceson for us in the processing of these financing applications

VENTURE CAPITAL CONSULTANTS investment Bonkers 16311 Ventura Blvd., Softe 999 Secine, Californic 91 438 USA Teles: 631355 Venture ISA Fax. No.: (218) 905-1698 Tel.: (818) 789-0422 FINANCIAL

5 TO 10 TIMES YOUR MONEY U.S. government imposes new polish control rules - creates a growth industry - a unique apportunity. You decade! RESOURCE INTERNATIONAL AG Bognardt 8, CH-6300 71/G Tel: 41/42 213045 Fext: 41/42 221602 Telest: 865 497 ALUCH

U. S. A. Instantion Company G. U. A. R. A. N. T. E. E. S. 10% BETURN, FREE OF TAXO Investors/ Implers invited SAM FRANCIAL SERVICES Rus Brizz, 10-1003 Longuista, Switzerlord, Tab. 41-21-28450 Free, 41-21-2023/0. The 455703 SPS EKCEPTIONAL INVESTMENT for se-carity in appraction, 4,200 st.m. building on sea-promenade. Fr45,000.00. USS/5 Mellon. Tel-Cornes, france, (33) 93.45.72.16

CLASSIFIED EMPLOYMENT DOMESTIC POSITIONS AVAILABLE

HOUSEKEEPER/BABYSITTER South Honda, sust love children, Non-HOUSEKEEPER/BABYSITTER South Florids, stast love children, Non-smoker, driver's license essettici. Write: 8. Seeder, 117/8 Spanoker Way, Holywood, R. 33026 USA AU PAIR FOR CHILDCARE, Sche housekeeping, vice footby, 305-725-6226, Seed resume 8, photice Mrs. Esen, 2301 NE 198th Sr., N. Micrai Beach, R. 33180 USA AU PAIR: ENGLISH SPEAKING, non-smoker to care for 2 yr old boy, light housework. Send references & photic-ticities and references & photic-ticities and references & photic-ticities. 39 Revent O Bret Jef. TEANSCO NV, 95 Noorderla 2030 ANTWEEP, SELGRUM II 323/542 6240 Tx 33267 Tm Fex: 323/542 5897

L. Mikchel, 39 Bostyn Ct, Port Jel Serson, NY 11777 USA 516-928-8930.

Jerson, NY 11777 USA S16-728-9333.

IN SURNY RORIDA Mether's Indiper needed non-moley for children and light houselesping. Send photo, resons, tel. number for Y. Periez, 2501 NE 15th Ava., Pt. Ld., RA. 33305 USA.

AU PAIR FLORIDA most speek English, most drive. Room & boord 375 per week. Tel: 487-798-4655 or 407-790.

(2716 USA.

DOMESTIC BRITISH/IRISH/SCOTTISH/WELSI

norm/governesse children mined / experienced with impacable reference. Worldwide Sensie, Mrs. Elsen Wright, Regency Namies Ivrl. 50 / Iran Crestent, London SWI (opposite Harrock) 01-225-1055 (24 Ira) G.R. (certael opency

NOTION CLASS GUALIFED BACUSH
MISSA (norm), ovalible for corresponding quellifed family in Geneva.
Tel. France S0 97 37 35

PARIS HOME HEP HEADHUNITER
Houselmapers, butlers, normales, atc.
Anne Ordens Consell (1) 45-72/17-58.

YOUNG COUPLE seeking jeth, couple of single, full or port time, Good references. Tel: Paris 45-63-87.89

Allwych House, 71-91 Aldwych, London WCZ, Tel: [1] 404 44 66 Book new by phone with credit card AUTOMOBILES MORLINWEDE PLICHTI USA carysime. $160, west coost, $260, APP, 103 rue La Bootie, Paris Sith for few yords from Ch. Bysend, Tel. [1] $2,69,10,21. 1980 VOLVO 340 GL Only 22,000 los, impaccable, metalic silver, 5-door, power windows-locks, FF50,000 USS8,000, Tek Paris 47 45 72 55. RESTAURANTS & NIGHT CLUBS AUTO SHIPPING

SAVE ON CAR SHIPPING, AMESCO Libbostrot 2, Anwarp, Belgiam, Tolfron U.S., Africa 8 Asia via Antwerp, Begular soling IO-RO vessels. U.S. EFA / POIT conversion. Free hotel. Tel. 221-223 (22). 171469. It 22 (363) WIGHT NEW CONTROLLED TO ANTWERS OF A STATE OF THE POINT NEW CONTROLLED TO THE POINT NEW CO WORLDWIDE Cor shipping & removels ATK, NV, Ankerna ZZ, 2000 Antwerp, Begum. 09/201 1653 br 31535 TRANSCAR 17 or de Friedland, 75008 Poris. Tel. 4225 4444, Nace 9327 3550. Antwerp 233 9985. Connes 9339 4344 AUTOS TAX FREE

TRASCO GERMANY. Mercedes Berz critical discusses from stock. Seindoms 38, D.2820 Bremen, Its 246624 Fax: 421630205. Tel. (12.1630204. Tax. 421630205. Tel. (12.1630204. TAX. FREE CARS of makes/models. ATK, NV, Ankaeroi 22, 2000 Antwerp. Belgium, Tel (13/231 1653, Tg. 31535)

AUTOS TAX FREE THE COBURG HOTEL 129 BAYSWATER ROAD TRANSCO
New cars from stock
ROUS ROVE - JACKLAR - BANK
REBAR - MEICEDES - PORSCHE
com the Leading Tax free car compo in Europe. (No BHD or US Specia) TBL: 01-229 3654 TBLEX: 268235 COBURG FAX: 01-229 0557

new TAX-REE used large lover + Chevrolet + stc. Mercules + 844W + Audi + etc. Codition + Jean + Jean

Extra Single: £15,00 incl. VAT ICZKOVITS Claridenstrasse 36, CH-8027 Zwich Tel: 01/202 76 10, Tales: 815915

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL AST WORKSHOP, Christman, Manifel Dec. 17 to 38 Live, work, play of the Instituto Son Migual, Point, chron, with NY critis/Jeochers. (after AST-WCRISHOP 463 West St., 10284, NY NY 10014 USA 212-491-1159 Fax: 01/202 76 30 AUTO SERVICES

ACENSE PLATES expire? Fost solution; Ponshoa, PO 2477, 6991 Lagono Swit-seriond. Tel (91)234086. Fz (91)237247 Tz 844024, We calco impure only cor. JACOURS VIMARD

Modern Fundings, 13 Oct. to 13 Nov.
Gollens Bridget Schehode, 44 not des Tournelles, Forte 7500, 11 Jon to 758, awayst Sandays. Teh 42 77 % 74 LEGAL SERVICES COLLECTORS

U.S. DIVORCE BY 21 DAYS. No need to travel, with or without consent of spouse. Dreiser Lugal Associates, p/o IE Westerngdwormshoot 54/54A, NL. 1017 IP Ansterdom, Holland. 7et. 3120-84028 or 823058, From 823058 DOMENICAN DIVORCE 24 HOURS seen 1972. Details Afterney, P.O. Box 11052, Wostington, DC 20008 USA. WANT ROLLIES ROLLIES ROLLIES Also Cartiers, Palek Philippe, Plaget ond other fine workless, Old/New, Also sold. Tel London 286 7102. SHOPPING

ACCESS VCV AGES
One Way 2000
York F1000 F3
Transico F1500 F3
fa F1795 F3
a F1795 F3
a F1795 F3
go F1400 F2
mgton F1500 F300
mgton F1500

Rio de Janero F2225 F4220 F422

SWITZERLAND

U.S.A. NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC Society's foscienting Mogogine. Such yeart collection 1929 to 1988. Write to: M. Berts, 17, Re. Contex, Tourettes-sur-Loup, 05140 Vence (France). FEMME SISTINA BEAUTY SALON and bousque, professional estantion by trained staff, Rame, Via Sisten 75. Tel-6-780260 from Pare to 7pm. EDUCATION LOW COST FLIGHTS

HSA Scholerships for init students. The only Cestle of its kind. Where, Whet and How much. Over $200,000,000 available. £6,000 includes posting + pocking. Scholership Research Group USA 216 253 (105 Fee; 216 2422252 or Wellington PA Lief Tel London 01 840 422 Fax 01 840 6919.

PRESICH INTENSIVE COURSES, 15 or 30 hours a week sturting every Months of the Cestle of COLLEGES & UNIVERSITIES

UNIVERSITES

RULY APPROVED University Degrada

Sconomical home study for Bodestar's,

Montar's, Pr.D., PULY APPROVED by Conflorate State Deportment of Entropsion, Prentigious, Socially, counsels for independent study and life experience cracks (5,100 encoded students, 500 foculty), PRES BNFORMATION — Sichand Craws, M.D., Planvard, President, Columbia Pacific University, Degoriment 2739, 1415 Third Street, San Bortosi, CA 94001, Tol France 2001 2270119, Colifornice (600) 522-3522; or

MIS 485-1450.

EARN UNIVERSITY degrass university volucion à información (gravard meume to: Pocific Southern University, 9381 W. Pico Blad., Dapt. 121, Los J
Angeles, CA 90031 201.

PEN PALS PEN PALS WORLDWIDE for interesting correspondence, losting friendships. Dateils & chotos free. Hernes, Box 110660/H, Border 11, W. Germany

Page 6 ..

All VIEIX CAVEAU - PULLY: Superb Swiss style gournest diving, box, dame-ing, boxquist, and private porties. Susmer terroca, Lat the family Moral serve you at the becautiful Au Visua. Conecu., 11 rue de la Gora, 1009 Pully/Louisine, 021/28 27 49 FOR MORE CLASSIFIEDS

